The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce, are republished for general information :—

NOTIFICATIONS.

Fort William, the 20th February 1880.

No. 909.—Read again—

Resolution No. 2037, dated 20th December 1879, publishing the Rules for District and Presidency Savings Banks.

Resolution No. 385, dated 24th January 1880, providing that the above Resolution does not apply to Military Savings Banks.

Resolution No. 561, dated 5th February 1880, permitting the Comptroller General to receive and hold in trust Government Paper for any Depositor.

RESOLUTION.—Sundry additions having been made to the Savings Banks Rules published on the 20th December 1879, the Governor General in Council considers it expedient to issue the following revised Rules for District and Presidency Savings Banks, revoking all previous Rules :—

I.—In these Rules—

"Depositor," "Deposit," and "Secretary" bear the meaning which they bear in The Government Savings Bank Act, 1873.

"Account" means the account of a Depositor in a Government Savings Bank.

"Balance" means the balance at credit of an account.

II.—Any person may become a Depositor on his own behalf, or on behalf of any other named person dependent upon him. Deposits may also be made by the managers of benevolent or other public Associations, or by public officers, of money deposited with them ex-officio as security for the discharge of any public duty or for the fidelity of any public officer, or for the accomplishment of any public object.

III.—Subject to the provisions of these Rules, the Government of India guarantees the repayment of every deposit with interest.

IV.—Without the sanction of the Comptroller General, no account will be opened for less than One Rupee; and no person may deposit more than Five Thousand Rupees, in all, between any 1st of April and the 31st March next following.

V.—Interest will not be allowed upon a smaller balance than 1½ Rupee, or upon the excess in any balance over the highest multiple of 1½ Rupee.

VI.—Interest will be allowed for each calendar month upon the minimum balance of the account between the close of the fourth day and the end of the month.

VII.—From the 1st January 1880, till further notice, interest will be allowed upon deposits at the rate of one pie a month for every 1½ Rupee, which is equal to one anna for every Rs. 18 or one Rupee for every Rs. 288, being at the rate of Rs. 4⅛ per centum per annum. Without the sanction of the Comptroller General, no higher monthly interest will be allowed upon anybalance than Rs. 17½.

VIII.—On the written request of any Depositor, his balance, or any part of it, will be invested by the Comptroller General in his own name in trust for, and at the risk of, the Depositor at current market rates, in stock of any Loan which he may specify; if no particular loan is specified, then stock of one of the Four Per Cent. Loans will be bought. And stock or notes of any Government Loan, to a moderate amount, may be received by the Comptroller General from or on behalf of any Depositor and converted into stock. The stock thus bought will be held by the Comptroller General on the Depositor's account, the interest thereon, less a commission of one-quarter per cent., being added to his deposit, on advice from the Comptroller General, and entered in his Deposit Book, the first time that it is subsequently presented. Stock held on account of a Depositor will, on his written request, be sold, and the proceeds added to his Deposit, or, if he desires it, will be converted into notes and delivered to him. A commission of ¼ per cent., besides the Bank's fees, will be charged upon such purchases, sales, and deliveries.

IX.—Every account will be made up on the 31st March, and the interest then due, calculated under these Rules, added to the balance upon which future interest will accrue. If an account is closed on any other date, interest due to the end of the preceding calendar month will be paid to the Depositor: but a Depositor who closes an account should not, ordinarily, be permitted immediately to re-open it, except on payment of a fine varying at the discretion of the Secretary from One to Ten Rupees.

X.—An account may be transferred free of charge to any other Government Savings Bank.

XI.—A Deposit Book will be supplied to each Depositor in which the Secretary or, if the Savings Bank is at a public Treasury, the Treasury Officer, will acknowledge every deposit. The personal attendance of a Depositor is not required; but no deposit will be received or payment made without the Depositor's Deposit Book, and the Government will not be responsible for any deposit the receipt of which is not acknowledged in a Deposit Book. The interest due to date will be entered in each Deposit Book the first time that it is produced after the 31st March. The first Deposit Book will be supplied free of charge; but if a Deposit Book is lost or injured, or if a closed account is re-opened, One Rupee will be charged for a new book.

XII.—A Depositor may not operate frequently upon his account as if it were an ordinary banking account, or open more than one account in his own name or in the name of any member of his family, or for his own benefit or the benefit of any member of his family. The Comptroller General must take precautions to prevent any transgression of this Rule and, in particular, any employment of an account as an ordinary drawing account. This Rule is not meant to prevent any one from opening more than one ex-officio or public account.

XIII.—The Secretary may refuse to open any account or may close any account, for any sufficient reason, as, for example, because he thinks that the account is likely to be used or is being used contrary to the object with which Government Savings Banks are established, namely, the encouragement of saving. But every such refusal or closure, and the reasons for it, should be reported to the Comptroller General.

XIV.—When the Secretary thinks it proper to close any account, he shall give notice, in writing, to the Depositor, of such closure. After the date of such notice, no deposit shall be accepted on the account so closed, and no interest shall be allowed upon the balance of the closed account after the end of the calendar month then current.

XV.—The Comptroller General should report to the Governor General in Council any refusal to sanction an application under Rule IV or VII with his reasons for such refusal.

XVI.—These Rules apply as well to accounts opened before as after their publication.

XVII.—The Governor General in Council reserves the right to alter or add to these Rules at any time.

XVIII.—A copy of the Government Savings Banks Act, 1873, and of these Rules, shall be printed in each deposit book, and the signature, or, if he cannot write, mark of the Depositor, obtained to the annexed declaration before any deposit is accepted from him.

Declaration to be recorded in accordance with Rule XVIII.

I acknowledge that I have read these Rules (or, if he cannot read, that these Rules have been read to me).

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to whom the Bill "to provide against the spreading of contagious diseases among animals" was referred, have the honor to make the following report :—

We have, in accordance with the wishes of Government, restricted the application of the Bill to horses, and to the diseases of glanders and farcy, empowering the local Government to extend, if necessary, hereafter the definition of disease.

We have provided that the person in possession or charge of a diseased horse shall keep the animal separate from other horses, and further that he shall within twenty-four hours give notice to the officer in charge of the nearest police station.

We have defined "Veterinary Surgeon," so as to include veterinary practitioners appointed by Government, and struck out all reference to Surgeons and Assistant Surgeons in the service of Government.

We have empowered the local Government to establish a hospital for the detention and examination of diseased horses, and to make such rules as may be deemed advisable for realizing hospital charges from the owners of the animals; the expenses of such hospital will be defrayed out of the surplus of the Hackney Carriage Fund.

We have empowered Police Officers not under the rank of Inspectors to enter upon premises where there is reason to believe a diseased animal is kept, and to take with them other Police Officers and a Veterinary Surgeon. But a certificate of a Veterinary Surgeon will be necessary in order to compel the owner of the premises to cleanse the same. the expenses of so doing are recoverable from the owner in the manner provided for the realization of fines.

We have lessened the amount of fine and period of imprisonment in one or two of the penalty sections, and limited the period for prosecutions for vexatious entries to two months.

We have added two sections (13 and 14) providing for rewards to Police Officers on whose information offenders are convicted, and enacting that the proceeds of fines imposed and realized shall be applied to the expenses incurred in carrying out this Act.

We have made a few verbal alterations, and recommend that the Bill as amended be passed.

No. 10, dated 9th February 1880.

The Government circular of the 21st September last, relating to the procedure to be observed in cases of property left by persons intestate, having been communicated to the Court by direction of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, the Court are pleased to cancel the circular order of the late Sudder Court, No. 74, dated 3rd January 1845. (Page 317, Carrau's Edition)

2. The Court think it right to intimate that District Judges who wish to propose a change in procedure as to matters of this nature, which has been laid down by Circular order of the late Sudder Court, or by the High Court, should report to the Government through the Court, and not direct.

No. 11, dated 12*th February* 1880.

The atttention of all Civil Judicial Officers is called to the Rules made by the High Court, regarding the issue of commissions under Section 386, Act X of 1877, as modified by Section 67, Act XII of 1879. * * * * * *

2. These rules supersede the instructions contained in Circular Order No. 10, dated 31st May 1873, which is cancelled.

3. On the 15th of December of each year every District Judge shall submit to the High Court a list of all pleaders of the High Court attached to the several Courts in his district, who are willing to execute commissions under these rules during the ensuing year. From the lists so compiled, a general list shall be compiled by the Registrar of the High Court, and copies supplied to all District Judges for use in their own and subordinate Courts.

4. The names of the High Court Pleaders willing to execute commissions under the Rules during the current year should be reported to the Court with the least delay possible.

No. 12, dated the 21*st February* 1880.

The Court are pleased to issue the following instructions in supersession of those contained in Circular Order No. 38, dated the 16th December 1878:—

1. By Section 89 of the Indian Registration Act III of 1877 as amended by section 107, Act XII of 1879, the Court granting a certificate under Section 316 of the Code of Civil Procedure is required to forward copies of it to each registering officer within whose jurisdiction any part of the immoveable property comprised in such certificate is situate. These copies are filed in Book I by the registering officers, who, under Section 55 of the Act, have to maintain indexes containing certain particulars. To enable them to do this, it is necessary that the officers presiding in the Civil Courts should be careful to enter in the certificates—

(1) the "addition" (as defined in Section 3, Act III of 1877) of the person who is declared to be the purchaser;

(2) particulars sufficient to identify the property as required in Section 22, Act III of 1877;

(3) the name of each registration sub-district in which any part of the property is situate.

2. As the law requires the original certificates to be stamped, the Courts shall not forward copy of the certificates to the Registry Office until the purchaser has tendered the necessary stamp and the original certificate has been duly drawn up. It is now a common practice for purchasers to refrain from taking the certificates in order to evade the payment of the stamp.

3. On each copy the amount of stamp duty paid on the original certificate under No. 16, Schedule I of the Stamp Act I of 1879 should be noted. Under No. 9, Schedule II of the same Act, the copies do not themselves require to be stamped. In their preparation, however, forms* printed on paper of a uniform size, and having a margin for binding, must be used

* To be obtained on indent on the Superintendent of Stationery.

4. The Government has been moved to sanction the supply of similar printed forms on stamped paper for use in preparing the original certificates, and to authorize the use of adhesive labels to make up any small amount by which the impressed stamp may fall short of the sum chargeable as stamp duty. Should the Court's proposals be approved of, these forms also should be brought into use CRIMINAL.

No. 1, dated the 9*th February* 1880.

In supersession of circular order No. 2 of 18th January 1871, the High Court is pleased to direct that, except when the sentence passed upon any person by a Court of Session is simply that he pay a fine, without any order for imprisonment in default of payment, in which case the only warrant issued will be under Section 307, Criminal Procedure Code, the warrant to be sent to the officer in charge of the Jail under Section 302 shall set out in full the sentence passed. So far as the sentence is for imprisonment, the Jailor will give effect to it according to the terms of the warrant. Such portion of the sentence as directs imprisonment in default of payment of fine will be carried into effect by the Jailor subject to the provisions of Sections 68 and 69, Penal Code. It is not the duty of the Jailor to levy a fine, nor can he be required to receive it.

2. The levy of a fine imposed by a Sessions Judge by distress and sale of the property of the accused is to be made under a special warrant issued for that purpose only under Section 307, and not under a duplicate of the warrant sent to the Jailor under Section 302.

3. Sessions Judges are required by this Section 302 to furnish Magistrates with copies of their findings and sentences; the copy of the latter should be taken from the record of the trial, and not from the warrant issued to the officer in charge of the Jail.

Such list and printed copy as aforesaid shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette at the expense of the Grantees.

Fares how to be paid.

11. The fares and charges by this Act authorized shall be paid to such persons, at such places upon, or near to the tramways, and in such manner and under such regulations, as the Grantees may by notice to be annexed to the list of fares from time to time appoint.

Power to break up streets.

12. The Grantees may from time to time, for the purpose of constructing and maintaining any tramways under this Act, open and break up the soil and pavement of any of the streets as defined by Bengal Act IV of 1876 (The Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act) and bridges in the town of Calcutta, and therein lay sleepers and rails, and repair, alter or remove the same; and may, for the purposes aforesaid, do in and on such streets and bridges all other acts which they shall from time to time deem necessary for constructing and maintaining their tramways, subject to the following regulations:—

1st.—They shall give to the Corporation notice in writing of their intention to open or break up any such street or bridge, specifying the time at which they will begin to do so, and the portion of the road proposed to be opened or broken up: such notice to be given at least three days before the commencement of the work.

2nd.—They shall not open or break up or alter the level of any such street or bridge except under the superintendence and to the reasonable satisfaction of the Corporation, for which superintendence the Grantees shall pay all reasonable expenses, unless the Corporation neglect to give such superintendence at the time specified in the notice, or discontinue the same during the work.

3rd.—They shall not, without the consent of the Corporation, open or break up at any one time a greater length than a quarter of a mile on any one line of tramway.

4th.—They shall, with all convenient speed, and in all cases within six weeks at the most, unless the Corporation otherwise consent in writing, complete the work for which the said street or bridge shall be broken up, and fill in the ground, and make good the surface, and, to the satisfaction of the Corporation, restore the street or bridge to as good a condition as that in which it was before it was opened or broken up, and clear away all surplus materials or rubbish occasioned thereby.

5th.—They shall in the meantime, when such street or bridge is opened or broken up, cause it to be fenced and watched, and to be properly lighted at night.

6th.—They shall make good all damage done to the gas and water-pipes and sewers, whether belonging to the Corporation or to private individuals by the disturbance thereof.

7th.—If by any such operations as aforesaid the Grantees interrupt the supply of water or gas in or through any main or main pipe, they shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 200 for every day upon which such supply shall be so interrupted.

Grantees to keep the tramway roads in proper repair.

13. The Grantees shall, at their own expense, at all times maintain and keep in good condition and repair, in such manner as the Corporation shall direct, the rails of which any of their tramways shall for the time being consist, and so much of any street or bridge as lies between the rails of any tramway; and in the case of double lines or turnouts or sidings, the portion of the road between the tramways, and in every case so much of the road as extends eighteen inches beyond the rails of and on each side of any such tramway; and in the course of carrying out such repairs, it shall not be necessary to give notice thereof to the Corporation.

Grantees not to obstruct ordinary traffic.

14. In exercising the powers given to them by the last two preceding sections, the Grantees shall arrange their work so as to afford the least possible obstruction to the ordinary traffic of the streets, and so as to admit of as free and unrestricted entry at all times into the sewers through the man-holes and lamp-holes for the time being in use, as is possible under the circumstances, and also so as to enable proper repairs to be made to water or gas-pipes by the direction of the Corporation.

Reservation of right of public to use roads.

15. Nothing in this Act, or in any bye-law made under this Act, shall take away or abridge the right of the public to pass along or across every or any part of any road along or across which any tramway is laid, whether on or off the tramway with carriages not having flange wheels or wheels suitable to run on a grooved rail.

Saving of Port Commissioners' tramways.

16. Nothing in this Act, or in any bye-law made under this Act, shall interfere with the right of the Port Commissioners, or of any other body or person entitled at the time of the commencement of this Act to work and maintain a tramway, to pass across any tramway constructed under this Act with carriages having flange wheels or wheels suitable to run on a grooved rail.

Right of user only.

17. Notwithstanding anything in this Act contained the Grantees shall not acquire or be deemed to acquire, any right other than that of user of any road along or across which they lay any tramway.

Penalty for failure of grantees to comply with provisions of this Act.

18. If the Grantees fail in any respect to comply with the provisions of sections 5, 6, 7, 12 (except the last two clauses), 18 and 14 of this Act, they shall for every such offence (without prejudice to the enforcement of specific performance of the requirements of this Act, or to any other remedy against them) upon complaint of the Corporation or of any person injuriously affected thereby, be liable to a penalty not exceeding Rs. 200, and to a further penalty not exceeding Rs. 50 for each day during which any such failure continues after the first day on which such penalty is incurred.

Penalty for obstructing Grantees in the exercise of their power.

19. If any person wilfully obstructs any person acting under the authority of the Grantees in the lawful exercise of their powers in setting out or making, laying down, repairing or renewing a tramway, or injures or destroys any mark made for the purpose of setting out the line of the tramway, he shall for every offence be liable to a penalty not exceeding fifty rupees, and shall also be liable to pay such damages as may be awarded in respect of such injury by any competent court.

Penalty for interfering with tramway.

20. If any person without lawful excuse (the proof whereof shall lie on him) wilfully does any of the following things, namely—

Interferes with, removes or alters any part of a tramway of the Grantees, or of the works connected therewith:

1*st*.—They shall give to the said Corporation notice in writing of their intention to open or break up any such street or bridge, specifying the time at which they will begin to do so, and the portion of the road proposed to be opened or broken up; such notice to be given at least three days before the commencement of the work.

2*nd*.—They shall not open or break up or alter the level of any such street or bridge except under the superintendence and to the reasonable satisfaction of the Corporation, for which superintendence the Grantees or their assigns shall

3rd.—They shall not, without the consent of the said Corporation, open or break up at any one time a greater length than a quarter of a mile on any one line of Tramway.

12. In exercising the powers given to them by Clauses 10 or 11, the said Grantees shall arrange their work so as to afford the least possible obstruction to the ordinary traffic of the streets, and so as also to admit of as free and unrestricted entry at all times into the sewers through the man-holes and lamp-holes for the time being in use, as is possible under the circumstances, and also so as to enable proper repairs to be made to water or gas-pipes by the direction of the Corporation.

13. If the said Grantees shall commit any breach of Clauses 10 or 11 or 12, it shall be lawful for the said Corporation in their discretion where such breach shall be in the execution of any work or repairs at any time after seven days' notice to the said Grantees themselves to do and execute such work or repairs, and the expense incurred by the said Corporation in so doing, including the cost of superintendence, shall be repaid to them by the said Grantees, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, and the certificate of the Engineer of the said Corporation as to such cost shall be conclusive.

14. If any person or persons sustain any loss or damage by reason of any defect or want of repairs in any of the plant, rolling-stock or other properties of the said Grantees or by reason of any carelessness, neglect, or misconduct of their agents or servants in the management, construction or use of the said tramways or any portion thereof, or in the exercise of the powers given by Clauses 10 or 11, the same shall be made good by the said Grantees, and in the event of any suit being instituted against the said Corporation in respect of any of the matters hereinbefore mentioned, the said Grantees shall, within fourteen days from receipt of a notice thereof from the said Corporation, settle the same; but if the said Grantees choose to defend such suit, they shall be at liberty to do so upon their undertaking to indemnify the said Corporation against all losses, damages, and expenses in respect thereof: Provided always that if the said Grantees fail to settle such suit or to indemnify the said Corporation, as is hereinbefore provided, it shall be lawful for the said Corporation to settle the same without any consent or concurrence on the part of the said Grantees, and the sum which they shall have to pay in making such settlement together with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum from the date of payment, and with all expenses, which they may be put to, shall be recoverable as a debt from the said Grantees.

15. At the Court at Osborne House, Isle of Wight, the 14th day of August 1879.

PRESENT:

THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

WHEREAS by "The Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862," it was enacted that on and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, or such later day as might be fixed for the purpose by Order in Council, the Regulations contained in the table marked C in the schedule to the said Act should come into operation and be of the same force as if they were enacted in the body of the said Act; but that Her Majesty might from time to time, on the joint recommendation of the Admiralty and the Board of Trade, by Order in Council, annul or modify any of the said Regulations, or make new Regulations in addition thereto or in substitution therefor; and that any alterations in, or additions to, such Regulations made in manner aforesaid should be of the same force as the Regulations in the said schedule:

And whereas by the same Act it was further provided that whenever it should be made to appear to Her Majesty that the Government of any foreign country was willing that the Regulations for preventing collisions contained in Table C in the schedule to the said Act, or such other Regulations for preventing collisions as are for the time being in force under the said Act, should apply to the ships of such country when beyond the limits of British jurisdiction, Her Majesty might, by Order in Council, direct that such Regulations should apply to the ships of the said foreign country, whether within British jurisdiction or not; and it was further provided by the said Act that whenever an Order in Council had been issued applying any Regulation made by, or in pursuance of, the said Act to the ships of any foreign country, such ships should in all cases arising in any British court, be deemed to be subject to such Regulation, and should, for the purpose of such Regulation, be treated as if they were British ships:

FIRST SCHEDULE.

REGULATIONS FOR PREVENTING COLLISIONS AT SEA.

Preliminary.

ART. 1. In the following rules every steam-ship which is under sail and not under steam is to be considered a sailing ship; and every steam-ship which is under steam, whether under sail or not, is to be considered a ship under steam.

Rules Concerning Lights.

ART. 2. The lights mentioned in the following Articles, numbered 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, and 11, and no others, shall be carried in all weathers, from sunset to sunrise.

ART. 3. A seagoing steam-ship when under way shall carry—

(a.) On or in front of the foremast, at a height above the hull of not less than 20 feet, and if the breadth of the ship exceeds 20 feet then at a height above the hull not less than such breadth, a bright white light, so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 20 points of the compass; so fixed as to throw the light 10 points on each side of the ship, viz. from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on either side; and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least five miles.

(b.) On the starboard side, a green light so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass; so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the starboard side; and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles.

(c.) On the port side, a red light, so constructed as to show an uniform and unbroken light over an arc of the horizon of 10 points of the compass; so fixed as to throw the light from right ahead to 2 points abaft the beam on the port side; and of such a character as to be visible on a dark night, with a clear atmosphere, at a distance of at least two miles.

(d.) The said green and red side lights shall be fitted with inboard screens projecting at least three feet forward from the light, so as to prevent these lights from being seen across the bow.

ART. 4. A steam ship, when towing another ship, shall, in addition to her side lights, carry two bright white lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart, so as to distinguish her from other steam-ships. Each of these lights shall be of the same construction and character, and shall be carried in the same position, as the white light which other steam-ships are required to carry.

ART. 5. A ship, whether a steam-ship or a sailing ship, when employed in either in laying or in picking up a telegraph cable, or which from any accident is not under command, shall at night carry in the same position as the white light which steam-ships are required to carry, and, if a steam-ship, in place of that light, three red lights in globular lanterns, each not less than 10 inches in diameter, in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart: and shall by day carry in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart, in front of but not lower than her foremast head, three black balls or shapes, each two feet in diameter.

These shapes and lights are to be taken by approaching ships as signals that the ship using them is not under command, and cannot therefore get out of the way.

The above ships when not making any way through the water, shall not carry the side lights, but when making way shall carry them.

ART. 6. A sailing ship under way, or being towed, shall carry the same lights as are provided by Article 3 for a steam-ship under way, with the exception of the white light, which she shall never carry.

ART. 7. Whenever, as in the case of small vessels during bad weather, the green and red, side lights cannot be fixed, these lights shall be kept on deck, on their respective sides of the vessel, ready for use: and shall, on the approach of or to other vessels, be exhibited on their respective sides in sufficient time to prevent collision, in such manner as to make them most visible, and so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

To make the use of these portable lights more certain and easy, the lanterns containing them shall each be painted outside with the colour of the light they respectively contain, and shall be provided with proper screens.

ART. 8. A ship, whether a steam-ship or a sailing ship, when at anchor, shall carry where it can best be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light, in a globular lantern of not less than eight inches in diameter, and so constructed as to show a clear uniform and unbroken light visible all round the horizon, at a distance of at least one mile.

ART. 9. A pilot vessel, when engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall not carry the lights required for other vessels, but shall carry a white light at the mast head visible all round the horizon, and shall also exhibit a flare-up light or flare-up lights at short intervals which shall never exceed fifteen minutes.

A pilot vessel, when not engaged on her station on pilotage duty, shall carry lights similar to those of other ships.

ART. 10. (a)—Open fishing boats and other open boats when under way shall not be obliged to carry the side lights required for other vessels; but every such boat shall in lieu thereof have ready at hand a lantern with a green glass on the one side and a red glass on the other side; and on the approach of or to other vessels such lantern shall be exhibited in sufficient time to prevent collision, so that the green light shall not be seen on the port side nor the red light on the starboard side.

(b)—A fishing vessel and an open boat when at anchor shall exhibit a bright white light.

(c)—A fishing vessel when employed in drift net fishing, shall carry on one of her masts two red lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart.

(d)—A trawler at work shall carry on one of her masts two lights in a vertical line one over the other, not less than three feet apart, the upper light red and the lower green, and shall also either carry the side lights required for other vessels, or if the side lights cannot be carried, have ready at hand the coloured lights as provided in Article 7, or a lantern with a red and a green glass as described in paragraph (a) of this Article.

(e)—Fishing vessels and open boats shall not be prevented from using a flare-up in addition if they desire to do so.

(f)—The lights mentioned in this Article are substituted for those mentioned in the 12th, 13th, and 14th Articles of the Convention between France and England scheduled to the British Sea Fisheries Act, 1868.

(g)—All lights required by this Article, except side lights, shall be in globular lanterns so constructed as to show all round the horizon.

ART. 11. A ship which is being overtaken by another shall show from her stern to such last-mentioned ship a white light or a flare-up light.

Sound Signals for Fog, &c.

ART. 12. A steam-ship shall be provided with a steam whistle, or other efficient steam sound signal, so placed that the sound may not be intercepted by any obstructions, and with an efficient fog horn to be sounded by bellows or other mechanical means, and also with an efficient bell. A sailing ship shall be provided with a similar fog horn and bell.

In fog, mist, or falling snow, whether by day or night, the signals described in this Article shall be used as follows, that is to say—

(a)—A steam-ship under way shall make with her steam whistle, or other steam sound signal, at intervals of not more than two minutes, a prolonged blast.

(b)—A sailing ship under way shall make with her fog horn, at intervals of not more than two minutes, when on the starboard tack one blast, when on the port tack two blasts in succession, and when with the wind abaft the beam three blasts in succession.

(c)—A steam ship and a sailing ship when not under way shall, at intervals of not more than two minutes, ring the bell.

Speed of Ships to be moderate in Fog, &c.

ART. 13. Every ship, whether a sailing ship or steam-ship, shall in a fog, mist, or falling snow go at a moderate speed.

Steering and Sailing Rules.

ART. 14. When two sailing ships are approaching one another, so as to involve risk of collision, one of them shall keep out of the way of the other as follows, viz.—

(a)—A ship which is running free shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close-hauled.

(b)—A ship which is close-hauled on the port tack shall keep out of the way of a ship which is close-hauled on the starboard tack.

(c)—When both are running free with the wind on different sides the ship which has the wind on the port side shall keep out of the way of the other.

(d)—When both are running free with the wind on the same side, the ship which is to windward shall keep out of the way of the ship which is to leeward.

(e)—A ship which has the wind aft shall keep out of the way of the other ship.

ART. 15. If two ships under steam are meeting end on, or nearly end on, so as to involve risk of collision, each shall alter her course to starboard, so that each may pass on the port side of the other.

This Article only applies to cases where ships are meeting end on, or nearly end on, in such a manner as to involve risk of collision, and does not apply to two ships which must, if both keep on their respective courses, pass clear of each other.

The only cases to which it does apply are, when each of the two ships is end on, or nearly end on to the other, in other words, to cases in which by day each ship sees the mast of the other in a line, or nearly in a line, with her own; and by night, to cases in which each ship is in such a position as to see both the side lights of the other.

It does not apply by day to cases in which a ship sees another ahead crossing her own course; or by night, to cases where the red light of one ship is opposed to the red light of the other, or where the green light of one ship is opposed to the green light of the other, or where a red light without a green light, or a green light without a red light is seen ahead, or where both green and red lights are seen anywhere but ahead.

ART. 16. If two ships under steam are crossing so as to involve risk of collision, the ship which has the other on her own starboard side shall keep out of the way of the other.

ART. 17. If two ships, one of which is a sailing ship and the other a steam-ship, are proceeding in such directions as to involve risk of collision, the steam-ship shall keep out of the way of the sailing ship.

ART. 18. Every steam-ship when approaching another ship, so as to involve risk of collision, shall slacken her speed, or stop and reverse if necessary.

ART. 19. In taking any course authorized or required by these Regulations a steam-ship under way may indicate that course to any other ship which she has in sight by the following signals on her steam whistle, viz.—

One short blast to mean—"I am directing my course to starboard."

Two short blasts to mean—"I am directing my course to port."

Three shorts blasts to mean—"I am going full speed astern."

The use of these signals is optional; but if they are used the course of the ship must be in accordance with the signal made.

ART. 20. Notwithstanding anything contained in any preceding Article every ship, whether a sailing ship or steam-ship overtaking any other, shall keep out of the way of the overtaken ship.

ART. 21. In narrow channels every steam-ship shall, when it is safe and practicable, keep to that side of the fairway or midchannel which lies on the starboard side of such ship.

ART. 22. Where by the above rules one of two ships is to keep out of the way the other shall keep her course.

ART. 23. In obeying and construing these rules due regard shall be had to all dangers of navigation, and to any special circumstances which may render a departure from the above rules necessary in order to avoid immediate danger.

No Ship under any circumstances to neglect proper precautions.

ART. 24. Nothing in these rules shall exonerate any ship, or the owner, or master, or crew thereof, from the consequences of any neglect to carry lights or signals, or of any neglect to keep a proper look-out, or of the neglect of any precaution which may be required by the ordinary practice of seamen, or by the special circumstances of the case.

ART. 25. Nothing in these rules shall interfere with the operation of a special rule duly made by local authority relative to the navigation of any harbour, river, or inland navigation.

Special Lights for Squadrons and Convoys.

These rules will come into operation on the 1st April 1880 :—

Rules under Section 4, Act III (B.C.) of 1879, entitled an Act to provide for the periodical Inspection of Steam Boilers and Prime Movers attached thereto in the Town and Suburbs of Calcutta.

I. There shall be opened in some convenient part of the town an office for the Commissioners for the Inspection of Boilers.

II. A Boiler Commission shall be appointed for Calcutta, to consist of the Commissioner of Police as President, and not less than three Commissioners to be appointed by Government from time to time; and it shall meet periodically (at least once a month) to arrange for the transaction of business.

III. The Inspector appointed under the Act shall also be Secretary to the Commission, and he shall attend the office and keep such records as the Commission may direct.

IV. The Commissioners shall have the power to appoint such Inspectors, as well as such assistants, as may from time to time be found necessary for carrying out the provisions of the Act, and they shall also have power to suspend or remove such Inspectors or assistants.

V. The Inspector shall have all the powers conferred on him by the Act; but whenever he considers it necessary to give the notice authorized by section 6, requiring owners or persons in charge of boilers to make alterations or additions, a copy of the notice served shall at the same time be forwarded by him to each member of the Boiler Commission. When an appeal is heard by the Commission, notice shall be given to the appellant, and any representation that may be made by him will be heard in the presence of the Inspector. The Inspector will also be heard, and local inspection made if necessary. The decision of the Commission will be given in writing, and such decision shall be final.

VI. The Inspector shall keep in the prescribed form a register containing dimensions and particulars of all boilers within the limits of the Act.

VII. The Inspector shall inspect these boilers in the regular order laid down in the index register list, unless any deviations from this order be specially sanctioned by the Commission.

VIII. There shall be two kinds of inspection of boilers—

(a) A thorough examination once every twelve months, inside and outside, to be made by the Inspector in person, for which purpose the boilers must be emptied, cool, and clean, and flues swept; and, if required by the Inspector, any parts or settings removed for a complete examination of the boiler and machinery in every part.

(b) There shall be during the twelve months not less than two ordinary examinations of every boiler while under steam. At such ordinary inspections the standard pressure-gauge shall be applied, and the condition of the safety-valve and steam-gauge noted.

The Commissioners shall have the power of revoking or suspending certificates.

IX. The certificate under section 7 of the Act shall be granted only when it has been ascertained by thorough inspection that the conditions of the section have been complied with. The Inspector shall give one week's notice of every such intended thorough examination; and if after that notice the boilers are not cool, clean and ready for inspection on the date named, the Inspector shall prohibit the boilers from working, and shall report the case to the Commissioners. Further, if any request be made to remove fittings or settings, and such be not complied with, the Inspector shall in like manner stop the working of the boilers.

X. The Inspector shall submit to the Commissioners his report on every boiler inspected in the form of a diary which shall be recorded in the office, and the certificate granted shall be in the form prescribed in the schedule of the Act, and shall be for twelve months, unless it appear to the Inspector that it should be granted for a shorter period.

3. The votes of subscribers have affirmed the resolution "that the interest to the contingent benefits of the Fund of Miss Amy Augusta Lawford be restored, and that, on the arrears of subscription with interest being paid up, she be admitted to the benefits of the Fund." The votes were 204 for and 5 against. Miss Lawford has accordingly been admitted on the Fund from the 12th May 1878, in addition to the widow and two children of the late Mr. H. B. Lawford, who were admitted by the meeting of the 24th July 1878.

Miss Lawford	£100

4. The votes of subscribers have affirmed the resolution passed for the amendment of Article V (6) by the addition of the following clause :—

Every married subscriber shall be at liberty to submit for the examination of the Managers a certificate of his marriage and a certificate of baptism or of birth of his wife. Should such certificate be accepted, the dates shall be recorded, and it shall not ordinarily be necessary thereafter to give evidence regarding the facts.

The votes were 206 for and none against.

5. The votes on the proposal to amend Article 25 by the insertion of the words "or of birth" after the word "baptism" were 206 for and one against.

6. The widow of the late Mr. H. Brownlow having applied for the continuance of her son Herbert's pension beyond the age of 21 years, as provided for in Article 30 of the rules, in consequence of his incapacity to gain his livelihood, the Managers required a certificate from Sir Joseph Fayrer. They have now decided to continue the pension up to 1st January 1883, a further certificate from Sir Joseph Fayrer being then required. The Managers have determined to pay the fee for such examinations, and the agents have been instructed in future, before forwarding any application of this nature made through them, to refer the case on behalf of the Managers to Sir Joseph Fayrer.

7. Mr. D. C Halkett retired on an annuity on 4th April 1877, and Captain C. H. Craigie Halkett has applied to the Managers on his behalf to be permitted to make up the subscription balance to Rs. 25,000. It is urged that Mr. Halkett was ill before he retired, and that since his retirement his health has been so shattered that he has been unable to manage his own affairs. His eldest brother, who was entrusted with the management of affairs, appears to have neglected them. The Managers have, under these circumstances, agreed to comply with the application and, Captain Halkett has been asked to pay up the sum due with interest at 8 per cent.

8. Mr W. Wavell retired from the service on 31st December 1877, and elected to make his subscription balance up to Rs. 12,500, thus securing half benefits. He now reports that it would have been extremely inconvenient, if not impossible, for him to pay the sum required to secure full privileges, but that for various reasons it is desirable that he should now do so, and he requests permission to make good the difference. As Mr. Wavell's original choice was deliberate and made with full knowledge, the Managers have not been able to entertain this application.

9. The Managers have received the docket No 2746, dated 15th September 1879, from the Government of India, Financial Department, and with it a despatch, No. 5, dated 7th August 1879, in reply to their letter of 26th March 1879, which they lay before the subscribers for their information.

No. 5, dated India Office, London, the 7th August 1879.

From—The RIGHT HON'BLE VISCOUNT CRANBROOK, Her Majesty's Secy. of State for India,
To—His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General of India in Council.

I HAVE considered in Council your financial letter, dated the 15th May last, No. 136, submitting for the decision of Her Majesty's Government a request which has been preferred by the Managers of the Bengal Civil Fund to be furnished with a copy of the Financial Despatch to your Government, dated the 20th February last, No. 65, relative to the Covenanted Civil Service Family Pension Funds of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

2. This request of the Managers has resulted from the letter sent to them by your Government on the 20th March last, informing them of the decision of Her Majesty's Government in regard to the closing of the existing Civil Funds, and requesting certain statistical information requisite for a complete valuation of the assets and liabilities of the Bengal Civil Fund on the 1st April 1875.

3. As the information now required from the Managers does not involve any matter of principle, but is confined solely to facts and figures necessary for actuarial purposes, I do not consider it necessary that they should be furnished with a copy of the despatch from the Home Government in which that information was asked for.

10. On the 13th October last the Managers issued a circular to the service on the subject of the disposal of the surplus, and on the 22nd November they laid before the subscribers a statement of the opinions which had then been elicited. Steps have now been taken to place before this meeting, in the form prescribed by Article 17 of the rules, those proposals which appear to commend themselves to the majority of the subscribers. The Managers will accordingly move the adoption of the following measures:—

(1)—Remission of annuitants' subscriptions for wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and for children born of such wives after retirement.

(2)—Modification of the rule regarding minimum payments in the case of invalid annuitants, so as to secure half benefits in all cases to their wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and to children born of such wives after retirement.

(3)—Donation of £300 to the family of a subscriber dying in the service, and of £200 to the family of subscriber dying after retirement.

(4)—Increase of the allowances of motherless orphans by 50 per cent.

(5)—Increase of sons' allowances by £50 between the ages of 16 and 21.

(6)—Abolition of the rule regarding one-sixth deductions.

In order to give effect to these proposals the following additions to, and amendments of, the rules will be proposed by the Managers:—

(1) Article IV.—Omit the words "the subscriptions of annuitants or retired subscribers shall be regulated in the manner provided in Article VIII."

(2) Article VII.—Omit the whole.

(3) Article VIII.—Substitute—

"First.—Subscribers who may hereafter retire from the service on annuities, wishing to secure to their widow and children the full benefits of the Fund, must, on retirement, make up the amount of their subscriptions with interest to Rs. 25,000.

"Second.—Subscribers hereafter so retiring from the service may at their option, by making up the amount of their subscriptions with interest either to Rs. 18,750, or to Rs. 12,500, or to Rs. 6,250, secure to their families in the first case three-quarters, and in the second one-half, and in the third one-quarter, of the amount of pensions and other allowances granted to the family of a subscriber dying in the service, or of an annuitant who has made up on retirement the full amount of Rs. 25,000 :

"Provided that in the case of a subscriber compelled to retire on an invalid allowance, no payment shall be required to secure half benefits to a wife or children existing at the time of retirement, and to children born of such wife after retirement.

"Third.—In the case of a subscriber marrying after retirement, he shall contribute for his wife and for his children the issue of such marriage, at the rates levied from subscribers in the service on their allowances ; an option being allowed to each subscriber of paying up once for all, either at the time of his marriage, or at any subsequent period the value of his contributions according to tables of mortality which, upon the advice of an actuary, may be adopted by the Managers. This commutation will be calculated at 5 per cent. in the following manner : additional subscriptions on the joint lives of husband and wife, and extra contribution for children on the joint lives of father and child. Every retired subscriber so commuting will also be liable to pay or commute for each child afterwards born, and, in case of subsequent marriage, for the wife so married. Provided that no subscriber so contributing, or commuting, shall obtain for his family a higher scale of benefits than that secured by him at retirement under the first and second clauses of this Rule."

(4) Article XXV.—For the words "Articles VII and VIII" substitute "Article VIII."

(5) Article XXIX.—After the words "or £100 a year in England" add "and these allowances shall be increased by one-half if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall have died."

(6) Article XXX.—For the word "twenty-first" substitute "sixteenth.." After the words "£100 a year in England" add—

"And these allowances shall be increased by one-half if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall have died.

"From the commencement of the 17th to the end of the 21st year the allowance shall be Rs. 90 a month in India, or £150 a year in England, and this allowance shall be increased by Rs. 30 a month in India, or £50 a year in England, if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall have died."

(7) After Article XXX insert a new article in the following terms :—

"On the death of a subscriber a donation shall be paid to his widow, or, if there be no widow, to his surviving child or children who by his death become entitled to receive allowances from the Fund, according to the following scale :—

(1) If the subscriber dies before retirement, £300 sterling, or the equivalent thereof at the rate of exchange of the day.

(2) If the subscriber dies after retirement, £200 sterling, or the equivalent thereof at the rate of exchange of the day.

It shall be in the discretion of the Managers to pay this donation in anticipation of the receipt of the formal evidence required for the admission of the family to the benefits of the Fund."

(8) Article XLI.—Omit the words "by which the tables of one-third minimum value shall also be determined."

The Managers will also propose that such of the above additions and amendments as may be adopted shall have retrospective effect from 1st April 1878.

11. A memorandum by Mr. Westland, showing the cost of the managers' proposals, is now submitted.

12. Mr Westland has given notice to the Managers that he will propose at the Half-yearly General Meeting that ordinarily no person shall be qualified to hold the Secretaryship who draws a salary (including pay and acting allowance) over Rs. 1,500, provided that if any person is obliged by this rule to give up the Secretaryship, in consequence of an acting appointment which, in the opinion of the Managers, is of a temporary nature, the Managers may permit him to retain a lien on the appointment (but without remuneration) so long as he does not leave Calcutta on furlough or special leave. Mr. Westland has now informed the Managers that he is willing to acquiesce in the following amendment which has been suggested :—"Should the Secretary succeed, either permanently or temporarily, to an office of which the salary exceeds Rs. 1,500, his appointment as Secretary shall become vacant, but the Managers shall be competent, if the interests of the Fund in their opinion require it, to reappoint him for a period of six months, and, if necessary, to continue such appointment for a further like period. But in no case shall any one hold the Secretaryship if he is at the time an ex-officio Manager."

13. The accounts of the year 1878-79 are submitted.

"That the accounts of the past year 1878-79 be approved."

Proposed by Mr. R. H. Wilson, seconded by Hon'ble H. T. Prinsep, and carried—

"That the following gentlemen be elected Managers for the ensuing year:—Hon'ble Mr. Justice Jackson, C.I.E.; Hon'ble C. T. Buckland; Hon'ble W. F. McDonell, V.C.; Hon'ble J. O'Kinealy, and J. Crawfurd, Esq.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said that, as senior member amongst the managers of the Fund, he had been asked to lay before the meeting the proposals of the managers in regard to the disposal of the surplus which has been declared to be available for the purpose of providing additional benefits to the members of the service and their families. It had been the intention of the managers to bring forward the whole of the propositions that were specified in the paper which had been laid before the service as one large scheme. But it had come to the knowledge of the managers that a member of the service, Mr. Verner, was desirous to bring forward a proposition which was not included in that scheme, and which might be taken to be an amendment on the first of the proposals proposed by the managers. It had been already stated in the circular that it was their desire that Mr. Verner's proposal should receive the fullest consideration from this meeting, and therefore with a view to its convenient discussion, Mr. Jackson proposed on behalf of the managers to move, first, only the first of the proposed measures, that is—

(1)—Remission of annuitants' subscriptions for wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and for children born of such wives after retirement.

He did not think it necessary that he should make any observations, because what the managers had to say had already been stated in the circular which had been issued All that he desired, before the meeting entered on the consideration of Mr. Verner's proposals, was to draw attention to the attitude which the managers had taken up in regard to this discussion. The discussion had continued for a good many months. The managers, who were mostly elected by the service itself, had taken these matters into their consideration, and without giving preference to any particular interests or to the views of any person or set of persons had adopted what appeared to them on mature consideration best for the interests of the entire service. The managers had neither agitated nor canvassed, except so far as the scheme was set forth in the circular, and they did not know what were the intentions of the service in respect to that scheme. They had carefully abstained from using their influence to obtain votes. He wished to add that the intention of the managers in separating the first from the other proposals with a view to the discussion of Mr. Verner's proposal, was that in case he should succeed in carrying the amendment which he intended to bring forward, they would at once unreservedly withdraw the whole of their proposals. The reason of that was that the financial effect of Mr. Verner's amendment was entirely unknown. The financial cost of their proposals had been calculated with some degree of certainty, but they did not know what Mr. Verner's proposal would cost. If it was carried it would still have to be referred back to the service to know what view the service took; and until this had been done, it would be premature perhaps to take an actuary's opinion upon it. Thus great loss of time would probably result. But, however that might be, it was the intention of the managers, if the amendments were carried, to withdraw the rest of their proposals.

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier seconded the motion.

The Chairman then put the first proposition of the managers, namely that

(1)—Remission of annuitants' subscriptions for wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and for children born of such wives after retirement.

Mr. Verner said the managers had, he understood, through the gentleman who had just spoken, decided that the amendment which he had to propose must come upon the first proposal which had been put to the meeting by the Chairman.

[The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson remarked that the managers understood that Mr. Verner would think that a convenient mode of proceeding. If Mr. Verner preferred to move his amendment upon any of the other proposals, the managers would have no objection].

Mr. Verner continued: The advertisement began thus:—"In accordance with the provisions of Article 17 of the rules, the managers give notice that they will propose the following:—

(3.)—Article VIII, Clause 1.—Substitute—

"First.—Subscribers who may hereafter retire from the service on annuities wishing to secure to their widows and children the full benefits of the Fund must, on retirement, make up the amount of their subscriptions with interest to Rs. 25,000.

"Second.—Subscribers hereafter so retiring from the service may at their option, by making up the amount of their subscriptions with interest either to Rs. 18,750, or to Rs. 12,500, or to Rs 6,250, secure to their families in the first case three-quarters, and in the second one-half, and in the third one-quarter, of the amount of pensions and other allowances granted to the family of a subscriber dying in the service or of an annuitant who has made up, on retirement, the full amount of Rs. 25,000:

"Provided that in the case of a subscriber compelled to retire on an invalid allowance no payment shall be required to secure half benefits to a wife or children existing at the time of retirement and to children born of such wife after retirement.

"Third.—In the case of a subscriber marrying after retirement, he shall contribute for his wife and for his children, the issue of such marriage, at the rates levied from subscribers in the service on their allowances; an option being allowed to each subscriber of paying up once for all, either at the time of his marriage, or at any subsequent period, the value of his contributions according to tables of mortality which, upon the advice of an actuary may be adopted by the managers. This commutation will be calculated at 5 per cent. in the following manner:—Additional subscriptions on the joint lives of husband and wife and extra contribution for children on the joint lives of father and child. Every retired subscriber so commuting will also be liable to pay or commute for each child afterwards born, and, in case of subsequent marriage, for the wife so married."

That was the substantial proposal advertised. He was not sure whether he was in order, but he thought his proposal would come best as an amendment upon that proposal.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said Mr. Verner must be quite aware that all that the managers wished to know was how they stood; the sooner the question was brought to an issue the better.

Mr. Verner said he himself was personally in favor of the first proposal, and he should not therefore be necessarily compelled to bring his amendment upon that proposal.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie said there were not two sets of proposals before the meeting. There were certain proposals which the managers would move the adoption of, and if those proposals were carried, they would move the adoption of certain formal alterations in the rules. The object was to discuss the principle of those proposals, and eventually to carry out certain mere formal amendments of the rules which would depend upon what was settled.

Mr. Verner observed that that would scarcely be according to the Articles of the Fund. He understood that it was now proposed on the part of the managers that the amendment he had to bring forward on behalf of many gentlemen was only to be brought forward on the first proposal of the managers, and on nothing else

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said the managers were most anxious to meet Mr. Verner half way, if he would only come forward the other half. They were willing to adopt any procedure that was convenient. He should have no objection to allow Mr. Verner to fix upon any of the managers' proposals as an amendment to which he wished to bring forward his motion. All that Mr. Jackson wanted was that they should come to an issue as soon as possible.

A suggestion having been made by several members that the managers' proposals might be put en bloc, and Mr. Verner's amendment moved as an amendment to the whole—

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said he was quite ready, on the part of the managers, to agree to all the managers' proposals being put en bloc and to Mr. Verner's amendment being then brought forward.

Mr. Verner having expressed his consent to this form of procedure—

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said he hoped it would be understood that if the amendment was put and carried, it would be carried instead of the managers' proposals, and not in addition to them

Mr. Verner said he thought his amendment should be taken instead of proposals numbers three and five of the managers.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said he was willing that Mr. Verner's amendment should be taken as an amendment of the first proposal of the managers, or by way of substitution for the whole.

Mr. R. H. Wilson said he himself was personally in favor not only of the first proposal of the managers, but of all the others. But it seemed to him that by putting the several proposals separately, Mr. Verner and the members of the service whom he represented were practically deprived of an opportunity of putting forward their objections. It seemed to him that those members who attached great importance to Mr. Verner's proposals might wish to oppose some one, and some another of the managers' proposals, and therefore Mr. Wilson proposed as amendment that all the managers' proposals be put at once.

Mr. Harrison observed that what Mr. Wilson had said was very true. He himself would support the managers' proposals as a whole, but if any of them were to go he should be sorry to lose numbers three and five. He thought the meeting should adhere to the proposal which had been made that the managers' proposals, as a whole, should be put to the meeting.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said, all that the managers desired was to get an expression of the sense of the meeting. If it was the wish of the meeting that the managers should bring forward their proposals as a body, they were perfectly content to do so. He believed the rest of the managers agreed to that course being adopted, and he would therefore ask the Chairman to bring forward, as a whole, the several proposals which had been put forward by the managers.

The Chairman then put to the meeting the whole of the proposals of the managers' which, he said, had been seconded by the Hon'ble Mr. Dampier.

(1)—Remission of annuitants' subscriptions for wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and for children born of such wives after retirement.

(2)—Modification of the rule regarding minimum payments in the case of invalid annuitants, so as to secure half benefits in all cases to their wives and children existing at the time of retirement, and to children born of such wives after retirement.

(3)—Donation of £300 to the family of a subscriber dying in the service, and of £200 to the family of subscriber dying after retirement.

(4)—Increase of the allowances of motherless orphans by 50 per cent.

(5)—Increase of sons' allowances by £50 between the ages of 16 and 21.

(6)—Abolition of the rule regarding one-sixth deductions.

Mr. Verner said he would propose as an amendment to the managers' proposals that they be modified in this wise—

Subscribers who retire on annuities after completing 25 years' service and 21 years' residence, secure to their families the full benefits of the Fund, whatever may be the amount of their subscriptions, but shall continue their contributions on their annuities at such rates as may be settled from time to time.

He would wish to explain why this proposal had come forward so late in the day. It was some years since the question of the disposal of the estimated surplus first came before the service. It was then proposed that there should be a distribution, but the majority of the service were of opinion that it would be better first of all, as a matter of ordinary business precaution, to take the opinion of an actuary. The service had then before them the opinion of a gentleman who belonged to their service, of whom, Mr. Verner for one was exceedingly proud—proud of his great actuarial abilities; and at the time it was, Mr. Verner was assured, with no wish to depreciate his judgment in any way, that the proposal to take the opinion of an actuary was brought forward, but simply as a matter of ordinary precaution from a business point of veiw. The great bulk of the service did not on that first occasion go into the question as to how the surplus was to be distributed. They put forward no proposals whatsoever; they only wished that there should be no distribution of any surplus until an actuary's opinion had been obtained. Now, when that opinion was obtained, the managers came forward with certain proposals which were avowedly based upon the proposals put forward by some members of the service six or seven years previously. The proposals of the managers were no doubt very good, but it seemed to some members of the service that there might be other proposals more for the general interests of the service. One of those proposals was to alter the present rules which in their working bore hardly upon persons who were obliged to retire in ill health, and another proposal to remove was the fixed minimum of Rs. 25,000 required from subscribers before they could retire upon annuities. The first of these proposals the managers had adopted in a modified form. The second, Mr. Verner had the honor to bring forward that day. This proposal had only come to light at a late period of the day for the reason he had already mentioned, namely that those who interested themselves in the matter some years ago did not bring it forward because it had not then come in issue. The only question then was whether there was a surplus or not.

The reason for the proposal was this, that the promotion and good fortune of men in the service in all these provinces varied very considerably. The promotion of one set of years might be very much better than another. One batch of men might find themselves, from a pecuniary point of view, during their period of service worse off than others; they might not be inferior men, but still they might be worse off. Again, some men (taking them individually) might suffer from ill-health or ill-fortune, or some other cause, and the result might be that they would draw very much less salary during their term of service, that is of obligatory service, than men of more fortunate years, or who were perhaps more capable. When they came to retire they would found that, owing to the circumstances which had been mentioned, their subscriptions fell short of the amount required, so that they would have to pay up a heavy sum of money. They would thus find themselves, by circumstances which were very often outside their own power, twice sufferers, namely, first in the receipt of less pay during the whole term of service; and secondly in being asked to pay up a large amount at a time when they were least able to do so. It was as regards these men that Mr. Verner asked the meeting to have some consideration. Many of the members attending this meeting were men who by their talents or their good fortune or industry, or for some other reason, had raised themselves somewhat above the general service, and in a pecuniary point of view were considerably above the members of the service in the Central Provinces, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab. It was therefore that he, and those for whom he acted, asked them to consider the interests of persons who were less fortunate in the service. It was easy to point out how hard the present rule might be, though he could not now name particular cases.

While he admitted the duty of effecting the security of the Fund, he might say that during the short time while he acted as Secretary to the Fund, he knew of cases which pressed very hardly upon individual members when they had to pay up a sum of money. They could well understand that there were cases in which good men doing good work were suddenly stopped. The doctors had said that they must leave India at once. They might not have subscribed to the fund the minimum amount, and they required all they had saved. They had to set themselves up at home, to pay their passage home, and just when they required most ready money, they were obliged to pay down many thousand rupees to make up the amount of their subscription. If it was said that these cases did not occur often, then that proved that the Fund would not be a loser by showing some consideration in such cases; and therefore Mr. Verner asked the fortunate men there present to concede the point to the less fortunate men. It was not all of them who expected to have to pay to make up the Rs. 25,000, but even those whom it did not particularly effect should, in the interest, he would not say of justice, but of equity, wish to be considerate to the less fortunate men.

He had only one other remark to make If the gentlemen then present who were prudently minded did not desire this proposal in its integrity, it was open to them to propose that it should be brought forward in some modified form. The men whom Mr. Verner represented—a good number—would, he thought, be perfectly willing to accept a modification of his amendment by which in such cases men would have to pay not this considerable sum of money down, but at half rates during their term of retired service. Or else another form which his amendment might take would be this that the minimum amount of subscription should be less than Rs. 25,000, so that a man could hope that when he had done the 25 years' service and 21 years' residence which were absolutely obligatory, he might have little or nothing to pay under this provision of the rules.

Mr. Bernard seconded the amendment, which he said he did, not that he agreed in it, but in order that the subject might be discussed.

Mr Westland wished to say a few words on the mere figure part of Mr. Verner's proposal. First of all he must say that it was very uncomfortable to be forced into the position in which Mr. Verner sought to place some of those who were then present, and who might oppose the amendment put forward. One was told, that one was rather a fortunate member, and was sitting upon those who were less fortunate. For his part Mr. Westland did not wish to look at the proposal in that light, but as far as he could from a purely indifferent point of view.

The gentlemen present had heard Mr. Verner say that during the time he was acting as Secretary of the Fund there were several cases in which the hardship of the Rs. 25,000 rule came before him. Mr. Verner had been Secretary to the Fund for a short time during the last ten years; he did not know for what length of time. Mr. Westland found that only three cases had occurred during the last ten or twelve years in which, under the operation of that rule, subscribers had to pay up any money to make up the minimum subscription of Rs. 25,000. The first of these cases was in 1868-69, when a gentleman had to pay Rs. 3,470 to make up his subscription; one in 1871-72, in which a gentleman paid Rs. 475 (that almost amounted to nothing); the third case occurred in 1875-76, when a gentleman paid Rs. 1,818. Those were the only three cases in which this Rs. 25,000 rule had operated in any way either hardly or tenderly.

In order to see how Mr. Verner's proposal would work, Mr. Westland had examined the registers of the Fund. He thought that when people made proposals affecting the assets of the Fund they ought to remember that the responsibility of the management was very considerable, and they ought, before making such proposals, to see that their proposals would not affect the safety of the assets. They ought to take steps to gather information as to the effect of their proposals. Mr Westland had asked the Secretary whether Mr. Verner had made any inquiries which would justify his making the present proposal. But Mr. Westland regretted to find that no such inquiries had been made.

As he had said, he examined the registers, and taking the balances for March 31, 1878, the last date to which they had been listed, he made an examination of the amounts paid up by different members of the service; he found that he had to go down nearly sixty names before he found more than three balances less than Rs. 40,000. The subscription of nearly every person amongst those 60 would, by payment of "ordinary" subscriptions only, and without any "additional," amount to Rs. 25,000. Of the three whose cases he had referred to, one had a residence of 21 years and 5 months, another 23 years, and another less than 21. The second had been a bachelor all his life, and therefore had subscribed only at unmarried rates. The third, whose subscriptions amounted to Rs. 29,000, had been married only for a year or two. Mr. Westland then went on to examine the next 40 names, that was to say, down to the end of the first hundred, to see how many were under Rs. 30,000 in their subscriptions First were two unmarried men, neither of whom had completed 21 years' residence. Their subscriptions had not come up to Rs. 30,000. Then, there was a gentleman of 17 years' residence, whose subscription had not come up to Rs. 30,000, but who, as he had only subscribed Rs. 75 to the additional fund, appeared to have been married only for a month or two. There were also two bachelors of 18 and 19½ years' residence respectively, and lastly one of 19 years' residence, who had only Rs. 27,400 subscription. This brought Mr. Westland down to men of 22 years' service and of 17 or 18 years' residence, and even below that point there were some who had topped Rs. 30,000; one who had topped Rs. 40,000; and one who, though he had not quite done so in 1878, must have done it by 1879.

He might be told that that was the result of an exceptional state of things, and that future subscribers would not have subscribed the same amounts as the subscribers of the past. He therefore examined the accounts of the gentlemen of the cold weather of 1863-64 taking their "ordinary" subscriptions only so as to leave out of consideration every thing but comparative rates of salary. Those were the gentlemen who were commonly reputed to be the worst off as regards promotion. They, in March 1878, had 14 years and odd months of service. In Bengal there were 17 of them whose average balances were Rs. 4,928; in the North-Western Provinces there were 14 whose average balance was Rs. 4,809; and in the Punjab 11, with the average balance of Rs. 4,956. Mr. Westland wished to compare these figures with the subscriptions of gentlemen of 14 years' service of the new Fund, namely from 1849-50, 1850-51 and 1851-52 to 31st March 1865, taking again only the ordinary subscription of 2½ per cent The average ordinary subscription of the 33 men of the cold weathers of 1849-50, 1850-51, and 1851-52 who had subscribed up to 1865 was Rs. 5,777, so that the men of 1863-64, on behalf of whom the proposal was made, and whom the members were asked to regard with some sort of compassion, had fallen short of the men of 1849-1852 by only one-fifth or one-sixth. It was a fair argument that if this very bad year had accumulated in the first 14 years five-sixths or four-fifths of the amount of those belonging to the more fortunate years, their subscriptions would, at the end of the service, in like manner stand well over Rs. 25,000. So that the facts of the accumulations appeared to prove that subscribers, by merely usual subscriptions, and after even the slow rates of promotion that had prevailed, would have paid up all that was required.

The cases which the rule really touched were these. If a person had for a long time of his service paid the "additional" rate, then there was no chance of his falling below Rs. 25,000. But it must be remembered that in their fund arrangements members might during their whole service pay subscriptions as unmarried men, and nevertheless have the right of bringing wives upon the Fund on a perfectly nominal fine, and some times no fine at all, when they chose at the very end of their service to marry. A man who married after 25 years got exactly the same benefit as a person who was married and had paid married rates during the whole 25 years It was these gentlemen only who were touched by the minimum rule and made by it in a few cases to pay up a portion of the deficit of their married subscription. The proposal was that these gentlemen should not only get off the payment of an equal rate of subscription during service, but that they should not pay thereafter. Besides, it must be remembered that even in this case the rule was not a compulsory one. Even those affected by it had only to wait a year or two longer to completely escape from it, so that it affected only those who having brought these new liabilities on the Fund were anxious to run away as soon as possible from their liabilities to it. Mr. Westland did not see that married people, who brought heavy responsibilities on the Fund at a late period of their service, should have such great consideration shown to them.

He did not wish to appear to press hardly upon men who were unfortunate in their promotion. If anything could be done for them let it be done; but the Civil Fund was not the means of making up to people for the inequalities of promotion. It was an entirely false view to take to say that men who had bad promotion and did not pay married rates should thereby acquire a claim to receive benefits at the cost of those who had good promotion, and during the whole time had paid for their widows and orphans. It was an entirely wrong principle to regulate our mutual insurance Fund with the view of giving compensation for bad promotion by making transfers of money from the subscriptions of people who had good promotion to the pockets of subscribers who had been less fortunate

Mr. Macaulay desired to draw attention to a circular which had been addressed to the members of the service in the North-Western Provinces on the subject before the meeting. The circular said:—"If you turn to the last account furnished you by the managers of your subscriptions, you will find by calculation that, supposing you entered the service after 1861, and have enjoyed only average promotion, you will at the end of a service of 35 years have to make up at least Rs. 6,000 of the Rs. 25,000, and at the end of 25 years a sum varying between Rs. 8,000 to Rs. 10,000." It was unnecessary to point out the obvious oversight here made of the effects of the accumulation of compound interest and subscriptions during the period between the 26th and 36th years of service. But in order to test the statements made, Mr. Macaulay had looked into the accounts of two gentlemen of the years 1860, 1861, and 1862, and had taken in each of those years one (A) who had been married from the beginning of his service, and one (B) who was still a bachelor. He had selected men who had remained in the regular line and who had had about the same promotion. The result would show how entirely the proposal put forward would operate to the prejudice of men who had married early in favour of men who had married late. Of the two gentlemen of the year 1860, the married man had, on 31st March 1879, paid Rs 17,300 and the unmarried Rs. 9,600, the married man having paid Rs. 8,154 as "additional" subscriptions Of the two subscribers of the year 1861, the married man had, after 16¼ years of service, paid Rs. 17,000, the unmarried man Rs. 8,899, Rs. 7,686 representing the "additional" subscriptions of the married man Of the men of 1862, A, after 15¼ years of service had paid Rs. 14,030 (Rs. 7,749 ordinary and Rs. 6,281 additional), while B had paid Rs. 7,346 only of ordinary subscription. The terms Mr. Macaulay had given were not periods of residence, but of service. There could be no doubt that after 21 years' residence and 25 years' service the subscriptions of the married men in question would amount to more than Rs. 30,000.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said it had not been his intention to say anything, but from what had been said by Mr. Westland, one or two observations arose. He did not think it had been shown that the proposition Mr. Verner brought forward was really needed. It pretty clearly had two aspects; one the territorial aspect, the other the matrimonial aspect. It struck him that a considerable number of gentlemen who had deliberately elected for the North-Western Provinces now found themselves in a disadvantageous position as regards promotion and emoluments, and wished to take out of the surplus of the Civil Fund something to compensate them. Mr. Jackson did not think that was the object of the Fund. Another view of it was this:—the persons who were chiefly in arrear as to the minimum of subscriptions and had to make it up were the unmarried subscribers of the Fund. It was quite clear that gentlemen who had been for years unmarried had been in a position to save very largely in comparison to those who had been married. He would only mention the case in which he found himself. He was 56 years of age and had been between 36 and 37 years in the service. When he left he should have to his credit in the Fund something not very far short of one-and-a-half lakh of rupees, and he had not the remotest expectation of ever deriving one pice of benefit from the whole.

Mr. Currie said he should like to say a few words about a letter which he held in his hand. He believed that he was the only member from the North-Western Provinces who had come down for the purpose of attending this meeting, and as that letter was a circular issued in the North-Western Provinces, he thought it as well that he should draw attention to it. When the managers issued their proposals a little time ago, a certain number of civil servants at Allahabad, who were not satisfied with the proposals made by the managers, held a meeting and passed certain resolutions. Those resolutions and the reasoning by which they were supported were contained in the circular letter which he held in his hand. He would not detain the meeting by adverting to the resolutions set forth in it, which were in favour of Mr. Verner's amendment. But he wished to point out that the arguments by which it was sought to justify them were distinctly wrong.

Those arguments were as follows:—That large sums of money must be paid by subscribers to the Fund at the end of 25 and even of 35 years of service, in order to obtain for their families the full benefits of the Fund; if these sums are not paid before a subscriber's death, that his family suffers largely; that the inability to meet this sum retards promotion; and that it is far better to go on paying half-rates as an annuitant than to run the risk of dying before the full payment has been made.

Now, the first of these arguments had been shown to be a complete misconception by Mr. Colman Macaulay and Mr. Westland. That argument would have had a very important bearing upon the case, if the statement contained in it had been correct; unfortunately, it was wholly mistaken. Nevertheless, he had no doubt that it had influenced many votes. He believed that Mr. Verner, who had moved the present amendment, had received a very large number of proxies from gentlemen in the North-Western Provinces. Many of these, he believed had been misled by the mistaken statement of facts to which he had just referred. Mr. Currie had himself sent out about 280 applications for proxies in support of an amendment, which he hoped to bring forward presently, and had received about 30 replies only. A great many of those to whom he had written had replied that the mover of the present amendment had been before him, and that that gentleman already held their proxies. He felt sure that very few of those proxies would have been sent, if the real state of the case had been known: and it was a great pity, he thought, that a circular should be issued with the object of influencing votes upon questions of such importance to the Fund, when the author or authors of that circular, whoever they might be, had taken so little pains themselves to understand the matters at issue.

He would go on now to the next reason which had been given for inducing subscribers to support Mr. Verner's amendment. After making the mistake to which he had just adverted about the amount that was necessary to complete a subscriber's payments, the circular went on as follows:—

"Moreover, the worse your promotion has been the heavier will be the penalty you have to pay. Bearing this in mind it seems most important to get rid of liability *(b) i.e. of making up the subscriptions to a certain amount for the following among other reasons—

"(1)—It is by no means easy to meet a lump demand of this nature, and unless met before death, your wife and children may suffer largely."

Now he must confess that he was quite at a loss to understand what could have been meant by this. When a man retired from the service, did he retire, he would ask, as a dead man or a living one? He supposed that a subscriber, when he retired, must be alive; and his death, if it occurred any time subsequent to his retirement, would have no effect whatever upon the sum payable by him. On the other hand, if he died before retirement, it certainly used to be necessary to make up his subscriptions—not to the sums mentioned in the circular, but to one-third of the value of the pension allowances. For the future, however, the managers proposed to abolish even this rule; and neither the advocates of the present amendment, nor any one else that he knew of had any intention of contesting that proposal. If then a subscriber died hereafter without making up his subscriptions to any particular sum, his family would suffer nothing at all, and the danger threatened by the circular was purely imaginary. He had done his best to make sense of the words in italics which he had quoted, but he had been unable to discover any sense in which they could be true.

He would return to the circular. That went on, after the quotation which he had last made, in the following terms:—"The liability to meet this sum retards promotion. Subscribers linger on to lessen this sum, whereas many a one might retire much earlier if he felt that by so doing he did not run the risk of injuring the interests of his wife and children." Now, the last part of this argument was obviously wrong, if it was intended to imply that subscribers were obliged to linger in order to pay more to the Fund if men remain in India after completion of service their object is the higher allowances they will continue to receive as salary, and not the saving of the comparatively petty sum that the minimum rule might call on them to pay the main error which the circular contained was the assertion that 25 years of service were not ordinarily enough to enable a subscriber to complete his payments to the Fund. This error had been sufficiently dealt with already, and he should say nothing further about it now; except that he could not conceive where the figures given in the circular had been obtained from.

The last argument in the circular, viz, that it is better to go on paying half rates as an annuitant than to run the risk of dying before a lump sum has been paid up, was merely a repetition of the mistake about the effect of a subscriber's death upon his liabilities towards the Fund which had already been exposed.

These were the arguments in consideration of which a number of gentlemen had been urged to disregard the recommendations of the managers. Was it too much to say that the whole reasoning in the Allahabad circular was mistaken and misleading? He could feel no doubt himself that the opinions, both of the gentlemen who had issued that circular and of those who had been influenced by it, would have been greatly altered if they could have been present at that meeting, and could have heard what had fallen from Mr. Westland and the other opponents of Mr. Verner's amendment. He felt sure that they would have been convinced of the fallacy of the arguments contained in the circular, and that they would have given their support to the proposals made by the managers.

Mr. Verner said in reply that the gentleman who last spoke had in the course of a very humorous speech tried to expose the statements which appeared in a letter which had been circulated amongst the members of the service in the North-Western Provinces, and had pointed out that in the figures given in a paragraph on the third page of that letter the writers had made a mistake; but beyond ridiculing the gentlemen concerned in the preparation and circulation of that letter and pointing the finger of scorn at them, Mr. Currie had brought forward no argument whatever. Mr. Currie said that another statement in that letter beginning: "It is by no means easy to meet a lump demand" was not correct, or as he turned it 'nonsense,' because the statement proceeded on the assumption of death; but Mr. Currie himself was not strictly correct, because it was a fact that if a man died immediately after retirement without having paid up what was required to complete the minimum of Rs. 25,000, his family might suffer severely.

Mr. Verner continued:—He was not in any way responsible for that circular, and had had nothing to say to its preparation. The hon'ble gentleman opposite (Mr. Jackson) had stated that the managers had neither agitated nor canvassed for proxies. Mr. Verner was not quite sure whether Mr. Jackson wished it to be understood that he, Mr. Verner, had agitated and canvassed for proxies. Of the proxies he held in his hand he had not canvassed for one, and had not written to a single individual for his proxy. He had got one or two letters from Mr Mackintosh, to which he had replied, but he had not asked for any proxies either through the Pioneer or the Englishman, or in any other manner. Beyond writing to the papers he had not canvassed, and in writing to the papers he had not asked for proxies, but had merely used the press so as to bring to the notice of the service at large certain considerations. He had not written to a single man, nor had he asked others to canvass for proxies Mr. Westland had remarked upon the fact that he had not asked for information. It was rather difficult for a member who was living at Burdwan to find from the records in the Fund Office the information he required. He did think of asking the Fund Office to supply him with figures. He thought of asking what the financial results of his proposal would be, but from the reception which his letters had met from the managers, he did not know whether he would be considered to be justified in doing so or not. All that he wished was that the matter should be dispassionately considered. He did not wish that it should be imagined that he brought forward this proposal because he belonged to the year 1863-64.

[Mr. Westland explained that he took that year because, as regards the North-Western Provinces, it was the worst year for promotion]

Mr. Verner continued :—Most of them knew that with a large number of men there was no choice whatsoever. He himself had no choice of provinces. Then with regard to the subject of bachelors and married men. It was said that it was very unfair that a man who married late in his service should escape this fine. He was not prepared to admit such a charge against the bachelors of the service, and he was surprised that Mr. Westland should put forward such a statement. Those men who remained unmarried were running the risk of death without putting the Fund to any risk. If a man died in the first twenty-five years of his service without marrying he had done the Fund good service. The thing which kept the Fund up and made it solvent was the bachelors—the men who never married.

[Mr. Westland remarked that by far the majority married. Of those whose first wives died, almost all married a second time; and most of those whose second wives died, married a third time.]

Mr. Verner continued :—He would read a few extracts from some of the letters he had received. The first was from a married man, Mr. Denniston. "Finally I have to make a remark * * a bachelor who had subscribed thousands of rupees perhaps "should not, if invalided, be deprived of all benefits, whether by refund of his money without interest, or by allowing him to go on paying, or by allowing him time to make up a certain sum, he ought to be equitably treated, and married men ought to be ashamed of the present state of things." Here was the opinion of another gentlemen, Mr. Sinkinson, well known to many of those present. "Your proposed action at the coming meeting of the members of the Civil Fund has my unqualified acquiescence. I understand that you advocate as the first object of the appropriation of the surplus the entire abrogation of the rule which requires the payment of certain minima before a retiring subscriber has a claim on the Fund. In the hope that my vote may be of some service towards this end, I enclose you a proxy if you care to use it." * * * * He need not go into all the letters which he had received. They were written very plainly and unmistakeably. It had been said that there had been no canvassing on the part of the managers. He had in his hand a letter signed by Mr. Colman Macaulay, in which the following appeared :—

"Subscribers residing at a distance from Calcutta may desire to be represented at the meeting in the event of any discussion arising regarding these proposals. I am accordingly directed to forward to you the accompanying form of special proxy, and to say that it may be addressed to any of the managers, or to the Secretary."

That letter appeared to Mr. Verner to have issued from the Fund Office by direction of the managers, and yet it was boasted that the managers had not agitated nor canvassed for proxies.

[Mr. Macaulay said he had received, in answer to the circular, a number of proxies in favour of Mr. Verner's proposal, which he intended to put in when the voting took place.]

The Chairman then put Mr. Verner's amendment to the vote. As there was only one voice in favour of it, and as under the rules the concurrent voices of at least nine members are requisite to carry any motion whatever, it was declared lost.

Mr. Beverley moved an amendment to the effect that the proposal of the managers that was numbered 6, viz. the abolition of the rule regarding one-sixth deductions, should be omitted. Mr. Beverley said that having recently stated his reasons for this amendment in a letter addressed to the Englishman newspaper, he should not unnecessarily take up the time of the meeting. Briefly, it seemed to him that the proposed change was impolitic, inequitable, and uncalled for. It introduced a new and dangerous principle into the constitution of the Fund, changing what was originally a benevolent and even now a provident institution into more or less of an insurance fund The meeting had just witnessed an attempt to abolish minimum payments on retirement. The managers' own proposal was a step in that direction, and if adopted, they would not be able to stop them. Invalid annuitants, he thought, would have a fair claim to be heard next and relieved from minimum payments. Mr. Beverley had not seen one word urged in support of the proposal; it seemed to have been taken for granted on the recommendation of an actuary. On the other hand he would ask the meeting to remember the low minimum imposed by the present rule—one-third only of the value of the pension—and the limited number of cases in which that rule operated, and then to consider whether in such cases, viz. when members died so soon after marriage that they had not paid up this low minimum, a reduced pension of £250 a year instead of £300 was such a hardship as called for immediate redress. Another argument was supplied him by a circular which he had found on the table since entering the room, but which he had not seen before. That circular stated that the cost of the managers' proposals would exceed the estimated surplus. He thought that it was an additional argument why the service should pause before committing itself to the introduction of the principle of abolishing minimum payments, such payments having always hitherto been a part of the fundamental constitution of the Fund He would take the sense of the meeting therefore whether this proposal should not be struck out.

The Chairman put the amendment to the vote and declared it to be negatived.

Mr. Currie said, he had a small amendment to move, and he laboured under some difficulty in doing so. He had intended to have brought his motion as an additional proposal for the consideration of the meeting instead of as an amendment, because, as they all knew, the mover of an amendment was more or less under a disadvantage. His motion was only an amendment in name; but it was his misfortune to be compelled to bring it forward in that shape from not having been able to give the required notice. The proposal which he had to make was not in supersession of anything which was advocated by the managers; it was a small rider to their recommendations and he believed that it would cost very little, as there were very few persons who would be benefited by it. His proposal was to extend the benefits granted to daughters under the present rules to daughters of subscribers under the old rules. The effect of this would be to allow the latter to enjoy any private means they had of their own in addition to their pensions. His amendment was limited to the case of motherless orphans. The number of daughters receiving pensions under the old rules to whom this amendment would apply was supposed to be small, perhaps about thirty. So long as the mother of such children was alive she received £300 a year from the Fund, and if she had a private income of £100 a year besides, she was allowed to enjoy that much, without any deduction being made from her pension on account of it. She could in this way have as much as £400 of her own, and her daughters, supposing there were two, would also receive £100 each from the Fund. But if a motherless daughter had a private income, say of £25, a corresponding amount would be deducted from her pension under the Fund Rules, and her total income from both sources would not be allowed to exceed £100. Now, this was very hard upon the daughters. In the case which he had supposed, if the mother were to die, her £300 would lapse to the Fund, and her £100 of annual private income would go to the daughters. Supposing that each daughter had £25 of her own before, and that the mother's income was divided between them in equal shares, that would make up the yearly private income of each to £75. But this private income would do them no good at all; for a corresponding sum of £75 would be retrenched from their pensions, and the whole income of each would thus be reduced to not more than £100 a year, a sum which at the present value of money was a very poor provision for a girl. He had no arguments as of right to adduce in support of his proposal; he trusted only to the appeal ad misericordiam. When the Fund had so large a surplus, the really hard case of these motherless orphans seemed to deserve consideration. Looking to the very small amount of money—he believed Rs. 50,000 or 60,000—which would cover the cost, he thought that some assistance should be given to these helpless ladies out of the abundance at the disposal of the service. The charge upon the Fund, moreover, could not be of any long continuance, for none of the ladies whom he proposed to benefit could from the circumstances of the case be under 30 years of age. The precise terms of the amendment which he desired to propose were that an addition be made to part of Article 29 of the rules in the following words:—

"And daughters coming under the old rules shall receive their full pension of £100 per annum in England (or Rs. 60 a month in India), irrespective of private income, until marriage, if or after the wife or widow of the subscriber shall have died."

He was quite ready to avow that he had canvassed for this proposal, and he did not think any one could reasonably find fault with him for having done so. He thought that, if a member had any proposal to bring forward, it was only right that he should explain his views generally and ask for support. The fact of his proposal being compelled to take the shape of an amendment was due, as he had explained, to accident. The managers' circular had reached him several days later than he should have received it, in consequence of his address having been changed, and this accidental delay had not left him time, under the rules, to bring forward his proposal as an original motion. He asked the members present to help him with their votes, in order that the proposals then made might be submitted to the general body of subscribers; if he lost it in that room, it could not go to the service. If he carried it at that meeting, it did not follow that it would obtain the votes of the service. But he could not get a hearing at all if he did not get a sufficient number of supporters at the meeting.

Mr. Westland said he would tell the meeting what the cost of Mr. Currie's proposal would be, so far as they knew it, and what the cost would be, so far as they did not know it. So far as they knew it, they knew the ladies who at present draw a pension under the old rules of under £100 per annum. The effect of the proposal was to raise those pensions to £100. In the cases of those whose mothers were alive, the increase would take place only when the mothers died. In the case of those whose mothers were dead they would get the income immediately. The number was about 22 under this particular proposal, and the increase to the ladies whose mothers were alive was £255, which valued at £10 per £ gave £2,550; on the other hand, the immediate increase or pension to ladies whose mothers were dead was £303, which valued at £13 per £ gave £3,939. The total cost to the Fund would therefore be about £6,500, or valuing it in Indian money, about Rs. 70,000. Besides there were a great many ladies about whom the Fund knew nothing. There were a great many who were prevented by the property clause from drawing any pension whatever. They were entirely excluded from the calculation. The Fund had no knowledge who or how many they were, and Mr. Westland should certainly not estimate them at less than 20, and there might be 50. The aggregate cost for these would not be less than Rs. 1,50,000 or Rs. 2,00,000.

He would now shortly explain, on the part of the managers, why they could not support Mr. Currie's proposals. The relations between the old and the new Funds were known to most of the old members. In 1850 the old Fund was simply bankrupt. He would quote the description given by the managers themselves in a letter bearing date 1866.—"Left in 1850 (when the first professional examination of the state of the Fund was made) with a deficiency of nearly nine lakhs in the value of the pensions actually assigned to the families of their deceased predecessors, and without a farthing to represent the accrued interests of the living subscribers, and of these who had retired with reversionary interests, the members of the service did not hesitate to assume the enormous responsibility thus devolved upon them." So that of the pensioners of the old Fund, both those drawing full pensions and those drawing a part were really paid out of a Fund which was ded not by their subscriptions, but by the new subscribers, under new conditions, introducing ntirely distinct Fund. The pensions would long ago have ceased for simple want of funds, 't not been that they were met out of this new fund. But beyond meeting the original pensions, according to the rules of the Fund to which these ladies' fathers had subscribed, the mana- did not consider themselves at liberty to withdraw the resources of the new Fund from the ns and orphans, on whose behalf that new Fund was subscribed, so as to make further dona- to ladies who came under the old Fund.

The Chairman then put Mr. Currie's amendment, and declared it to be lost.

The whole scheme of the managers was then put to the vote and carried unanimously.

The following formal amendments necessary to carry out the managers' proposal were then o the vote and carried :—

(1.) Article IV.—Omit the words "the subscriptions of annuitants or retired subscribers shall be regulated in the manner provided in Article VIII."

(2.) Article VII.—Omit the whole.

(3.) Article VIII.—Substitute—

First.—Subscribers who may hereafter retire from the service on annuities, wishing to secure to their widow hildren the full benefits of the Fund, must, on retirement, make up the amount of their subscriptions with est to Rs. 25,000.

" Second.—Subscribers hereafter so retiring from the service may at their option, by making up the amount of subscriptions with interest either to Rs. 18,750, or to Rs. 12,500, or to Rs. 6,250, secure to their families in the case three-quarters, and in the second one-half, and in the third one-quarter, of the amount of pensions and allowances granted to the family of a subscriber dying in the service, or of an annuitant who has made up, on ement, the full amount of Rs. 25,000:

" Provided that in the case of a subscriber compelled to retire on an invalid allowance, no payment shall be ired to secure half benefits to a wife or children existing at the time of retirement, and to children born of a wife after retirement.

" Third.—In the case of a subscriber marrying after retirement, he shall contribute for his wife and for his dren the issue of such marriage, at the rates levied from subscribers in the service on their allowances ; an option g allowed to each subscriber of paying up-once for all, either at the time of his marriage or at any subsequent iod, the value of his contributions according to tables of mortality which, upon the advice of an actuary, may adopted by the managers. This commutation will be calculated at 5 per cent. in the following manner: addi- al subscriptions on the joint lives of husband and wife, and extra contribution for children on the joint lives of er and child. Every retired subscriber so commuting will also be liable to pay or commute for each child rwards born, and, in case of subsequent marriage, for the wife so married. Provided that no subscriber so tributing, or commuting, shall obtain for his family a higher scale of benefits than that secured by him at retire- t under the first and second clauses of this Rule."

(4.) Article XXV.—For the words "Articles VII and VIII" substitute "Article VIII."

(5.) Article XXIX.—After the words "or £100 a year in England" add "and these allowances shall be increased by one-half if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall have died."

(6.) Article XXX.—For the word "twenty-first" substitute "sixteenth." After the words "£100 a year in England" add—

"And these allowances shall be increased by one-half if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall e died.

"Fr m the commencement of the 17th to the end of the 21st year the allowance shall be Rs. 90 a month in dia, or £150 a year in England, and this allowance shall be increased by Rs. 30 a month in India, or £50 a year in gland, if, or after, the wife or widow of such member shall have died."

(7.) After Article XXX insert a new article in the following terms :—

"On the death of a subscriber a donation shall be paid to his widow, or, if there be no widow, to his sur- ving child or children who by his death become entitled to receive allowances from the Fund, according to the owing scale :—

(1.) If the subscriber dies before retirement, £300 sterling, or the equivalent thereof at the rate of exchange of the day.

(2.) If the subscriber dies after retirement, £200 sterling, or the equivalent thereof at the rate of exchange of the day.

"It shall be in the discretion of the managers to pay this donation in anticipation of the receipt of the formal idence equired for the admission of the family to the benefits of the Fund."

(8.) Article XLI.—Omit the words "by which the tables of one-third minimum value shall also be termined."

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson moved that the above additions and amendments should have etrospective effect from 1st April 1878.

Mr. Verner alluded to a letter which had appeared from Mr. Cotton. It was resolved in 1873 hat these benefits were to take effect from that year. If that was the sense of the great majority f subscribers of those days, the meeting should certainly think twice before they set it aside. If e was right, it was specifically carried that whatever benefits should be given should have ffect from 1873, and if it was done in the way now proposed, some word of explanation eemed necessary.

Mr. Westland explained that the proposition then made to adopt the proposition of the nanagers was negatived. The valuation of the Funds took effect in 1878.

The motion was then agreed to.

Mr. Westland then moved the following resolution :—

"Should the Secretary succeed either permanently or temporarily to an office of which the salary exceeds Rs. 1,500, his appointment as Secretary shall become vacant, but the managers shall be competent, if the interests of the Fund, in their opinion, require it, to reappoint him for a period of six months, and, if necessary, to continue such appointment for a further like period. But in no case shall any one hold the Secretaryship if he is at the time an ex-officio manager"

The history of the resolution which he now moved was this :" Every Secretary to the Fund naturally got promoted, and there was considerable difference of opinion amongst the managers as to precise circumstances under which he ought to hold on in office or to resign. It was rather a dis- agreeable subject to be constantly considering. The matter had recently come up with reference to Mr. Macaulay (who had allowed him to use his name in connexion with the subject), and it was decided by the majority of the managers that there was no occasion for his resigning. under these circumstances he was perfectly right to continue in office, especially at a time services were more than usually valuable. But it was his (Mr. Westland's) own opinion, of one or two others, that it was an understood thing that the Secretary should at a cert give up his appointment, and it seemed to be his duty to follow what he thought to be the the service. He would probably be a manager of the Fund during the whole period of h and he did not like these personal questions constantly coming up. He wished therefore to by a reference to the service itself, whether there was such an understanding or rule that h other managers might be more clearly guided should such questions arise in future.

His first proposal was—"that ordinarily no person shall be qualified to hold t taryship who draws a salary (including pay and acting allowance) over Rs. 1,500, that if any person is obliged by this rule to give up the Secretaryship in conse an acting appointment which, in the opinion of the managers, is of a temporary n managers may permit him to retain a lien on the appointment (but without remuneratio as he does not leave Calcutta on furlough or special leave." But subsequently the senio and one or two of the others suggested an alteration in the terms of the proposal which he and as his chief object was to have the matter settled and not to enforce his own opinion on he had willingly deferred to their view.

Mr. Souttar seconded the motion.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson thought it was well that he should say a few words. He thou above all things necessary, in the interests of the service, that the managers should have a competent Secretary, and he did not care whether he was a senior or a junior man. He why, because a young man was thought well of by the Government, and placed in a posit what better than those of his standing, he should be disqualified from continuing to office of Secretary to the Fund; on the other hand, an older man was apt to take de and occasionally to join in the discussion of questions under consideration by the manager that point of view Mr. Jackson thought the Secretary should be a somewhat junior ma mistake the position he occupied.

The Hon'ble Mr. O'Kinealy said he would vote against the proposal, and his reason fo was this. If the limit was reduced to what was proposed it would for all practical purpo from the appointment all but three members of the service in Calcutta—two of whom were with the Bengal Office and one was the Joint-Magistrate of Alipore, and therefore he thou very unwise to fix the limit proposed. He remembered some time ago that he took the Se for three months, and he did, he thought, three months fair work for the money. If the pr carried, it would have the effect of debarring from the office any man drawing a sala Rs. 1,500. He thought there ought to be free trade in the Secretaryship of the Fund as thing else.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie, as an old Secretary of the Fund, should like to add his objection which had just been taken. It was essential, he thought, that the Secretary sho in office as long as possible, that he should get as much knowledge as possible in a way manager could, and the Fund ought to have the services of the best man for the little m for the very hard work of the office. He believed there was no rule at present on the su was Secretary for many years, and he was informed that there was a sort of understand man should hold the office of Secretary, the salary of which was then Rs. 500 a month, official emoluments were over Rs. 2,000. When he became Junior Secretary to the Go Bengal he continued to hold the Secretaryship of the Fund, because his emoluments wer Rs. 2,000 a month. When he acted as a Secretary to the Government for three mon allowed to retain his office in the Fund, but when he was practically put into the position to Government drawing more than Rs. 2,000 a month, according to the traditions of he resigned. He did think that the managers of the Fund should have the option of to retain the services of their Secretary so long as they thought fit.

The Hon'ble Mr. Field said that having regard to the disagreeable nature of t questions to which the managers referred, and to the supposed rule to which Mr. Macken he would as an amendment move that for "Rs. 1,500" be substituted "Rs. 2,000."

The Hon'ble Mr. Dampier suggested that the appointment should be held for a ter instead of putting indirect pressure to make the Secretary resign. He agreed with Mr. that the value of the Secretary's services increased every year. He moved that the Se appointed by the managers for a term of three years, subject to re-appointment for s term not exceeding three years as the managers may decide. The Secretary should not in hold the appointment if he is at the time an ex-officio manager. He made this proposal on t standing the present Secretary would be re-appointed.

The Hon'ble Mr. Prinsep said the objection he had to Mr. Dampier's amendment was would have the effect of putting the removal of the Secretary in the hands of the managers as he understood it, the managers could appoint, but only the service could remove the S He thought it was extremely desirable that the Secretary should be the representative of the and be able to represent his own views, rather than that he should be absolutely the servan managers, as he would be if the amendment now proposed was carried.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson said he must protest with all his might against the doctrin had been advocated by Mr. Prinsep. He had never before heard of the notion that the Se acting under the managers, should be the agent and representative of the service. He w officer of the managers surely.

The Hon'ble Mr. Jackson also said, before the discussion proceeded further, he wished as a m to express his most unqualified satisfaction with Mr. Macaulay as Secretary to the Fund.

...stion, nothing would give Mr. Jackson greater satisfaction than to see Mr. Macaulay ...ace. He did not think they could have a better qualified, more earnest, or more indus...ary.

...estland said he wished it to be understood for his own part that his motion was not ...inst Mr. Macaulay.

...n'ble Mr. Buckland said he thought the best way of dealing with the question would be ... the consideration of it. There were circumstances known to the managers which were ...o all. Some months ago this question was before the managers, and the majority then ...hat it should not be brought forward. But very recently Mr. Westland and other ...rried the resolution before the meeting; therefore it was a sort of surprise that the ...uld be brought forward now, and therefore Mr. Buckland proposed that the considera... ...atter be deferred.

...estland said he brought this motion forward because he found himself in what he ... agreeable position, and he wanted to take the opinion of the service. The managers had ...ility for his bringing the question before the half-yearly meeting; he did so, not as a ...t as a member of the service.

...n'ble Mr. Jackson said, as Senior Manager, he must explain how this matter stood. He ...hat Mr. Westland gave notice long ago of his intention to raise this question. It came ...ting when Mr. Jackson was absent. The papers afterwards came before him, and ...d upon to express his opinion, and then it turned out that the majority adopted the view ... as a compromise, and accordingly the original motion of which Mr. Westland gave ...clared to be subject to the modification that was found in the resolution before ...

...n'ble Mr. McDonell said there were certain number of gentlemen who had appointments ...vernment of India, who went up to Simla in April and only came down in November. ...thers who held appointments which kept them throughout the year in Calcutta. The ...at in summer there was a different set of managers. The majority of the nine ...v in office were in favor of Mr. Westland's proposal.

...n'ble Mr. Buckland's amendment to postpone the consideration of the question was ...e and negatived.

...n'ble Mr. Dampier's amendment that the Secretary should be appointed for three ... to re-appointment for such further definite period (not exceeding three years) as the ...ht think fit, was then put to the vote and declared by the Chairman to be carried.

...ing then dissolved with a vote of thanks to the Chair.

S. H. C. TAYLER,
Chairman.

10. The said Grantees may (for the purpose of constructing and maintaining any Tramways under this agreement), under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, open and break up the soil and pavement of the several public or other streets (as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1876), and bridges in the city of Calcutta, and therein lay sleepers and rails, and from time to time repair, alter, or remove the same, and may, for the purposes aforesaid, remove and use all earth and materials in such streets and bridges, and do in and on such streets and bridges all other acts which they shall from time to time deem necessary for constructing and maintaining such Tramways subject to the following conditions:—

1*st*.—They shall give to the said Corporation notice in writing of their intention to open or break up any such street or bridge, specifying the time at which they will begin to do so, and the portion of the road proposed to be opened or broken up; such notice to be given at least three days before the commencement of the work.

2*nd*.—They shall not open or break up or alter the level of any such street or bridge except under the superintendence and to the reasonable satisfaction of the Corporation, for which superintendence the Grantees or their assigns shall pay all reasonable expenses unless the Corporation neglect to give such superintendence at the time specified in the notice, or discontinue the same during the work.

3rd.—They shall not, without the consent of the said Corporation, open or break up at any one time a greater length than a quarter of a mile on any one line of Tramway.

4th.—They shall, with all convenient speed and in all cases within six weeks at the most, unless the said Corporation otherwise consent in writing, complete the work for which the said street or bridge shall be broken up and fill in the ground, and make good the surface, and, to the satisfaction of the said Corporation, restore the street or bridge to as good condition as that in which it was before it was opened or broken up, and clear away all surplus materials or rubbish occasioned thereby.

5th.—They shall make good all damage done to the gas and water-pipes and sewers whether belonging to the Corporation or to private individuals by the disturbance thereof.

12. In exercising the powers given to them by Clauses 10 or 11, the said Grantees shall arrange their work so as to afford the least possible obstruction to the ordinary traffic of the streets, and so as also to admit of as free and unrestricted entry at all times into the sewers through the man-holes and lamp-holes for the time being in use, as is possible under the circumstances, and also so as to enable proper repairs to be made to water or gas-pipes by the direction of the Corporation.

13. If the said Grantees shall commit any breach of Clauses 10 or 11 or 12, it shall be lawful for the said Corporation in their discretion where such breach shall be in the execution of any work or repairs at any time after seven days' notice to the said Grantees themselves to do and execute such work or repairs, and the expense incurred by the said Corporation in so doing, including the cost of superintendence, shall be repaid to them by the said Grantees, together with interest at the rate of eight per cent. per annum, and the certificate of the Engineer of the said Corporation as to such cost shall be conclusive.

14. If any person or persons sustain any loss or damage by reason of any defect or want of repairs in any of the plant, rolling-stock or other properties of the said Grantees or by reason of any carelessness, neglect, or misconduct of their agents or servants in the management, construction or use of the said tramways or any portion thereof, or in the exercise of the powers given by Clauses 10 or 11, the same shall be made good by the said Grantees, and in the event of any suit being instituted against the said Corporation in respect of any of the matters hereinbefore mentioned, the said Grantees shall, within fourteen days from receipt of a notice thereof from the said Corporation, settle the same; but if the said Grantees choose to defend such suit, they shall be at liberty to do so upon their undertaking to indemnify the said Corporation against all losses, damages, and expenses in respect thereof: Provided always that if the said Grantees fail to settle such suit or to indemnify the said Corporation, as is hereinbefore provided, it shall be lawful for the said Corporation to settle the same without any consent or concurrence on the part of the said Grantees, and the sum which they shall have to pay in making such settlement together with interest thereon at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum from the date of payment, and with all expenses, which they may be put to, shall be recoverable as a debt from the said Grantees.

15. If at any time after the opening of any tramway for traffic the said Grantees shall discontinue the working of such tramway or any part thereof for the space of six calendar months (such discontinuance not being occasioned by circumstances beyond the control of the Grantees), it shall be lawful for the Corporation, without any previous notice to the said Grantees, to remove the tramway or part thereof so discontinued, and the said Grantees shall pay to the Corporation the cost of such removal and of the making good of such street or bridge through which the said tramway shall have been made, and the certificate of the Engineer of the said Corporation as to such cost shall be conclusive.

16. The said Grantees will, if required by the said Corporation before opening and breaking up the soil and pavement of any street or bridge under clause 10 of these presents, deposit in an approved Bank in Calcutta in the name of the said Corporation the sum of Rs. 5,000, or, in their option, promissory notes of the Government of India or Municipal Bonds of the nominal value of Rs. 5,000, and the same will remain so deposited until the completion by the said Grantees of the lines of tramway herein sanctioned for immediate construction. But all interest accruing on the said sum, or the said notes, shall be credited to the said Grantees and subject, as next hereinafter mentioned, be paid to them as the same shall accrue due: Provided nevertheless that the said Corporation shall be entitled to deduct out of the sum so deposited or the interest accruing on the said sum or notes or out of the proceeds of sale of the said notes all monies to which they may be entitled under any clause or clauses of these presents.

17. In consideration of the concession hereby granted, the said Grantees will pay to the said Corporation rent at the several rates hereinafter specified, viz. from the beginning of the first to the end of the ninth year, at the rate of Rs. 8,000 per annum per mile of double line and Rs. 2,000 per annum per mile of single line; from the beginning of the 10th to the end of the 18th year,

PART IV.

Bill of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill for amending the Calcutta Port Improvement Act, 1870, is, by order of the President, published for general information, together with the Committee's further Report and the Bill as re-amended by them :—

We, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to whom the Bill for amending the Calcutta Port Improvement Act, 1870, was referred, have the honor to make the following report :—

In the preamble we have omitted the word "only" in the thirteenth line, and for "accumulated funds amounting to five lakhs of rupees" have substituted "purchased Government securities of the par value of five and a half lakhs of rupees."

We have stated the sum which the Commissioners are authorized to borrow as Rs. 53,40,349-3-0, the correct amount after repayment made on 31st December 1879.

We have altered the title of the Bill to that of "the Calcutta Port Improvement Act Amendment Act."

In section 5, now section 6, we have provided that the Government loan shall be repaid in equal half-yearly instalments within 30 years, empowering the Commissioners, with the sanction of Government, to postpone the period of payment of any instalment and at their discretion to prepay any instalment before its due date.

We have omitted the last sentence of section 8, as the equal half-yearly instalments are not to be affected in amount by any anticipatory repayments.

In section 11 we have provided that the sinking fund shall be accumulated by half-yearly instalments and invested in the names of two trustees in Government securities or debentures of the Commissioners, and in section 10 we have exempted it from liability for the debts of the Commissioners.

Section 12 we have slightly altered so as to make it consistent with section 10.

We have substituted section 18 of Bengal Act IX of 1871 (The Hooghly Bridge Act) for section 14.

Section 17 we have divided into two sections, providing separately the procedure for the recovery of the loan and of the interest.

In section 19, now section 20, we have empowered the Lieutenant-Governor to make bye-laws on the recommendation of the Commissioners, and provided for their publication in the Calcutta Gazette.

Among the purposes for which bye-laws may be made we have omitted (e), considering it doubtful whether the clause sufficiently empowered the Commissioners to provide and regulate the supply of water to the shipping.

In consequence of the Lieutenant-Governor being empowered to make bye-laws, we have repealed sections 83 and 84 of Bengal Act V of 1870.

We have omitted section 20, as the Commissioners' tramways are not required for passenger traffic at present.

In the schedule we have appended a more accurate form of debenture, and provided in section 16 that the Commissioners and the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time alter it.

We have made a few verbal alterations, and recommend that the Bill be passed as amended by us.

Security for loans.

10. In such case it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to raise a loan or loans on the security of all, or, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, of any portion of the property, vested in or acquired by them under this Act, other than the said reserve fund, or the sinking fund provided for by section 11 of this Act, or on the security of the total aggregate amount of the proceeds of all or any of the tolls, duties, rates and charges leviable under this Act.

Loans to be contracted in India.

11. Unless the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council shall by an order published in the Calcutta Gazette otherwise direct, such loans shall be contracted in India and in the Indian currency, and the Commissioners shall accumulate by half-yearly instalments in the case of each of such loans a sinking fund of such an amount as will suffice to liquidate such loan within a period not exceeding thirty years from the date of the contracting of the same.

Such sinking fund shall be invested in the names of two trustees, one to be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and one by the Commissioners, in the promissory notes, debentures, stock and other securities of the Government of India, or in the debentures issued by the Commissioners under this Act.

Loans to be a first charge on property.

12. Such loans and the interest thereon shall be a first charge on the property or on the tolls, duties, rates, and charges on the security of which such loans shall have been raised as provided by section 10 of this Act.

After such attachment, no person except an officer appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal shall in any way deal with the attached toll, duty, rate, fund or property; but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which the borrower might have done if such attachment had not taken place, and shall apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the loan, and of all charges due in respect thereof, and of all expenses involved by the attachment and subsequent proceedings.

How attachment is to be made.

Whenever the Lieutenant-Governor has ordered that a valuation or a re-valuation of any district or part of a district shall be made for the purposes of this Act, the Collector shall cause a proclamation to be issued requiring every holder of any estate or tenure which is liable to pay an annual amount of Government revenue or an annual amount of rent exceeding one hundred rupees, and every holder of any revenue-free estate or rent-free tenure the gross rental of which exceeds one hundred rupees, severally to lodge at the Collector's office within one month a return of all lands comprised in his estate or tenure in the form in the said Schedule (A) contained giving the particulars in such form set forth.

Publication of proclamation.

The Collector shall cause such proclamation to be published by affixing a copy thereof in some conspicuous place in the office of such Collector, in every civil court, in every police station, and in the office of every sub-divisional officer within the district, and in any other manner which the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct.

Re-valuation may be of particular estates or tenures only.

15. At any time at which the Lieutenant-Governor might order a re-valuation of a district, or part of a district, to be made as provided by section 13, he may, if he think fit, instead of so ordering, make an order that particular estates or tenures only in such district or part of a district shall be re-valued.

Notice to return lands

Proclamation of such re-valuation.

16. After the publication of any proclamation as mentioned in section 14 and whenever the Lieutenant-Governor has made an order, under the last preceding section, that a re-valuation of particular estates and tenures only shall be made, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served in respect of every estate and tenure which is to be valued or re-valued, and in respect of which no return shall have been lodged in accordance with the requirement of such proclamation, requiring every holder of such estate or tenure severally to lodge at the Collector's office the return mentioned in section 14; and shall also cause a similar notice to be served in respect of every tenure included in any such estate or tenure which may have been named in any return lodged in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, or of Bengal Act X of 1871, either for the purposes of the valuation or re-valuation then contemplated, or for the purposes of any previous valuation or re-valuation, or of which the existence may in any other way have come to his knowledge.

Notice what to require.

17. The notice mentioned in the section last preceding shall be in the form contained in Schedule BI or in Schedule BII as the case may be, and shall require every holder respectively to lodge the return within the time specified below, viz.—

In the case of revenue-paying estates and rent-paying tenures.

If the return relates to the whole of an estate or tenure which is liable to the payment of annual revenue, or of rent not exceeding Rs. 500, or to any share or interest in such estate or tenure;	Within six weeks of the service of the notice.
If the return relates to any other estate or tenure, or to any share or interest therein;	Within three months of the service of the notice.

In the case of revenue-free estates and rent-free tenures.

If the return relates to any estate or tenure of which the gross annual rental does not exceed Rs 500, or to any share or interest in such estate or tenure;	Within six weeks of the service of the notice.
If the return relates to any other estate or tenure, or to any share or interest therein;	Within three months of the service of the notice.

The Collector may in his discretion extend the time allowed for lodging any such return.

Penalty for omitting to make return

18. All holders of such estates or tenures who shall, without sufficient cause being shown to the satisfaction of the Collector, refuse or omit to lodge such return in the office of such Collector within the time allowed by such notice in respect of the estate or tenure which they hold, or within any extended time which may have been allowed by the Collector for lodging such return, shall be severally liable to a fine which may extend to fifty rupees for every day after the expiration of such time or extended time until such return shall be furnished, or until the value of the lands comprised in their respective estates and tenures shall have been otherwise ascertained and determined by the Collector as hereinafter provided.

The amount of such fine accruing due from time to time may be levied by the Collector as provided in section 74, and the fact of an appeal against such fine being pending shall not avail to prevent the levy of any such fine pending the disposal of the appeal, unless the Commissioner shall otherwise direct.

Whenever the amount levied in respect of any such fine shall have exceeded five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner; and no further levy for such default shall be made otherwise than by authority of the Commissioner.

No rent to be recovered till return is made.

19. From and after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice, or of any extended time under the provisions of section 17, every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which such notice shall have been served shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent (a) for any land or tenure which shall be proved not to have been included in the return lodged by him, and (b) for any land or tenure situate in any estate or tenure in respect of which no return has been lodged as aforesaid;

shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent for any tenure or holding created subsequent to the lodging of any such return without proof of the creation of such tenure or holding;

and in respect of any land or tenure included in any such return shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent at any higher rate than is mentioned in such return, without proof that such rent has been lawfully enhanced since such return was lodged.

The Collector may send a list to the Civil Court of all such holders so making default in lodging returns as aforesaid, and such Court shall take judicial notice of the same;

Provided that the Collector may at his discretion, at any time within six months from the presentation of any return made under this part, receive a petition correcting any such return;

and on the acceptance of such petition, and on payment of the amount of cess due from the date when the corrected valuation came into force, rent at the rate shown in the corrected return may be recovered. Such notices as the Collector may direct shall be served upon the parties affected by such petition at the expense of the person lodging the return as aforesaid.

Whenever the required return is lodged in respect of any estate or tenure, or whenever the valuation of any such estate or tenure has been otherwise completed, the disability imposed on the holder thereof by this section shall cease; and if such estate or tenure shall have been included in any list as aforesaid, the Collector shall forthwith give notice to the Civil Court of the cessation of such disability.

If returns not furnished, Collector to make valuation.

20. If no such return shall have been lodged in respect of any lands for which notice under section 16 has been issued, the Collector may, after the expiration of the time allowed by the notice or of such extended time as is mentioned in section 17, ascertain and fix by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient the annual value of any estate, tenure, or lands mentioned in such notice, and all expenses incurred in making such valuation may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 71 and 72.

In case of false returns, Collector may make valuation.

20A. Whenever the maker of any return under this Act shall have been convicted under section 66 of making a false return relating to any lands, the Collector may by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such lands; and the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the maker of such return as provided in sections 71 and 72.

In certain cases of incorrect returns, Collector to make valuation.

21. Whenever the Collector may deem that any return lodged relating to lands for which no rent is payable by cultivating ryots to the person making such return is untrue or incorrect, he may, whether any prosecution as mentioned in section 66 shall have been instituted or not, by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such lands; and in case the annual value of such lands so determined by him shall exceed by one-fifth the value stated in such return, the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the person by whom such return was lodged, as is provided in sections 71 and 72, and in all other cases the said expense shall be borne by the district road fund established under this Act as hereinafter provided.

Person returned as cultivating ryot may be served with notice.

22. The Collector may, whenever he may think fit, cause a notice in the form in the said Schedule (BI) contained to be served on any person holding any lands or possessing any interest therein, although such person may have been mentioned in any return as a cultivating ryot; and thereupon such person shall be bound to make a return within one month from the service of such notice in the form in the said Schedule (A) contained, and the provisions in sections 17 and 18 regarding extension of time for lodging a return and regarding fines shall be applicable to such person; any holder of land on whom such notice may have been served in respect of any lands shall, if the Collector so order, be deemed to be a tenure-holder, for the purposes of assessment and levy of the cesses in respect to such lands.

If no return made, Collector may ascertain annual value of lands.

23. If no return is made by any person on whom a notice has been served as provided in the last preceding section, the Collector may proceed by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient to ascertain the total rent paid to such person on account of the lands held by him, and the total rent so ascertained shall be deemed to be the annual value on which such person is required to pay the road cess and the public works cess; and in case it appears that such total rent is greater than the rent paid by such person, the expense of such valuation shall be borne by such person, and may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 71 and 72, but in all other cases shall be defrayed from the said district road fund.

Valuation of small estates and tenures.

24. Whenever the revenue annually payable in respect of any estate, or the rent annually payable in respect of any tenure, does not exceed the sum of one hundred rupees, the Collector may, without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure—

(a) in any case, determine the annual value of the land comprised therein to be, in a permanently-settled estate or tenure, a sum not exceeding three times, and in a temporarily-settled estate or tenure, a sum not exceeding twice, the amount of the annual revenue or rent payable therefor;

or (b) when the area of the said estate or tenure has been ascertained, determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him shall seem fit.

Valuation of small revenue-free estates and rent-free tenures of which the area has been ascertained.

25. When the area of any revenue-free estate or rent-free tenure, the gross rental of which does not exceed, or is not estimated by the Collector to exceed, the sum of one hundred rupees has been ascertained, the Collector may, without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure, determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him may seem fit.

Computation of annual value of land comprised in a subordinate tenure.

26. When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued by the Collector in the manner provided by clause (a) of section 24, the annual value of any portion of such land which is comprised within a tenure subordinate to such estate or tenure shall be determined according to the following rules :—

Rule I.—When the subordinate tenure comprises the whole of the estate or superior tenure, the annual value of the subordinate tenure shall be taken to be the same as that of the estate or superior tenure.

Rule II.—When the subordinate tenure comprises a part only of the land constituting the estate or superior tenure—

(a) First, ascertain the difference between the annual value of the estate or superior tenure, and the revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or superior tenure ;

(b) Next, ascertain the ratio which such difference bears to such revenue or rent ;

(c) Then ascertain the amount which bears the same ratio to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure ;

(d) Add half of the amount so ascertained to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure ;

the result shall be taken to be the annual value of the subordinate tenure.

Examples—

A.—An estate paying a revenue of Rs. 80 is summarily valued by the Collector, under clause (a) of section 24, at Rs. 200. The whole estate is let in patni for a rent of Rs. 120. The annual value of the patni tenure will be Rs. 200.

B.—An estate paying a revenue of Rs. 120 is summarily valued by the Collector, under clause (a), section 24, at Rs. 200. A part only of the estate is let in patni for a rent of Rs. 75.

The difference between the annual value of the estate (Rs. 200) and the revenue paid in respect of it (Rs. 120) is Rs. 80. This difference bears a ratio of two-thirds to the revenue (Rs. 120).

The amount which bears the same ratio (two-thirds) to the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs. 75) is Rs. 50 ;

add half of Rs. 50 to the rent payable in respect of the patni tenure, and the result (Rs. 75 +25=) Rs. 100 will be the annual value of the patni tenure.

C.—Within the patni tenure paying a rent of Rs. 75, as in example B, is a darpatni tenure paying a rent of Rs. 54.

The difference between the annual value of the patni ascertained as above (Rs. 100) and the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs. 75) is Rs. 25, which bears a ratio of one-third to the said rent.

The amount which bears the same ratio (one-third) to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni (Rs. 54) is Rs. 18 ;

add half of Rs. 18 to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni, and the result (Rs. 54 +9=) Rs. 63 will be the annual value of the darpatni tenure.

Land valued according to rate per acre.

27. When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued according to a rate per acre, under clause (b) of section 24, or under section 25, the annual value of the land comprised in any subordinate tenure shall be taken at the same rate per acre as that of the estate or superior tenure.

Holder of estate or tenure may lodge return.

28. The holder of any estate, tenure, or subordinate tenure which has been summarily valued under sections 24 or 25 may within one month from the posting of the valuation roll in respect thereof under section 32, lodge a return in the form in the said Schedule (A) contained in regard to such estate, tenure, or subordinate tenure, and thereupon such return shall be deemed to be a return made as required by section 16 and shall be dealt with accordingly.

Or Collector may serve notice.

29. Instead of proceeding to value any estate or tenure summarily under the provisions of sections 24 or 25, the Collector may, if he think fit, cause a notice to be served in respect of any such estate or tenure in the form contained in the said Schedule BI or Schedule BII, as the case may be, and thereupon all the provisions of this part shall apply in the same way as they would have applied if the annual Government revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or tenure had exceeded one hundred rupees.

Lands used for Tea, Coffee, or Cinchona.

Return of plantations, &c.

30. In the case of lands acquired under any rules issued by, or under the authority of, the Government for the sale, lease grant, or clearance of waste lands, or held directly from Government, and used for the cultivation of tea, coffee, or cinchona, the Collector shall, in lieu of the notice prescribed by section 16, cause a notice to be served calling on the holder of such lands to lodge within two months of the service of such notice, a return in the form in Schedule (C) contained giving the particulars in such form set forth ; and the annual value of such lands shall be fixed at ten rupees in respect of every acre therein entered as cultivated, unless the Board of Revenue shall in any particular case prescribe a lower rate. The provisions of sections 18 and 20 shall apply to all lands in respect of which a notice has been issued under this section.

Publication of Valuation Rolls and Duration of Valuations.

Valuation rolls to be prepared.

31. Whenever any valuation or re-valuation is made under this part, the Collector shall cause to be prepared from the returns furnished to him and from the valuations made by him in accordance with this Act a valuation roll of each estate within his district and of the tenures therein comprised, noting thereon for each estate the amount of revenue annually payable to Government on which the deduction specified in section 38 is to be calculated.

On the application of any holder of an estate or tenure or holding within his district, and on payment of such fee as the Board of Revenue shall from time to time determine, the Collector shall cause to be furnished to such holder a copy or corrected copy of so much of any such returns, and of any such roll as relates to the lands included within his estate, tenure, or holding.

Publication of rolls.

32. On the completion of every roll prescribed under this Part the Collector shall cause a copy thereof to be posted up at the mâl cutcherry of the estate to which such roll refers, and shall cause extracts of such portions of any such roll as refer to any tenure to be posted up at the mâl cutcherry of such tenure; provided that, if no such mâl cutcherry be found, such roll and such extracts shall be posted up at some conspicuous places on the estate and tenures respectively to which they refer.

The person who is entrusted with the publication of any such return shall obtain an acknowledgment in writing signed by two persons who may be either respectable residents of the neighbourhood, or chowkidars, or other officers of Government, to the effect that such return was duly published on the spot, and shall give in such acknowledgment to the Collector.

Valuation to be in force for five years.

33. Except as otherwise in this Part expressly provided, every valuation and every re-valuation made under this chapter shall remain in force for the term of five years from the date fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 11 as the date from which the cess leviable in pursuance thereof shall take effect, and thereafter, until another re-valuation and assessment in substitution therefor shall have been ordered and completed.

Collector may reduce amount of cess.

34. Nothing in section 33 contained shall be held to debar the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, from making at any time any reduction which he may think fit in the amount of cess for which any estate or tenure may be liable; or from making a valuation of and assessing and levying cess upon any estate or tenure which for any reason whatever has been omitted from the valuations and assessments for the time being in force, or which was not in existence when such valuation or assessment was made.

CHAPTER II.—Rating and Levy of the Cesses.

Rate at which road cess shall be levied

35. The road cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6, and, subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned, at such rate as may be determined for such year by the committee of such district with the approval of the Commissioner under sections 118 or 119, or with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor under section 120: as the case may be, or at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may order under section 121.

Rate at which public works cess shall be levied.

36. The public works cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6, and, subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned, at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may determine for such year.

Notice showing amount of cess payable to be served on zemindars.

37. When the rate of road cess and public works cess to be levied in any district shall have been determined for any year and published in the Calcutta Gazette as provided in section 123, the Collector shall cause the rate so determined to be published by affixing a notification in some conspicuous place in the office of the said Collector, in every civil court, in every police station, and in the office of every sub-divisional officer within the district;

and shall cause such rate to be proclaimed by beat of drum throughout the district, and shall cause to be served on the holder of every estate and of every tenure within the district paying rent directly to the Collector a notice showing the amount of road cess and public works cess payable in respect of his estate or tenure and specifying the date from which such road cess and public works cess will take effect;

Provided that it shall not be necessary to serve such notice when no change has been made in the valuation of the estate or tenure or in the rate of road cess or public works cess since the issue of the last notice under this section.

Mode of payment of road cess and public works cess by holder of estate.

38. (1)—Except as otherwise in section 46 provided in respect of lands held free of rent, every holder of an estate shall yearly pay to the Collector of the district the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the lands comprised in such estate, at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided, less a deduction to be calculated at one-half of the said rates for every rupee of the revenue entered in the valuation roll of such estate as payable in respect thereof.

By holder of tenure.

(2)—Every holder of a tenure shall yearly pay to the holder of the estate or tenure within which the land held by him is included, the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the land comprised in his tenure at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided, less a deduction to be calculated at one-half of the said rate or rates for every rupee of the rent paid by him for such tenure.

By cultivating ryot.

(3)—Every cultivating ryot shall pay to the person to whom his rent is payable one-half of the said road cess and public works cess calculated at the said rate or rates respectively upon the rent payable by him, or upon the annual value ascertained under the provisions of sections 22 or 23 of the land held by him

39. (1)—Every holder of an estate shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in equal instalments on the several days fixed for the payment of the instalments of the Government revenue due in respect of his estate if revenue be payable thereon;

and if no revenue be payable thereon, then in two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by any order of the Lieutenant-Governor

(2)—Every holder of a rent-paying tenure and every cultivating ryot shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in instalments in the proportion of the instalments of rent payable in respect of the tenure or holding of such tenure-holder or ryot.

Distribution of valuation in case of partition.

40. In case of partition of an estate being effected under Regulation XIX of 1814, or Bengal Act VIII of 1876, or any similar Act after valuation of such estate and while such valuation remains in force, the total valuation of the original estate shall be distributed proportionately under the order of the Collector over the newly-formed estates, whereupon the newly-formed estates shall, for the purposes of this Act, take the place of the original estate, the liability to pay cess in respect of each newly-formed estate being separate and distinct from the liability to pay cess in respect of any other of such newly-formed estates.

Such separate liability shall take effect from the same date as the separate liability of the newly-formed estates respectively in respect of land revenue.

Procedure to be followed when there is a partition.

The procedure prescribed by sections 31 and 32 shall be followed whenever a re-distribution of the valuation is made in consequence of a partition as mentioned in the last preceding section.

Effect of opening separate account under Act XI of 1859, or Act VII of 1870.

41. When a recorded sharer of a joint revenue-paying estate has opened a separate account under Act XI of 1859, or under section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, or any similar Act for the time being in force for the payment of revenue, he shall be entitled, in regard to the payment and realization of road cess and public works cess under this Act, to all the advantage of separate liability enjoyed by him under the said Act XI of 1859, and Bengal Act VII of 1876 in regard to the payment and realization of revenue, and shall be entitled to separate assessment and to the issue of separate notices under this Act from the date on which such advantages shall take effect in respect of the demand of Government revenue.

Penalty for default of payment of instalments.

42. If any instalment of road cess or public works cess or part thereof payable to the Collector shall not be paid within fifteen days from the date on which the same becomes due, the amount of such instalment may be recovered with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum calculated from the date on which such instalment became due, and with all costs of recovering the same.

With permission of the Lieutenant-Governor Collector may keep separate account of cesses payable by registered holders of revenue free estates.

42A. (1)—In any district to which the Lieutenant-Governor may specially order that the provisions of this section shall be extended, it shall be lawful for the Collector to keep a separate account in respect of the amount of cesses payable and paid by any holder of a revenue-free estate who is recorded in Part I of the Collector's general register of revenue-free lands as proprietor or manager of any specified share or interest in any revenue-free property.

(2)—Such separate account shall be opened and kept under such rules and subject to such conditions and in such manner as the Board of Revenue may from time to time prescribe, and the Board of Revenue may at any time order that any separate account which has been so opened shall be closed from such time as they may direct, and no longer kept as a separate account.

(3)—As long as any separate account shall remain open as provided in the preceding section, and no longer, the joint liability of the holders of such revenue-free estate for payment of the entire amount payable in respect of such estate shall cease; and the Collector shall recover the amount of cess due in respect of each share or interest for which an account has been so separately kept, from the holder of such share or interest only; and, if the Collector shall think fit to proceed under section 72 he shall take action under that section against such share or interest only, and the rents thereof.

Recovery by holders of estates or tenures.

43. Every holder of an estate or tenure to whom any sum may be payable under the provisions of this Act may recover the same with interest at the rate of twelve per cent. per annum in the same manner and under the same penalties as if the same were arrears of rent due to him.

And any shareholder in an estate or tenure who may have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate or tenure, or any part thereof in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate or tenure, may recover from his co-sharers such sums as he may have paid on account of their respective shares and interests, in the same manner and under similar penalties, or may take credit for such sums in any adjustment of accounts between himself and his co-sharers.

Recovery by shareholders.

44. Whenever any shareholder in an estate who is recorded in the general register of revenue-paying and revenue-free lands maintained by the Collector, or any shareholder of a tenure, the extent of whose share or interest in the tenure is recorded in any register of tenures paying revenue or rent to the Collector direct, which may be kept up by the Collector, shall have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate or tenure, or any part thereof, in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate or tenure, he may, immediately on such payment being made, move the Collector to make a certificate as provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of public demands, specifying the amount which has been paid in by such shareholder as cess in respect of the recorded share or interest of any other shareholder in the estate or tenure; and thereupon such Collector shall make such certificate, and such certificate shall have such and the same effect as a certificate made for the recovery of public demand; and the same notices shall be issued and the same proceedings may be taken thereon by the Collector as in case of such certificate;

Provided, however, that the person in whose favor the certificate has been made shall be deemed to be the decree-holder for the sum mentioned in the certificate; and all proceedings taken by the Collector for the recovery of the sums mentioned in the certificate shall be taken at the instance of the person in whose favour the certificate has been made, and at his cost and on his responsibility, and not otherwise.

CHAPTER III.—Valuation and assessment of lands held rent-free and payment and recovery of Cess in respect thereof.

Payment for certain lands for which no rent is paid.

45. All lands held without payment of rent other than lands mentioned in section 30, and other than estates entered on the general register of revenue-free lands of the district, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they are contained; and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any tenure, then to be a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are contained; and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any estate, then to be a part of the estate in which they were included at the original settlement of the estate; and if there be any doubt on that point, then to be a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector, in whose district such conterminous estate is situate, shall by an order under his seal appoint.

Holders of estates, &c., to pay cess on rent-free lands at half rates.

46. Every holder of an estate or tenure who is required by this Act to submit a return in the form in the said Schedule (A) contained shall be bound to enter in such return all lands held without payment of rent which are deemed to form part of his estate or tenure as provided by the last preceding section; and shall be bound to pay to the Collector the road cess and public works cess on the annual value of such lands, but at no higher rates than one-half of the rates which may have been fixed under this Act for the levy of such cesses respectively in the district generally for the year.

Notice and extracts of valuation-roll to be published by Collector

46A. Whenever any land held rent-free shall have been included in the return of any estate or tenure as provided in the last preceding section, the Collector shall, on publication of the valuation-roll of such estate or tenure as provided in section 32, cause to be published a notice in the form in Schedule (D) contained, to which shall be annexed such extracts from the valuation-roll of such estate or tenure as relate to such land.

Such publication may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of such notice and extracts at some conspicuous place in the village within which such land is situated, by depositing another copy of the same at any police-station, registration office, or other Government office in the neighbourhood for the inspection of all concerned, and by proclamation as herein next provided.

The proclamation shall be made by beat of drum throughout such village, and shall be to the effect that such extracts have been so affixed and deposited, and that the owner or holder of such land is required to inform himself, by inspection of such extracts, of the valuation put upon his land, and to pay yearly to the holder of the estate or tenure within which such land is included, the cesses which may become due on such valuation as provided in section 46D, unless such valuation shall have been reduced by the Collector on objection preferred as in section 46B provided.

Holder of rent-free land may object.

46B. Within a reasonable time not exceeding thirty days after the issue of any process for the recovery of any sum due from him as cess under this chapter, the owner, holder, or occupier of any such land may make before the Collector an objection to the valuation of his land as entered in the valuation-roll so published, and on such objection being made, the Collector shall, by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient, ascertain and fix the annual value of the land so entered on the return, and may alter such roll accordingly, and shall give notice of any such alteration to the holder of the estate or tenure to which such roll relates:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be taken to authorise the Collector to alter any return so as to show any area of land as held rent-free which the maker of such return can show to be accounted for by him in the return as rent-paying land.

Notice of amount of assessment and of change of rate, &c. to be published by holder of estate.

46C. Whenever a new valuation or re-valuation shall take effect in any district or part of a district;

whenever the rate fixed for the levy of the road cess or of the public works cess in any year is changed from the rate at which such cess was levied in the preceding year;

and whenever the dates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 46E for payment of instalments of the cesses by holders of rent-free land shall be changed, the holder of every estate or tenure to whom any cesses are payable in respect of lands held free of rent shall cause a notice to be published in every village in which any such lands are situate, informing all concerned of the rate which has been fixed for the levy of such cesses respectively; and requiring every holder and owner of any such land of which the cesses are payable to the person who causes the notice to be published to pay the amount of the cesses specified in such notice as it falls due, until a similar notice of change of the amount shall be given.

Such notice shall contain the following information in respect of each holding of rent-free land which is entered separately in the Collector's valuation-roll:—

(1) a specification of the land in respect of which the cesses are payable;
(2) the name of the owner, holder, or occupier of such lands, if known;
(3) the annual value of such land as entered in the Collector's valuation-roll;
(4) the rate on each rupee of the value which has been fixed under the Act for the levy of the road cess and public works cess respectively for the year;
(5) the amount of the cesses payable in respect of each holding, calculated at such rates;
(6) the dates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 46E for the payment of each instalment and the amount of each instalment.

Publication of the notice abovementioned may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of the same at some conspicuous place in the village in which such land is situate;

by depositing another copy thereof to be available for general inspection at any mál cutcherry of the estate or tenure in which such land is included,

or at any other convenient place in the neighbourhood ;

and by proclamation as herein next provided.

Committee to determine rate of road cess.

117. The total amount proposed to be expended in any one cess year in and by any estimate prepared as required by section 115 shall not exceed the proceeds estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for that year from the road cess, if levied within the district at the maximum rate at which such cess is leviable as mentioned in section 6, together with any sum, and the annual proceeds of any source of revenue which shall have been placed by the Lieutenant-Governor at the disposal of the Committee, or which may be otherwise at their disposal, and with the estimated unexpended balance of the District Road Fund of the previous year as above mentioned.

Commissioner may under certain circumstances alter estimate.

Provided that the Commissioner shall not make, and shall not require the Committee to make, otherwise than with their own consent, any such alterations as shall have the effect of raising the total of such estimate above the total of the sum estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for expenditure during the year in question, the cess being levied at the rate which may have been determined for such year by the Committee under section 116.

On receipt of such instructions the Committee shall proceed to make such alterations, and shall resubmit the estimate to the Commissioner, who shall thereupon approve of the estimate and of the rate determined by the Committee.

120. On receipt of such estimate so resubmitted the Commissioner may either sanction the estimate and rate as determined by the Committee or may submit such estimate, together with the reasons recorded by the Committee for adhering to the same, to the Lieutenant-Governor.

When estimate is submitted by Commissioner, Lieutenant-Governor may pass orders thereon.

Provided that the Lieutenant-Governor shall not make any such alterations, or require the Road Committee to make any such alterations, as shall have the effect of raising the total of such estimate above the total of the sum estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for expenditure during the year in question, the cess being levied at the rate which may have been determined for such year by the Committee under section 116, unless such rate shall in his opinion be insufficient to provide for the proper maintenance of such works as are contained in the statement prepared under section 110 or 112.

If it shall appear to the Lieutenant-Governor that the proceeds of the cess at the rate so determined will not suffice for such purpose, the Lieutenant-Governor may order that the cess shall be levied for the year in question at such rate as he may deem sufficient for such purpose, subject to the limit in section 6 provided.

Rate determined to be reported to Lieutenant-Governor.

122. When the estimate prepared and the rate determined by the Committee shall have been approved by the Commissioner under sections 118, 119, or 120, the rate so determined and approved shall be reported by the Commissioner to the Lieutenant-Governor, who shall forthwith cause the same to be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

Estimates may be amended.

125. Any estimate prepared under section 115 and approved as hereinbefore provided may be amended or revised at any time with the sanction of the authority who originally approved of such estimate: provided that the total of the estimate of expenditure as amended shall not exceed the total of the sums estimated to be available for expenditure during the year.

The first two periods are dwelt upon at greater length than the last. The history and peculiar nature of Indian civilization throughout these periods are explained briefly and systematically, and the excellencies and defects of the two civilizations, Hindu and Musulmán, are analysed and compared. The nature and influence of important social and political institutions in both the polities are described, and care is taken to explain the manner in which races and civilizations act upon one another. The purely narrative portion is not overloaded with statements of facts. Intended for use in Entrance, Middle English, and Vernacular Schools.	238

Sept. 11th	70	8vo. ..	1st ..	500	Printed	0 4 0	Hem Chandra Banerji.	This is a memoir of the well-known Srimati (commonly called Ráni) Rásmani of Ján Bázar in Calcutta. The circumstances of her parents, her marriage, her position in her husband's family before and after the death of both her husband and her father-in-law, her character as a landlord, as a housewife, as a woman, as a mother are all described at length. She is represented to have been a bold, strong-minded, energetic, benevolent, and even public-spirited woman. The book contains an account of the rise of the Mar family of Ján Bázar, gives a fair idea of the religious side of an orthodox Hindu lady's life, and affords some insight into zenana life and etiquette in a joint and orthodox Hindu family.	347

Satan, the Six Passions, Reason, Jesus Christ, the Apostles, are all introduced as allegorical characters. The Christian scheme of punishment is unfolded, and Hindus, Musalmans, and Brahmas are spoken of as grovelling in error. The story of a Musalman convert to Christianity, Wiláyat Ali, who, though he had incurred the displeasure of the Musalman community of Delhi, adhered to his new faith, and died for its sake when he was attacked by a party of the mutineers of 1857, dragged through the streets of Delhi, and threatened with death in the event of his refusing to re-embrace the faith of Islam. The object of the publication is to induce faith in Christianity by exhibiting the strength which it imparts to the mind.	352

Her death scene, the account of which occupies nearly three-fourths of the work, is described as having been one of exemplary resignation and cheerfulness. She died at the age of 13. The work is evidently intended to serve as a recommendation of Christianity to the people of this country.	353

Sept. 21st	64	8vo. ...	1st ...	1,000	Printed	0 8 0	Dwáraká Náth Bidyábhusan of Changripotá.	In an article on "Sakuntalá and Kalidás," several points connected with ancient Hindu civilization are discussed, and Kalidás himself is presumed, from the form of his name and certain other circumstances, to have been a native of Bengal. The writer of an article on "The treatment of Indian women by the Aryas" holds that the employment of women in ancient India in laborious domestic work was only the result of division of labour, and not a badge of servitude. In other respects, says he, they were on an equal footing with men. The translation of Manu and the Sánkhya Darsana is continued.	94
Oct. 14th	64	8vo. ..	1st ...	1,000	ditto ...	0 8 0	ditto ..	Contains the same papers as the preceding number, with the exception of one, on "The causes of the decline of the Arya religion." These causes are said to be (1) want of faith and belief of the new generation of Hindus in the ancient Dharma Sástras; (2) want of a thorough study of the Sanskrit language, (3) political subjection to a people professing a different religion; (4) want of religious propagation; (5) unworthy behaviour of Sáktas and Baishnabas; (6) ignorance and depravity of spiritual preceptors, &c.	95
Oct. 14th	40	8vo. ...	1st ...	300	ditto ...	0 6 0	Not given ...	In a paper on "The Female Character," a historical explanation is attempted of many of its striking traits, such as self-denial, resignation to the will of the husband, patient endurance, &c. It is said that when men were fierce savages, women must have been compelled by fear of bodily punishment to suppress their desires and do many things against their will.	96

Orders and Notifications by the Government of India, &c.

[Reprinted from the Gazette of India.]

The following orders, issued by the Government of India in the Home, Revenue and Agricultural Department, are republished for general information :—

NOTIFICATIONS—MEDICAL.

Fort William, the 15th March 1880.

No. 150.—In continuation of G. O. No. 13, dated 2nd January 1880, issued in the Military Department, and subject to such modifications as may hereafter be deemed necessary, the Governor-General in Council is pleased, with the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State, to issue the following orders regarding the administrative staff of the Indian Medical Department in the several Provinces of India.

2. From the 31st March 1880 the following administrative appointments will be made :—

	Monthly salary. Rs.
1 Surgeon-General with the Government of India	2,700
1 Deputy Surgeon-General, with local rank of Surgeon-General, for civil medical administration in Bengal	2,250
1 Deputy Surgeon-General, with local rank of Surgeon-General, in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh	2,250
1 Deputy Surgeon-General, with local rank of Surgeon-General, in the Punjab	1,800
1 Deputy Surgeon-General for civil medical administration in the Central Provinces	1,800
1 Surgeon-General for civil medical administration in Madras ...	2,500
1 Secretary to the Surgeon-General, Madras	800	(consolidated)
1 Surgeon-General for civil medical administration in Bombay ...	2,500
1 Secretary to the Surgeon General, Bombay	800	(consolidated)

3. The Surgeons-General with the Government of India and with the Governments of Madras and Bombay will, in addition to performing civil administrative duties, be Heads of the Indian Medical Departments in their respective Presidencies. It will be their duty, among other matters, to propose transfers between the Military and Civil Departments; to recommend for promotion to the administrative grades; and to advise the Government on all questions relating to the admission of officers and subordinates to the Indian Service, to the conduct and services of Indian medical officers of all grades, and to the supply of medicines and hospital stores. The Surgeon-General with the Government of India will be entitled to receive any information he desires from the Surgeons-General and Deputy Surgeons-General attached to the local Governments and Administrations; but he will exercise no direct authority over them. These officers will be solely under the orders of the local Government or Administration to which each belongs.

4. Officers will be selected for the above-named administrative offices by the Government of India for the Bengal Presidency and by the Governments of Madras and Bombay for those Presidencies respectively. Selections will be made in each Presidency from the whole Indian Medical Service of that Presidency; and the principles of selection, hitherto followed in making such appointments, will be observed. Surgeons-General and all Deputy Surgeons-General, including those who may have the local rank of Surgeon-General, will count their five years' term of office from the date of their first entering on the duties of their rank, whether in the military or civil branch of the service.

5. The Deputy Surgeon-General for the Central Provinces will also be Sanitary Commissioner for those Provinces. As already notified in the Military Department order above quoted, "the Deputy Surgeons-General of the Eastern Frontier District and of the British Burma Division will, in addition to their military duties, exercise the civil medical administration of their respective Provinces, and will also perform the duties of Sanitary Commissioners in them." The Deputy Surgeons-General of the Punjab Field Force and of the Sind District will also exercise the civil medical administration of those circles. In respect of these civil duties they will be subject to the orders of the Provincial Surgeon-General.

6. In all Provinces for which a separate Sanitary Commissioner is sanctioned the Sanitary Department will remain distinct from, and not subordinate to, the Medical Department. The Sanitary Commissioner of Madras and of Bombay will, in future, have the rank and privileges of a Deputy Surgeon-General as soon as he attains 26 years' service, or as soon as any officer below him on the list is promoted to the administrative grade: and, subject to the same conditions and limitations, the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab will have the rank, pay, and privileges of a Deputy Surgeon-General. This rule will apply to officers now holding the appointment of Sanitary Commissioner in these Provinces. The five years' tenure of office by a Sanitary Commissioner in each Province will reckon from the date of his attaining the rank and privileges of a Deputy Surgeon-General. In the appointment of officers to be Sanitary Commissioners the same principles and procedure will be adopted as in the promotion to Deputy Surgeon-General in the military and civil administration; but in the selection for such posts knowledge and experience as a sanitary officer will be specially considered.

7. The supervision of the Vaccination Department will form an important part of the duties of the Sanitary Commissioner in each Province. The separate appointment of Superintendent-General of Vaccination, where it still exists, will be abolished, and this officer as well as the Superintendents of Vaccination will become a Deputy Sanitary Commissioner under the orders of the Sanitary Commissioner, who will utilize not only them, but also the whole vaccination staff and the Civil Surgeons as far as possible in sanitary work.

8. Although the administration of the Indian Medical Department is divided into two branches—civil and military—Indian medical officers will remain as now military officers, those in civil employ being only lent to the civil department and liable to be called on for military duty in the event of their services being required.

9. Officers holding appointments which are abolished under these orders, viz. the Superintendent-General of Vaccination, Punjab, and the Sanitary Commissioners for the Central Provinces and British Burma, will receive a personal allowance making the emoluments of their future offices equal to the pay they now draw.

E. C. GEORGE, Presidency Post-master.

CALCUTTA GENERAL POST OFFICE, the 25th Feb. 1880.

LETTERS for Calcutta are now sorted in the train by the Travelling Post Office. All letters the addresses of which do not contain full particulars of residence (such as street, lane, &c.,) must be sorted into the bag for the head office, i.e., the General Post Office. If the letter is deliverable through a sub-office this will cause delay in its delivery, as letters, with full address are sorted into direct bags for the sub-offices, and these bags are sent off immediately on arrival at the head office. The public are therefore earnestly requested to desire their correspondents to address their letters as fully as possible otherwise delay will be inevitable.

Government officials in the Mofussil are requested to pay particular attention to the above.

J. K. SPENCE, Offg. Post-master General, Bengal.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

VACCINATION of children has been compulsory in the city of Bombay since the passing of Bombay Act I of 1877. The grounds upon which it is thought desirable to make it generally compulsory also in the town and suburbs of Calcutta are set forth in the following extract from a memorandum submitted to the Corporation by Dr. Charles, Superintendent General of Vaccination.

"The following propositions may be assumed as capable of proof. If any question should arise as to the advisability of accepting them without evidence, I shall be prepared to adduce the proofs when called upon.

"(a) The great majority of the resident population in Calcutta, amounting perhaps to such a high figure as one above that represented by 95 per cent., have accepted vaccination, or would accept it as a matter of course were there any children in the family, and would, if left to themselves, continue to have their children vaccinated.

"(b) Among the floating population any man, woman or child that can be caught by a vaccinator, can be, with greater or less difficulty, vaccinated. The exceptions to this proposition are so few as might possibly be represented by such a small figure as 1 per cent.

"(c) Besides the above classes there is a distinct and separate class, which consists chiefly of adult males among the floating population, who, from causes inseparably connected with the position, cannot be singled out or caught hold of by the vaccinators. Among this class a considerable percentage consists of unprotected persons. The percentage, though not a large one in itself, may be taken to represent a very considerable number indeed of unprotected persons, who constitute a source of great danger to Calcutta. These persons catch small-pox when it prevails, and form so many centres of contagion that it is very difficult for vaccinators to keep pace with an epidemic when it has once begun among them.

"(d) The vaccination, as it has been practised in Calcutta since the year 1864, though nominally only a voluntary system, has virtually amounted to compulsory vaccination. The law, it is true, does not compel a man to be vaccinated, but the Vaccination Department brings so much pressure to bear on the population that, so far as relates to any man, woman or child belonging to certain classes, their vaccination amounts almost to a certainty; the cases are few indeed in which repeated representations addressed to any unprotected persons fail in inducing them sooner or later to receive vaccination.

2. "Based on the knowledge of the above facts, the argument for compulsory vaccination simply amounts to this. Almost all the educated and the thinking members of the community have already accepted vaccination of their own accord. The uneducated and unthinking part of the population from one reason or another already undergo vaccination; the interests of neither will be affected by a vaccine law. The law will chiefly affect a number of adults who come to live among a vaccinated community. Although this number is small when calculated in relation to the general population, yet in itself it is so large as to constitute a very serious source of danger even to a protected population. It is chiefly these people who die during an epidemic of small-pox. A compulsory vaccination law would doubtless save some of their lives; it would do more than this: it would prevent these persons from becoming so many foci of contagion, which disseminate small-pox among a comparatively well vaccinated community, who are thus exposed to the inconveniences attending on an attack of this disease, although they have availed themselves of the only means at their command to ward off such a visitation."

Although the practice of inoculation has been prohibited by law since 1865, epidemics of small-pox have been not unfrequent, and the last which broke out in the early part of 1879 showed that further measures were necessary to protect the community against this dangerous preventible disease. The reports of the late Health Officer of the town and of the Superintendent of Vaccination in connection with this subject will be circulated as annexures to the Bill.

The measure is drafted mainly on the lines of the Bombay Act, supplemented by provisions for dealing with the case of unprotected adults and seamen. It is so arranged as to admit of the extension of its general sections to first and second class municipalities and other places in the interior. This power of extension has been introduced into the Bill at the request of Government.

It is proposed to provide, as in the Bombay Act, for the levy of a small fee in cases where the public vaccinators are required to attend at private houses. But these fees will in Calcutta be credited to the Corporation and devoted to the purposes of the Act. The Corporation will pay the cost of all vaccine establishments, but if the receipts from fees are insufficient to meet also the cost of supervision, the Government will, it is understood, contribute as at present the pay of the Assistant or Deputy Superintendents.

The Lieutenant-Governor is empowered to make rules arranging for the gratuitous vaccination of females who are prevented by their position from attending at the vaccine stations, and are too poor to pay fees.

The 13th March 1880. KRISTODAS PAL.

Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

If no proceedings are taken in the Civil Court to contest such Certificate Conditional upon the merits during one year next ensuing after the service of the notice hereafter prescribed in Section 8, such Certificate Conditional shall become a Certificate Absolute, and shall have the same force and effect as a final decree of a Civil Court.

Such Certificate shall have the same effect as a decree of a Civil Court, but only as regards the remedies for enforcing the same

7. When any arrears of any of the public demands specified in Section 6 is unpaid by any person liable to pay such public demand to an Officer other than a Collector, or when any such demand as is specified in the seventh clause of the said section is unpaid by any person liable to pay the same to a Manager appointed by the Court of Wards, such officer or such Manager may give to the Collector of the district, in which such person resides, or in which such demand is payable, a notice in writing in form

In case of arrears of public demand payable to Officer other than Collector, such Officer may give notice to Collector, who may thereupon make a Certificate Conditional.

No. 3 in the second Schedule annexed to this Act. On receipt of such notice, such Collector, if satisfied that such demand is justly recoverable, may make under his hand, and in the form No. 2 in the second Schedule annexed to this Act, a Certificate of the amount of such arrears so remaining unpaid, and shall cause the same to be filed in his office.

The provisions of Rule 2 of Section 6 shall apply to every such Certificate.

When Certificate filed, notice to be given to judgment-debtor. Upon service of notice, Certificate to bind immovable property of judgment-debtor.

8. When a Certificate Absolute has been filed in the Office of a Collector under the provisions of Section 5, or a Certificate Conditional has been filed in the Office of a Collector under the provisions of Section 6, or Section 7, such Collector shall issue to the judgment-debtor a notice in form No. 4 in the second Schedule annexed to this Act. From and after the service of such notice, such Certificate shall bind all immovable property of such judgment-debtor situate within the jurisdiction of such Collector in the same manner and with like effect as if such immovable property had been attached under the provisions of section 274 of the Code of Civil Procedure. A copy of such Certificate may be transmitted by post to any other Collector for the purpose of being filed in his Office, and as soon as it is so filed, such Certificate shall, if the aforesaid notice has been served, bind in like manner all immovable property of such judgment-debtor situate within the jurisdiction of such last-mentioned Collector.

Copy of Certificate may be sent to Collector of another district to be filed in his office; and, upon its being filed, Certificate shall bind immovable property situate in such district.

Movable property of person, against whom Certificate has been made, may be attached at any time, if Collector satisfied that such person is likely to conceal, remove, or dispose of such property.

9. If the Collector is satisfied that any person against whom a Certificate has been filed under the provisions of Section 5, or Section 6, or Section 7, is likely to conceal, or remove, or dispose of the whole or any part of his movable property, and that the realization of the amount of such Certificate will in consequence be delayed or obstructed, he may at any time after making such Certificate direct an attachment of the whole or any part of the movable property of such person. Such attachment shall be made in the manner provided in the Code of Civil Procedure for attaching movable property. Such property may be sold for the purpose of satisfying such Certificate, if no petition of objection is filed under Section 10, or if any such petition is filed, then as soon as it has been finally disposed of.

Any person served with notice under section 8 may file a petition of objection.

10. Rule 1.—If any person, who has been served with a notice under section 8, denies his liability to pay the whole or any part of the amount for which such Certificate has been made and filed against him, he may at any time within thirty days after service of such notice file a petition denying his liability as aforesaid before the Collector by whom such certificate has been made. Such petition shall be in, or as nearly as possible in, the form No. 5 in the second Schedule annexed to this Act.

Day to be fixed for hearing such petition. Collector to determine the liability of the petitioner. Certain provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure to apply to the inquiry.

Rule 2.—Such Collector shall fix a day for hearing any such petition so filed, and upon such day, or any subsequent day to which such hearing may be postponed, shall determine whether such petitioner is liable for the whole or any part of the amount for which such Certificate was made, and may set aside or modify or vary the Certificate accordingly. Every such Collector shall, for the purpose of hearing any such petition and determining as aforesaid, exercise all the powers which a Civil Court is competent to exercise under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure for hearing and determining claims to attached property and for realizing the costs of such claims.

Costs of petition how realized.

Rule 3.—In any case in which a Collector directs the payment of such costs by any such petitioner, the amount thereof shall, if such petitioner be the judgment-debtor, be added to the amount entered in the Certificate, and shall be recoverable as if the same had been originally entered therein.

Collector may refer petition for hearing to Deputy Collector, who shall have the same powers to hear it as the Collector.

11. Rule 1.—The Collector of a district may refer to any Deputy Collector subordinate to him any such petition as is mentioned in section 10, and such Deputy Collector shall hear and dispose of such petition accordingly. The provisions of Rules 2 and 3 of section 10 shall be applicable to any such Deputy Collector to whom any such petition has been so referred.

Appeal from Deputy Collector to Collector, and from Collector to Commissioner. Stay of execution.

Rule 2.—An appeal from any order of a Deputy Collector may be preferred to the Collector within fifteen days, and an appeal from any original order of a Collector may be preferred to the Commissioner within thirty days after the making of such order respectively. Pending the decision of such appeal execution may be stayed if the appellate authority so direct, but not otherwise.

Power of revision.

Rule 3.—There shall no appeal, as of right, lie from any order of a Collector passed on appeal from an order of a Deputy Collector. The Commissioner may in any case in which he thinks fit revise any order passed by a Collector or Deputy Collector.

Certificate may be enforced after one month from notice, or when petition of objection disposed of.

12. Rule 1.—Every Certificate made under the provisions of section 5, or section 6, or section 7, may be enforced and executed, upon the expiry of one month after service of the notice mentioned in section 8, or when any such petition as is mentioned in section 10 has been filed, then as soon as such petition has been heard.

Certificate may be enforced under the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure as a decree for money.

Rule 2.—Such certificate may be so enforced and executed by all or any of the ways and means mentioned and provided in and by the Code of Civil Procedure for the enforcement and execution of decrees for money, and all the practice and procedure provided by the said Code of Civil Procedure shall apply to every execution issued to enforce such Certificate and realize the amount recoverable thereunder, save that all the duties, powers, and authorities by the said Code imposed or conferred on the Court shall be exercised by the Collector in whose office any such Certificate, or any copy thereof transmitted for execution under the provisions of Section 223 of the said Code, has been filed. Subject to the control of the Collector and save and except in respect of the provisions relating to insolvent judgment-debtors any of the said duties, powers, and authorities may be exercised by any Deputy Collector subordinate to such Collector.

13. Every Collector shall cause to be kept in his office a register in such form as may from time to time be prescribed by Board of Revenue, and shall cause to be entered in such register the particulars of every certificate made under this Act, which, or a copy of which, has been filed in his office. Such register shall be open during office hours to the inspection of any one desiring to inspect the same, and a fee of eight annas shall be chargeable for such inspection.

Rules as to the payment of sums due under Certificates; and as to such payments being certified by Collectors

14. Rule 1.—Payment of the amount due under a Certificate may be made by instalments, if the Collector who made such Certificate so direct. The payment of any instalment shall be entered in the register mentioned in section 13.

Rule 2.—When the total amount due under a Certificate has been paid and satisfied, the Collector in whose office such certificate was originally filed shall enter satisfaction upon such Certificate under his hand and signature; and shall cause the same to be entered in the Register mentioned in Section 13.

Rule 3.—When a copy of such Certificate has been transmitted to another Collector, or when such Certificate has been made under the provisions of Section 7 upon notice from an Officer other than a Collector, such satisfaction shall be communicated to such other Collector or to such officer.

Rule 4.—When a sum has been levied or received by a Collector in respect of a Certificate, a copy of which has been transmitted to him and filed in his office, such Collector shall send such sum to the Office in which such Certificate was originally made.

15. No Collector and no such Officer as is mentioned in Section 7 shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court for any act done or ordered to be done by him in the discharge of his duty under this Act, whether or not within the limits of his jurisdiction, if he at the time in good faith believed himself to have jurisdiction to do or order such act; and no officer of such Collector bound to execute his lawful orders shall be liable to be sued in any Civil Court for the execution of any order intended to give effect to the provisions of this Act, which such officer would have been bound to execute, if within the jurisdiction of such Collector.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ACT VII (B.C.) of 1868 was passed with two objects—

First.—It amended such of the provisions of Act XI of 1859 as relate to sales of estates for arrears of revenue and other matters.

Second.—It provided a new procedure for the recovery of a number of public demands other than arrears of revenue realizable by the sale of the estate upon which such arrears have accrued.

The present amendment of the law is concerned with the second of these objects only; and it proposes to repeal and re-enact, in an amended form, so much of Act VII (B.C.) of 1868 as relates to the recovery of public demands other than arrears of land revenue recoverable by the sale of the estate upon which such arrears have become due.

The necessity for a re-cast of this portion of the law has arisen in the following manner. In the Chittagong district there are several canals to which the provisions of Act V (B.C.) of 1864 have been made applicable. Section 8 of this Act empowers the Lieutenant-Governor to appoint such persons as he may think proper to collect tolls under this Act, and declares it to be lawful for the person so appointed to farm out the collection of these tolls with the sanction of Government. The Collector of Chittagong was appointed under this section to collect the tolls on the canals just mentioned, and this officer let out the collection to certain farmers. These farmers defaulted in their payments, and it was then discovered that there is, as the law now stands, no other mode of realizing the money due by them than a regular suit in the Civil Court. As these arrears are similar in their nature to arrears of other public demands which can be realised under the procedure provided by Act VII (B.C.) of 1868, it has been thought that they should be made realizable by the same procedure, and that the law should be altered and extended accordingly.

Commissioners and Collectors were then consulted in order to ascertain if, in the course of practice, other instances had arisen of public demands not falling within the purview of Act VII (B.C.) of 1868, but which might well be made recoverable under its provisions. Some officers were in favour of a very wide extension of this special procedure, and would make it applicable to all sums, liquidated or unliquidated, payable to the officers of Government, whether acting on behalf of Government or on behalf of private individuals whose property or estates have by law come under the management of those officers. Having carefully considered the matter, I have come to the conclusion that any such unlimited extension of what is in fact a summary procedure would not be safe or advisable. In this view I am confirmed by what the Legal Remembrancer has communicated to me about the working of the present Act. I am also of opinion that it is not possible to devise any general definition of the term "demand" which will obviate the necessity of particularizing the several claims which are to be treated as public demands under the Act. In this opinion the learned Advocate-General concurs.

In the draft of the Bill to which this Statement is attached, the problem of what public demands shall be recoverable by this special procedure is dealt with in a substantive section (s. 6). In Act VII of 1868 this essential matter was relegated to a definition—the definition, that is, of the term "demand." The change now made is in accordance with the practice and advice of Sir Henry Thring as to the use of definitions; and will, it is hoped, make the subject matter of the law simpler and clearer. The statement in this section of the cases, to which the procedure of the Act shall apply, has been so framed as to cover all public demands created by existing law, which it is desirable should be recovered by this method. In the case of similar demands created by future legislation a few words will readily make the provisions of the Act applicable.

It is hoped that nothing now on the Statute-Book has been overlooked. In order to enable those practically conversant with the subject to detect any omission, if such there be, the following analysis of the section will be useful. Clause 1 will be found to include the following:—

(1) money recoverable from Public Accountants and their sureties on account of loss or defalcation in their accounts—Act XII of 1850, s. 4;

(2) fines imposed by the Board on persons failing to attend in person when required—Regulation II of 1793, s. 33;

(3) fines imposed by the Board on persons not attending or not producing accounts before Collector, &c., engaged in Resumption Inquiries—Regulation II of 1819, s. 13, cl. 3;

(4) fines imposed by the Board on persons resisting such proceedings—Regulation II of 1819, s. 14;

(5) specific sums of money, or costs, or damages awarded by Collectors engaged in inquiries under Regulation VII of 1822—Regulation VII of 1822, s 23, cl. 3;

(6) charges of witnesses and other costs adjudged by Collectors inquiring in course of Settlement Proceedings into validity of grants claimed to be held revenue-free or at a fixed revenue, or exercising judicial powers under the Regulations then in force—Regulation IX of 1825, s. 5, cl. 10;

(7) fines imposed on proprietors, farmers, &c., neglecting to provide supplies, boats, temporary bridges, &c., for troops, upon Collector's requisition—Regulation VI of 1825, s. 4;

(8) fines imposed on proprietors, farmers, &c., omitting or refusing to attend, or cause their agents to attend, with accounts, information, &c., required by Collectors, with sanction of Board, in cases connected with their public duty and not expressly provided for by any Regulation in force—Regulation XII of 1817, s. 32; Act XX of 1848, s. 1;

(9) sums adjudged by Collectors in favour of Patwaris, and fines—Regulation XII of 1817, s. 36;

(10) expense of maintaining and improving Embankments—Act XXXII of 1855, s. 11, cl. 2; Act VII (B.C.) of 1866, s. 5;

(11) the difference between a bid not made good and the proceeds of a second sale necessary in consequence—Act XI of 1859, s. 23.

Some of these are given in the definition of demand in the existing Act. The above list contains some additions, and substitutes Acts now in force for those which have been repealed.

Clause 2 includes the Acts passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council subsequent to Act VII (B.C.) of 1868, and which contain an express reference to this Act. This provides for Embankment Expenses, Famine loans, Survey charges, Irrigation rates, Land Registration fees, &c., Partition expenses, and sums due from Excise farmers. The procedure can be extended by future legislation to meet wants created thereby. Zemindari dâk arrears are now realizable by distraint and sale of the movable property only of the defaulter—Act VIII (B.C.) of 1862, section 9. If it is thought advisable to make the procedure for the recovery of this demand uniform with the rest, this can be done, section 9 of Act VIII being repealed as regards the recovery of these arrears.

Clause 4 appears necessary, as section 7 of Regulation XVIII of 1817, referred to in section 10 of Regulation VI of 1819, was repealed by Act XXIX of 1871, and, so far as it is incorporated in section 10, by Act XII of 1876.

Clause 6 has been so drafted as to get over the difficulty raised in the case at 15 B.L.R., 343, as to which having been successfully surmounted by section 63 of the new Wards' Act, IX (B.C.) of 1878, there is some doubt.

Clause 7 provides for cases in which persons agree with Government that sums due from them to Government shall be recoverable by this particular procedure.

Clause 8 provides for the ready extension of the provisions of the Act to such future cases as the Legislature may sanction.

Advantage has been taken of the present occasion to improve the procedure in some respects in which it has been found by experience to be defective. Under the present Act (s. 16), a Certificate cannot be made against a farmer for arrears of land revenue due by him until after the expiry of one month from the latest day of payment. As the Commissioner of Dacca has reasonably observed, the arrear is just as much an arrear on the first day as on the thirtieth, and there is no reason why any more consideration or indulgence should be shown to a farmer who allows his rent to fall into arrears, than to a proprietor of a revenue-paying estate in similar circumstances. As a matter of fact, the indulgence is too often utilized to make away with property which might otherwise have been available to liquidate the debt due to Government.

In the case of demands due to a Collector, section 18 of the present Act requires a notice to be given to the person liable to pay, and the Collector is required to wait one month after giving this notice before he can make a Certificate. Now, in the first place, the law is not consistent with itself, for no such month's notice is required in the case of a demand payable to an officer other than a Collector. In the second place, there does not appear to be any good reason why the making of the Certificate should be delayed for a whole month, or rather a month plus the time necessary to serve the notice, seeing that after the service of the notice the debtor is allowed a month's time to come forward and object, if he desires to do so. The only difference to the debtor in making and filing the Certificate in the first instance is that he will have to pay the cost of serving the notice, if he has no valid objection to urge; and this is scarcely a hardship in the case of a person who fails to discharge his just liabilities. Some doubt has existed as to whether proceedings to enforce a Certificate could be taken before the expiry of a full month after the service of the notice of the Certificate having been made. This doubt has now been removed. It has been considered reasonable to allow a full month for objecting before proceedings are taken to enforce the Certificate, more especially as the month's delay before making it has been taken away. At the same time, in order to meet cases of too frequent occurrence and prevent the removal of property fairly liable to satisfy the just demands of the State, it has been thought well to give the Revenue Authorities in respect of movable property a power like that of attachment before judgment exercised by the Civil Courts.

While the law has thus been strengthened in the interests of the tax-payer against the careless or fraudulent debtor of the State, provision has been made for some indulgence towards the honest debtor who fails to pay because he is unable to meet his liabilities from causes over which he has no control. The Collector has accordingly been empowered to allow payment by instalments when he sees fit: and with reference to a decision of the High Court, that the provisions of Chapter XX of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to Insolvent Judgment-debtors, do not apply to judgment-debtors under Certificates, it has been thought undesirable to deny to the debtor of the State a relief which the superior Legislature has afforded to unfortunate but honest debtors of other classes Accordingly these insolvency provisions have now been expressly extended to debtors liable under Certificates.

As the law now stands, the Collector must himself dispose of all cases in which objections are raised by persons against whom Certificates have been filed for amounts due on account of demands. In such cases witnesses must be heard and evidence recorded, and it has been found that this throws upon the Collector in many districts more work than he can perform with reasonable despatch, regard being had to the other numerous calls on his time. In one district no less than 4,688 such cases were brought on the file of the Collector during a single year. In order to afford relief from such pressure, the Collector has been empowered in the Bill to make over these cases to a Deputy Collector, from whose decision, however, an appeal is allowed to the Collector, the Commissioner being further empowered to interfere, without appeal, in any case of hardship brought to his notice.

The operation of the Bill has been extended to Calcutta, so as to remove all doubt as to the applicability of its provisions to the recovery of the revenue payable for plots of land within the City boundaries (See Act XIII of 1850).

Under the present Act there are two kinds of Certificates, viz. (1) for arrears of land revenue, being the balance not realized by sale of the estate, or arrears of land revenue due by farmers; and (2) arrears of demands. Certificates of the first class cannot be contested on the merits in the Civil Court, while certificates of the second class can. The language of the law is, however, somewhat obscure, and the difference is not at first very obvious. An attempt has been made at clearer expression. It has at the same time appeared advisable to lay down distinctly, in respect of the latter class of Certificates, a time within which they must be contested, and within which if not contested, they will become absolute.

The changes above indicated will, it is believed, on the one hand make this special procedure more effective for recovering the just demands of the State, and on the other hand afford to its debtors all indulgence and forbearance, which, consistently with the interests of the public, may be conceded to them.

Note by Rajah Pramathá Natha Roy, of Digapathia.

From Assistant Secretary to Government of Bengal, Financial Department, dated 29th January 1880, and enclosure.

List of instances of excessive pay given by District Committee, of irregularities in appointments, and of improper appointments.

Note by the Road Cess Deputy Collector, Hooghly.

Extract of a letter from Officiating Commissioner, Presidency Division, dated 2nd January 1880.

Extract of a letter from Commissioner, Patna, dated 16th February 1880.

Extract of a letter from Commissioner, Burdwan, dated 17th February 1880.

Extract of a letter from Commissioner, Bhagulpore, dated 12th February 1880.

Extract, paragraph 5, of proceedings of a meeting of Sarun Road Cess Committee, dated 4th February 1880.

We have considered, amongst others, the communications noted in the margin.

We have entirely recast the Bill and altered its preamble and arrangement.

We have altered the definitions of "annual value of land," "cultivating ryot," "district," "estate," and "land," and added a definition of a "holding."

In section 7 we have exempted the public revenues from liability to pay more road cess than the persons liable have paid to the Collector.

In section 10 we have omitted the former provision of the law for annual publication of the accounts of the Public Works cess in the Gazette.

The Lieutenant-Governor is empowered by section 13 to order a revaluation of any district, and of particular estates or tenures only in a district by section 15. Section 13A allows the holder of an estate or tenure after the expiry of five years from the beginning of the cess year in which the levy of the cesses took effect to apply to the Collector for a revaluation of his estate or tenure.

In section 17 we have prescribed different periods for returns of small and large estates and tenures.

Section 18 deals with fines for omitting to make returns. Such fines, when they reach Rs. 500, can only be levied with the Commissioner's sanction; but until they reach that amount, they may be levied pending appeal unless prohibited by the appellate authority.

In section 19 we have allowed the Collector to send a list of holders making default in their returns to the Civil Court which is to take judicial notice thereof; but such returns may be corrected by petition to the Collector within six months; and if the petition is accepted and the cess due paid, rent at the corrected rate may be recovered.

Section 26 makes rules and gives examples for computing the annual value of portions of lands comprised in a subordinate tenure.

In section 32 we have required that two signatures shall be necessary for the publication of the valuation roll.

Section 33 lays down that every valuation and revaluation shall be in force for five years.

Section 34 allows the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, to reduce the valuation of any estate or tenure, and to value, assess, and levy cess upon any estate or tenure omitted from the valuations and assessments in force.

Section 41 is new, and entitles a recorded sharer of a joint revenue-paying estate who has opened a separate account to a separate liability for payment and realization of road cess.

In section 42 we have made an overdue instalment of cess to carry interest at the rate of 12 per cent. per annum.

In section 44 we have allowed a recorded shareholder who has paid more than his own share of the cesses to move the Collector to make a certificate as in the case of a public demand, wherein such shareholder shall be deemed the decreeholder for the sum mentioned in such certificate.

Chapter IV is entirely new, and contains provisions for the valuation of lands held rent-free, their assessment, and the payment and recovery of cess in respect thereof.

Section 62B and the four following sections contain special provisions applicable to Orissa and Midnapore.

Section 69 makes the costs of service of notices recoverable either from the person to whom such notice is addressed, or the person owing to whose default the notice is issued at the Collector's discretion; but no costs are to be recovered in respect of notices not rendered necessary owing to some default.

Sections 71 and 72 replace section 109 of the former Bill. They provide that all dues may be recovered under the law for the time being in force for the realization of public demands, or that the Collector may at his discretion issue a notice to occupiers and tenure-holders requiring them to pay rent to him until the amount due to him with all costs be satisfied. Sections 73 and 74 enable the Lieutenant-Governor to invest any person with the powers of a Collector for the purposes of the Bill and allow the Collector to delegate his powers to certain officers. We have made in section 78 all the proceedings of the Collector and lower officers subject to the supervision of the Commissioner and of the Board of Revenue, and all the proceedings of the Commissioner subject to the supervision of the Board.

Section 79 empowers the Board to make rules for certain purposes.

Part II deals with the constitution and administration of the District Road Fund.

Section 80 expresses what sums make up the District Road Fund; and section 81 declares the objects of the fund. Among the objects that are new are—the payment of such sums as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct, under section 145, for expenses incurred in certain offices for controlling proceedings of Collectors, examining and checking estimates, and auditing accounts;

the indemnification of Collectors;

the payment of sums due as interest, on capital expended on works likely to improve the communication between districts;

the planting of trees;

the supply of drinking water;

the improving of drainage; and the investment in local debenture loans issued by Government for the construction of productive works, directly improving district communication.

In Chapter IX we have provided that the members of the District Road Committees may hold office for five years, and prescribed in more detail their mode of transacting business.

We have required in section 100 that the District Engineer's salary shall be fixed, in the first instance, by the Committee and approved or altered by the Lieutenant-Governor. In cases of vacancy the Lieutenant-Governor shall cause a list of three or more qualified officers to be supplied to the Committee for their election (section 101); but existing appointments are to hold good for two years from the commencement of the Act. The Lieutenant-Governor or Committee may suspend or dismiss the District Engineer from his office.

Other appointments may be made as follows:—
to offices of not more than Rs. 50 per mensem, by the Chairman of the Committee; to office exceeding that amount, by the Committee subject to the approval of the Commissioner of the Division.

Section 103 empowers the Committee to make rules for leave of absence and absentee allowances, except in the case of Engineers drawing Rs. 200 or upwards, who may obtain sick leave under the rules of Supplement F of the Civil Leave Code.

In section 105 the Lieutenant-Governor is enabled to appoint a Divisional Superintendent of Works at the request of two-thirds of the Committee in any division.

Section 107 deals with pensions. The Committee may make rules for these subject to the Lieutenant-Governor's approval; but service under one District Committee will not count as service under another for pension purposes; nor will Government servants contributing to other pension funds have any claim upon the District Road Fund.

Contracts may be made by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman on behalf of the Committee; but where they involve an amount exceeding Rs. 500, they must be sanctioned by the Committee.

In section 109 we have made the interest disqualifying a member, officer, or servant of the Committee from connection with any contract a pecuniary one.

Section 115A debars the Committee from commencing works until specifications and estimates have been passed or the proper authority has sanctioned them.

Section 116 provides that the estimates may be passed, and the rate of cess for the year fixed at the same meeting, instead of prescribing a second meeting for the latter purpose as under the old law.

In sections 119 and 120 we have defined the powers of the Commissioner to alter an estimate passed by less than two-thirds of the members of a Committee; and those of the Commissioner and Committee in the case of an estimate passed by more than two-thirds. In the latter case the estimate may be submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor.

Section 121 is new, and defines the powers of the Lieutenant-Governor as to altering the estimate submitted to him by the Commissioner. The total of the estimate, however, is not to be raised beyond the total sum estimated to be at the disposal of the Committee for expenditure during the year in question, the cess being levied at the rate fixed for such year by the Committee under section 116, unless the rate at which the cess has been determined is, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, insufficient for the proper maintenance of the works specified in the statement prepared under sections 110 or 112.

As regards the constitutions of Branch Committees, we have allowed them to appoint an ad-interim Vice-Chairman, and made the Chairman or Vice-Chairman removable at the pleasure of the Lieutenant-Governor.

In section 130 we have allowed the Branch Committee to require that their statements, suggestions, or estimates be submitted to the Commissioner and the Lieutenant-Governor.

Section 139 requires any Committee to appoint a Sub-Committee to audit their accounts.

The District Road Committees are empowered by section 144A to make rules in respect of certain matters; and section 146 gives a similar power to the Lieutenant-Governor for general purposes.

Section 145 has been already alluded to under section 80. It further enables the Lieutenant-Governor to make rules for recovering the cost of establishments and the officers under the District Committees, the total amount required from the Committees being subject to a limit of two per cent. on their income for the year.

The Schedules have been altered in accordance with the sections which refer to them.

We have made some minor additions and alterations and several verbal amendments.

The sections and the references thereto will hereafter be correctly numbered, and we recommend that the Bill as now amended be passed.

MODE OF ASSESSMENT.

CHAPTER II —Valuation of Lands.

12. Upon the commencement of this Act in any district or part of a district the Lieutenant-Governor may order that a valuation shall be made of such district or part of a district.

Lieutenant-Governor may order valuation.

13. From time to time, after the expiration of the term of five years from the beginning of the cess year in which the levy of the cesses took effect in accordance with any such valuation, or with any re-valuation as hereafter provided in this section, or at any time within twelve months previous to the expiration of such term,

The amount of such fine accruing due from time to time may be levied by the Collector as provided in section 74, and the fact of an appeal against such fine being pending shall not avail to prevent the levy of any such fine pending the disposal of the appeal, unless the Commissioner shall otherwise direct.

Whenever the amount levied in respect of any such fine exceeds five hundred rupees, the Collector shall report the case specially to the Commissioner; and no further levy for such default shall be made otherwise than by authority of the Commissioner.

No rent to be recovered till return is made.

19. From and after the expiry of the time allowed by the notice, or of any extended time under the provisions of section 17, every holder of an estate or tenure in respect of which such notice shall have been served shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent (a) for any land or tenure which shall be proved not to have been included in the return lodged by him, and (b) for any land or tenure situate in any estate or tenure in respect of which no return has been lodged as aforesaid;

shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent for any tenure or holding created subsequent to the lodging of any such return without proof of the subsequent creation of such tenure or holding;

and in respect of any land or tenure included in any such return shall be precluded from suing for or recovering rent at any higher rate than is mentioned in such return, without proof that such rent has been lawfully enhanced since such return was lodged.

The Collector may send a list to the Civil Court of all such holders so making default in lodging returns as aforesaid, and such Court shall take judicial notice of the same;

Provided that the Collector may at his discretion, at any time within six months from the presentation of any return made under this Part, receive a petition correcting any such return;

and on the acceptance of such petition, and on payment of the amount of cess due from the date when the corrected valuation came into force, rent at the rate shown in the corrected return may be recovered. Such notices as the Collector may direct shall be served upon the parties affected by such petition at the expense of the person lodging the return as aforesaid.

Whenever the required return is lodged in respect of any estate or tenure, or whenever the valuation of any such estate or tenure has been otherwise completed, the disability imposed on the holder thereof by this section shall cease; and if such estate or tenure shall have been included in any list as aforesaid, the Collector shall forthwith give notice to the Civil Court of the cessation of such disability.

If returns not furnished, Collector to make valuation.

20. If no return shall have been lodged in respect of any lands for which notice under section 16 has been issued, the Collector may, after the expiration of the time allowed by the notice or of such extended time as is mentioned in section 17, ascertain and fix by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient the annual value of any estate, tenure, or lands mentioned in such notice, and all expenses incurred in making such valuation may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 71 and 72.

After conviction of making false returns, Collector may make valuation.

20A. Whenever the maker of any return under this Act has been convicted on a prosecution under section 66 of making a false return relating to any lands, the Collector may by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such lands; and the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the maker of such return as provided in sections 71 and 72.

In certain cases of incorrect returns, Collector to make valuation.

21. Whenever the Collector may deem that any return lodged relating to lands for which no rent is payable by cultivating ryots to the person making such return is untrue or incorrect, he may, whether any prosecution as mentioned in section 66 shall have been instituted or not, by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient ascertain and fix the annual value of such lands; and in case the annual value of such lands so determined by him shall exceed by one-fifth the value stated in such return, the expense of such valuation may be recovered from the person by whom such return was lodged, as is provided in sections 71 and 72, and in all other cases the said expense shall be borne by the District Road Fund established under this Act as hereinafter provided.

Person returned as cultivating ryot may be served with notice.

22. The Collector may, whenever he may think fit, cause a notice in the form in Schedule (BI) contained to be served on any person holding any lands or possessing any interest therein, although such person may have been mentioned in any return as a cultivating ryot; and thereupon such person shall be bound to make a return of the annual value of such lands within one month from the service of such notice in the form in Schedule (A) contained, and the provisions in sections 17 and 18 regarding extension of time for lodging a return and regarding fines shall be applicable to such person; any holder of land on whom such notice may have been served in respect of any lands shall, if the Collector so order, be deemed to be a tenure-holder, for the purposes of assessment and levy of the cesses in respect to such lands.

If no return made, Collector may ascertain annual value of lands.

23. If no return is made by any person on whom a notice has been served as provided in the last preceding section, the Collector may proceed by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient to ascertain the annual value of the lands held by such person; and in case it appears that such annual value is greater than the rent paid by such person, the expense of such valuation shall be borne by such person, and may be recovered with all costs of recovery thereof as provided in sections 71 and 72, but in all other cases shall be defrayed from the said District Road Fund.

Summary valuation of small revenue-paying estates and tenures.

24. Whenever the revenue annually payable in respect of any estate, or the rent annually payable in respect of any tenure, does not exceed the sum of one hundred rupees, the Collector may, without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure—

(a) in any case, determine the annual value of the land comprised therein to be, in a permanently-settled estate or tenure, a sum not exceeding three times, and in a temporarily-settled estate or tenure, a sum not exceeding twice, the amount of the annual revenue or rent payable therefor;

or (b) when the area of the said estate or tenure has been ascertained, determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him shall seem fit.

Summary valuation of small revenue-free estates and rent-free tenures of which the area has been ascertained.

25. When the area of any revenue-free estate or rent-free tenure, the gross rental of which does not exceed, or is not estimated by the Collector to exceed, the sum of one hundred rupees has been ascertained, the Collector may, without issuing any notice for such estate or tenure, determine the annual value of such estate or tenure to be at such rate per acre as to him may seem fit.

Computation of annual value of land comprised in a subordinate tenure in a summarily valued estate or tenure.

26. When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued by the Collector in the manner provided by clause (a) of section 24, the annual value of any portion of such land which is comprised within a tenure subordinate to such estate or tenure shall be determined according to the following rules :—

(1).—When the subordinate tenure comprises the whole of the estate or superior tenure, the annual value of the subordinate tenure shall be taken to be the same as that of the estate or superior tenure.

(2).—When the subordinate tenure comprises a part only of the land constituting the estate or superior tenure—

(a) First, ascertain the difference between the annual value of the estate or superior tenure, and the revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or superior tenure ;

(b) Next, ascertain the ratio which such difference bears to such revenue or rent ;

(c) Then ascertain the amount which bears the same ratio to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure ;

(d) Add half of the amount so ascertained to the rent payable in respect of the subordinate tenure ;

the result shall be taken to be the annual value of the subordinate tenure.

Examples—

A.—An estate paying a revenue of Rs. 80 is summarily valued by the Collector, under clause (a) of section 24, at Rs. 200. The whole estate is let in patni for a rent of Rs. 120. The annual value of the patni tenure will be Rs. 200.

B.—An estate paying a revenue of Rs. 120 is summarily valued by the Collector, under clause (a) of section 24, at Rs. 200. A part only of the estate is let in patni for a rent of Rs. 75.

The difference between the annual value of the estate (Rs. 200) and the revenue paid in respect of it (Rs. 120) is Rs. 80. This difference bears a ratio of two-thirds to the revenue (Rs. 120).

The amount which bears the same ratio (two-thirds) to the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs. 75) is Rs. 50 ;

add half of Rs. 50 to the rent payable in respect of the patni tenure, and the result (Rs. 75 +25=) Rs 100 will be the annual value of the patni tenure.

C.—Within the patni tenure paying a rent of Rs. 75, as in example B, is a darpatni tenure paying a rent of Rs. 54.

The difference between the annual value of the patni ascertained as above (Rs. 100) and the rent payable in respect of the patni (Rs. 75) is Rs. 25, which bears a ratio of one-third to the said rent.

The amount which bears the same ratio (one-third) to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni (Rs. 54) is Rs. 18 ;

add half of Rs. 18 to the rent payable in respect of the darpatni, and the result (Rs. 54 +9=) Rs. 63 will be the annual value of the darpatni tenure.

When such land may be valued according to rate per acre.

27. When the land contained in any estate or tenure has been summarily valued according to a rate per acre, under clause (b) of section 24, or under section 25, the annual value of the land comprised in any subordinate tenure shall be taken at the same rate per acre as that of the estate or superior tenure.

Holder of summarily valued estate or tenure may lodge return.

28. The holder of any estate, tenure, or subordinate tenure which has been summarily valued under sections 24 or 25 may within one month from the posting of the valuation roll in respect thereof under section 32, lodge a return in the form in Schedule (A) contained in regard to such estate, tenure, or subordinate tenure, and thereupon such return shall be deemed to be a return made as required by section 16 and shall be dealt with accordingly.

Collector may value small estate or tenure by regular process.

29. Instead of proceeding to value any estate or tenure summarily under the provisions of sections 24 or 25, the Collector may, if he think fit, cause a notice to be served in respect of any such estate or tenure in the form in Schedule (BI) or Schedule (BII) contained, as the case may be, and thereupon all the provisions of this Part shall apply in the same way as they would have applied if the annual Government revenue or rent payable in respect of such estate or tenure had exceeded one hundred rupees.

Lands used for Tea, Coffee, or Cinchona.

Return of plantations, &c.

30. In the case of lands acquired under any rules issued by, or under the authority of, the Government for the sale, lease grant, or clearance of waste lands, or held directly from Government, and used for the cultivation of tea, coffee, or cinchona, the Collector shall, in lieu of the notice prescribed by section 16, cause a notice to be served calling on the holder of such lands to lodge within two months of the service of such notice, a return in the form in Schedule (C) contained giving the particulars in such form set forth ; and the annual value of such lands shall be fixed at ten rupees in respect of every acre therein entered as cultivated, unless the Board of Revenue shall in any particular case prescribe a lower rate. The provisions of sections 18 and 20 shall apply to all lands in respect of which a notice has been issued under this section.

Publication of Valuation Rolls and Duration of Valuations.

Valuation rolls to be prepared.

31. Whenever any valuation or re-valuation is made under this part, the Collector shall cause to be prepared from the returns furnished to him and from the valuations made by him in accordance with this Act a valuation roll of each estate within his district and of the tenures therein comprised, noting thereon for each estate the amount of revenue annually payable to Government on which the deduction specified in section 38 is to be calculated.

On the application of any holder of an estate or tenure or holding within his district, and on payment of such fee as the Board of Revenue shall from time to time determine, the Collector shall cause to be furnished to such holder a copy or corrected copy of so much of any such returns, and of any such roll as relates to the lands included within his estate, tenure, or holding.

Publication of rolls.

32. On the completion of every roll prescribed under this Part the Collector shall cause a copy thereof to be posted up at the mâl cutcherry of the estate to which such roll refers, and shall cause extracts of such portions of any such roll as refer to any tenure to be posted up at the mâl cutcherry of such tenure; provided that, if no such mâl cutcherry be found, such roll and such extracts shall be posted up at some conspicuous places on the estate and tenures respectively to which they refer.

To be attested by two persons

The person who is entrusted with the publication of any such return shall obtain an acknowledgment in writing signed by two persons who may be either respectable residents of the neighbourhood, or chowkidars, or other officers of Government, to the effect that such return was duly published on the spot, and shall give in such acknowledgment to the Collector.

Valuation to be in force for five years

33. Except as otherwise in this Part expressly provided, every valuation and every re-valuation made under this Chapter shall remain in force for the term of five years from the date fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 11 as the date from which the cess leviable in pursuance thereof shall take effect, and thereafter, until another re-valuation and assessment in substitution therefor shall have been ordered and completed.

Collector may reduce valuation,

34. Nothing in section 33 contained shall be held to debar the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, from making at any time any reduction which he may think fit in the valuation of any estate or tenure; and may value and assess omitted and newly found estates and tenures.

or from making a valuation of and assessing and levying cess upon any estate or tenure which for any reason whatever has been omitted from the valuations and assessments for the time being in force, or which was not in existence when such valuation or assessment was made.

Rate at which road cess shall be levied, how to be fixed.

35. The road cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6, and, subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned, at such rate as may be determined for such year by the Committee of such district with the approval of the Commissioner under sections 118 or 119, or with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor under section 120, as the case may be, or at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may order under section 121.

Rate at which public works cess shall be levied, how to be fixed.

36. The public works cess for each year shall be assessed and levied in each district as provided in section 6, and, subject to the maximum rate in that section mentioned, at such rate as the Lieutenant-Governor may determine for such year.

Notice showing amount of cess payable to be served on zemindars.

37. When the rate of road cess and public works cess to be levied in any district shall have been determined for any year and published in the Calcutta Gazette as provided in section 123, the Collector shall cause the rate so determined to be published by affixing a notification in some conspicuous place in the office of the said Collector, in every civil court, in every police station, and in the office of every sub-divisional officer within the district;

and shall cause such rate to be proclaimed by beat of drum throughout the district, and shall cause to be served on the holder of every estate and of every tenure within the district paying rent directly to the Collector a notice showing the amount of road cess and public works cess payable in respect of his estate or tenure, and specifying the date from which such road cess and public works cess will take effect;

Provided that it shall not be necessary to serve such notice when no change has been made in the valuation of the estate or tenure or in the rate of road cess or public works cess since the issue of the last notice under this section.

Mode of payment of road cess and public works cess by holder of estate.

38. (1)—Except as otherwise in this Act provided every holder of an estate shall yearly pay to the Collector the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the lands comprised in such estate, at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided, less a deduction to be calculated at one-half of the said rates for every rupee of the revenue entered in the valuation roll of such estate as payable in respect thereof.

By holder of tenure

(2)—Every holder of a tenure shall yearly pay to the holder of the estate or tenure within which the land held by him is included, the entire amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of the land comprised in his tenure at the rate or rates which may have been determined for such cesses respectively for the year as in this Act provided, less a deduction to be calculated at one-half of the said rates for every rupee of the rent payable by him for such tenure.

(3)—Every cultivating ryot shall pay to the person to whom his rent is payable one-half of the said road cess and public works cess calculated at the said rate or rates respectively upon the rent payable by him, or upon the annual value ascertained under the provisions of sections 22 or 23 of the land held by him.

39. (1)—Every holder of an estate shall pay the amount of road cess and public works cess due by him in equal instalments on the several days fixed for the payment of the instalments of the Government revenue due in respect of his estate if revenue be payable thereon;

and if no revenue be payable thereon, then in two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by any order of the Lieutenant-Governor.

By tenure-holder and ryot

Distribution of valuation in case of partition.

40. In case of partition of an estate being effected under Regulation XIX of 1814, or Bengal Act VIII of 1876, or any similar Act, after valuation of such estate and while such valuation remains in force, the total valuation of the original estate shall be distributed proportionately under the order of the Collector over the newly-formed estates, whereupon the newly-formed estates shall, for the purposes of this Act, take the place of the original estate, the liability to pay cess in respect of each newly-formed estate being separate and distinct from the liability to pay cess in respect of any other of such newly-formed estates.

Such separate liability shall take effect from the same date as the separate liability of the newly-formed estates respectively in respect of land revenue.

Procedure to be followed when there is a partition.

The procedure prescribed by sections 31 and 32 shall be followed whenever a redistribution of the valuation is made in consequence of a partition as mentioned in the last preceding section.

Effect of opening separate account under Act XI of 1859, or Act VII of 1876.

41. When a recorded sharer of a joint revenue-paying estate has opened a separate account under Act XI of 1859, or under section 70 of Bengal Act VII of 1876, or any similar law for the time being in force for the regulation of the opening and maintaining of such separate accounts, he shall be entitled, in regard to the payment and realization of road cess and public works cess under this Act, to all the advantages of separate liability enjoyed by him under the said Act XI of 1859, and Bengal Act VII of 1876 in regard to the payment and realization of revenue, and shall be entitled to separate assessment and to the issue of separate notices under this Act from the date on which such advantages shall take effect in respect of the demand of Government revenue.

Penalty for default of payment of instalments.

42. If any instalment of road cess or public works cess or part thereof payable to the Collector shall not be paid within fifteen days from the date on which the same becomes due, the amount of such instalment or part thereof may be recovered at any time within three years after it became due, with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum calculated from the date on which such instalment became due, and with all costs of recovering the same.

With permission of the Lieutenant-Governor Collector may keep separate account of cesses payable by registered holders of revenue-free estates.

42A. (1)—In any district to which the Lieutenant-Governor may specially order that the provisions of this section shall be extended, it shall be lawful for the Collector to keep a separate account in respect of the amount of cesses payable and paid by any holder of a revenue-free estate who is recorded in Part I of the Collector's general register of revenue-free lands as proprietor or manager of any specified share or interest in any revenue-free property.

(2)—Such separate account shall be opened and kept under such rules as to the levy of fees and other matters and subject to such conditions and in such manner as the Board of Revenue may from time to time prescribe, and the Board of Revenue may at any time order that any separate account which has been so opened shall be closed from such time as they may direct, and no longer kept as a separate account.

(3)—As long as any separate account shall remain open as provided in the preceding section, and no longer, the joint liability of the holders of such revenue-free estate for payment of the entire amount payable in respect of such estate shall cease; and the Collector shall recover the amount of cess or other demand due in respect of each share or interest for which an account has been so separately kept, from the holder or holders of such share or interest only; and, if the Collector shall think fit to proceed under section 72, he shall take action under that section against the share or interest only in respect of which the sum demanded is due and the rents thereof.

Recovery by holders of estates or tenures.

43. Every holder of an estate or tenure to whom any sum may be payable under the provisions of this Act may recover the same with interest at the rate of twelve per centum per annum in the same manner and under the same penalties as if the same were arrears of rent due to him.

Recovery from co-shareholders.

43A. Any shareholder in an estate or tenure who may have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate or tenure, or any part thereof in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate or tenure, may recover from his co-sharers such sums as he may have paid on account of their respective shares and interests, in the same manner and under similar penalties, or may take credit for such sums in any adjustment of accounts between himself and his co-sharers.

Recovery by recorded shareholders from their co-sharers by Certificate process.

44. Whenever any shareholder in an estate who is recorded in the general register of revenue-paying and revenue-free lands maintained by the Collector, or any shareholder of a tenure, the extent of whose share or interest in the tenure is recorded in any register of tenures paying revenue or rent to the Collector direct, which is kept up by the Collector, shall have paid the road cess or public works cess payable in respect of such estate, or any part thereof in excess of the amount proportionate to his own interest in such estate, he may, within fifteen days of such payment being made, move the Collector to make a certificate as provided by any law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands, specifying the amount which has been paid in by such shareholder as cess in respect of the recorded share or interest of any other shareholder in the estate; and thereupon such Collector shall make such certificate, and such certificate shall have the same effect as a certificate made for the recovery of a Public Demand; and the same notices shall be issued and the same proceedings may be taken thereon by the Collector as in case of such certificate;

Provided that the person in whose favour the certificate has been made shall be deemed to be the decree-holder for the sum mentioned in the certificate; and all proceedings taken by the Collector for the recovery of the sums mentioned in the certificate shall be taken at the instance of the person in whose favour the certificate has been made, and at his cost and on his responsibility, and not otherwise.

CHAPTER IV.—Valuation and assessment of lands held rent-free and payment and recovery of Cess in respect thereof.

45. All lands held without payment of rent other than lands mentioned in section 30, and other than estates entered on the General Register of Revenue-free lands of the district, shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to form a part of the tenure within the local boundaries of which they are contained; and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any tenure, then to form a part of the estate within the local boundaries of which they are contained; and if they are not contained within the local boundaries of any estate, then to form a part of the estate in which they were included at the original settlement of such estate; and if there be any doubt as to the estate in which they were so included, then to form a part of such conterminous estate as the Collector, in whose district such conterminous estate is situate, shall by an order under his seal appoint.

Rent-free lands in what estates or tenures to be included for the purposes of this Act.

46. Every holder of an estate or tenure who is required by this Act to submit a return in the form in Schedule (A) shall be bound to enter in such return all lands of the nature of those specified in section 45 according to the tenor thereof; and shall be bound to pay road cess and public works cess on the annual value of such lands, at one-half of the rates fixed under this Act for the levy of such cesses respectively in the district generally for the year.

Holders of estates and tenures to pay cess at half rates for rent-free lands included therein.

46A. Whenever any land held rent-free shall have been included in the return of any estate or tenure as provided in the last preceding section, the Collector shall, on publication of the valuation-roll of such estate or tenure as provided in section 32, cause to be published a notice in the form in Schedule (D), to which notice shall be annexed such extracts from the valuation-roll of such estate or tenure as relate to such land.

Notice and extracts of valuation-roll to be published by Collector in respect of such rent-free lands.

Such publication may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of such notice and extracts at some conspicuous place in the village within which such land is situate,

by depositing another copy of the same at any police-station, registration office, or other Government office in the neighbourhood for the inspection of all concerned, and by proclamation as herein next provided.

The proclamation shall be made by beat of drum throughout such village, and shall be to the effect that such extracts have been so affixed and deposited, and that the owner or holder of such land is required to inform himself, by inspection of such extracts, of the valuation put upon his land, and to pay yearly to the holder of the estate or tenure of which such land is, according to the provisions of section 45, to be deemed to form a part the cesses which shall be payable in respect of such land under the provisions of this Act.

46B. Within a reasonable time not exceeding thirty days after the issue of any process for the recovery of any sum due from him as cess under this chapter, the owner, holder, or occupier of any such land may make before the Collector an objection to the valuation of his land as entered in the valuation-roll so published, and on such objection being made, the Collector shall, by such ways and means as to him shall seem expedient, ascertain and fix the annual value of the land in the possession of such owner, holder, or occupier, and may alter such roll accordingly, and shall give notice of any such alteration to the holder of the estate or tenure to which such roll relates;

Holder of rent-free land may object to valuation.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be taken to authorise the Collector to alter any return so as to show any area of land as held rent-free which the maker of such return can show to be accounted for by him in the return as rent-paying land.

46C. In the following cases, that is to say—

(1) when a new valuation or revaluation takes effect in any district or part of a district;

(2) when the rate fixed for the levy of the road cess or of the public works cess in any year is changed from the rate at which such cess was levied in the preceding year; and

(3) when the dates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 46E for payment of instalments of the cesses by holders of rent-free land are changed,

Notice to be published by holders of estate in certain cases.

the holder of every estate or tenure to whom any cesses are payable in respect of lands held free of rent shall cause a notice to be published in every village in which any such lands are situate, informing all concerned of the rate which has been fixed for the levy of such cesses respectively; and requiring every holder and owner of any such land of which the cesses are payable to the person who causes the notice to be published to pay the amount of the cesses specified in such notice as it falls due, until a similar notice of change of the amount shall be given.

Such notice shall contain the following information in respect of each holding of rent-free land which is entered separately in the Collector's valuation-roll:—

(1) a specification of the land in respect of which the cesses are payable;

(2) the name of the owner, holder, or occupier of such lands, if known;

(3) the annual value of such land as entered in the Collector's valuation-roll;

(4) the rate on each rupee of the value which has been fixed under the Act for the levy of the road cess and public works cess respectively for the year;

(5) the amount of the cesses payable in respect of each holding, calculated at such rates; and

(6) the dates fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 46E for the payment of each instalment and the amount of each instalment.

Publication of the notice abovementioned may be lawfully made by affixing one copy of the same at some conspicuous place in the village in which such land is situate;

by depositing another copy thereof to be available for general inspection at any mál cutcherry of the estate or tenure in which such land is included,

or at any other convenient place in the neighbourhood ;

and by proclamation as herein next provided.

The proclamation shall be made by beat of drum throughout such village, and shall be to the effect that such notice has been so affixed and so deposited, that it is open to inspection at the mál cutcherry or other convenient place as above mentioned, and that every owner and holder of rent-free land is required to inform himself of the contents of such notice and to pay the amount of the cesses due by him accordingly.

Owner of rent-free land bound to pay cess at full rate.

46D. After publication of the extracts from the roll as provided in section 46A, and in cases in which publication of the notice mentioned in section 46C is required, after publication of such notice, and not otherwise, every owner and holder of any rent-free land included in such extract shall be bound to pay year by year to the holder of the estate or tenure on which the land held by him is deemed to form a part, the amount of the road cess and public works cess calculated on the annual value of such land as entered in such extracts, or on any lower annual value which may have been determined by the Collector under section 46B, at the full rate or rates which may have been fixed under this Act for the levy of such cesses respectively in the district generally for the year.

Instalments to be fixed by Lieutenant-Governor.

46E. The payment of the cesses for each year by the holder of any land which is held rent-free shall be made by two equal instalments upon such days as shall be for that purpose appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor.

If instalments not paid within a month, treble the amount may be recovered.

47. When an instalment of the cesses due on any rent-free land is not paid to the holder of the estate or tenure of which such land is deemed to form a part within one month of the date on which such instalment is payable, the holder of such estate or tenure shall be entitled to recover, in addition to the amount due to him under section 46D, a sum equal to double such amount, with all costs of suit.

Holders of estates, &c., may send in supplementary returns in respect of rent-free lands.

48. POSTAL NOTICES.

LETTERS for Calcutta are now sorted in the train by the Travelling Post Office. All letters the addresses of which do not contain full particulars of residence (such as street, lane, &c.,) must be sorted into the bag for the head office, i.e., the General Post Office. If the letter is deliverable through a sub-office this will cause delay in its delivery, as letters with full address are sorted into direct bags for the sub-offices, and these bags are sent off immediately on arrival at the head office. The public are therefore earnestly requested to desire their correspondents to address their letters as fully as possible otherwise delay will be inevitable.

Government officials in the Mofussil are requested to pay particular attention to the above.

Bills of the Bengal Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the members of the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871, have the honor to make the following report : —

We have considered the Bill and made a few verbal alterations.

We recommend that the Bill be passed.

A. MACKENZIE.
J. O'KINEALY.

THE following Bill was read in the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 25th March 1880, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council :—

A Bill to amend the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871.

Preamble.

WHEREAS under the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal the Commissioners for making improvements in the Port of Calcutta, being the Commissioners appointed under Bengal Act IX of 1871, have for some time past been running steamers from Calcutta to Howrah and back, and carrying passengers and goods therein, and employing tugs and other boats in towing vessels through the bridge and generally in the service of the bridge, and it is expedient that they should continue to own and work such steamers, tugs, and boats for the purposes aforesaid, and also that the said Commissioners should have power to build, purchase, provide, or procure steam-vessels and tugs and other craft and employ the same for any purposes aforesaid : It is hereby enacted as follows :—

To be part of Bengal Act IX, 1871.

1.—This Act shall be, and shall be deemed to have always been, a part of Bengal Act IX of 1871.

Commissioners may procure or build and run steam-vessels, &c., in the port of Calcutta ;

2.—It shall be lawful for the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to build or acquire in any manner whatsoever such steam or other vessels as they may think fit, and to employ the same or any of them in towing vessels through the bridge and generally in the service of the bridge, and also in carrying goods, merchandize, and passengers to and from such places in Calcutta and Howrah as may from to time be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor and to book and receive goods, merchandize, and passengers at any such places, and to make and levy such fees and charges as may from time to time be prescribed by the Lieutenant-Governor for the aforesaid duties and services.

and may book goods and passengers.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Commissioners for the Hooghly Bridge under Act IX of 1871 have for years under Government sanction maintained the steam ferry between Armenian Ghât and Howrah, which is used when the bridge is open and which carries goods for the East Indian Railway Company at other times. They also employ tugs for hauling vessels through the bridge. The present Act gives them no power to spend money on such objects, and in connection with traffic arrangements rendered necessary by the transfer of the Armenian Ghât premises from the East Indian Railway Company to the Commissioners, it is deemed desirable to declare formally that the Commissioners have the powers they now exercise under a mere executive sanction.

W. E. H. FORSYTH,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

We, the undersigned members of the Select Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to whom The Bill to provide for the Drainage and Improvement of Lands was referred, have the honor to make the following report.

We have provided for the repeal of Bengal Act V of 1871 ("The Hooghly and Burdwan Drainage Act") and for the extension of this Bill to all the territories under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governor.

We have altered the definitions of "Collector," "Reclaimed land" and "Improved land" and have added definitions of "estate," "tenure," "undertenure," and "landholder."

In Part I we have allowed the Commissioners to delegate any of their powers to Committees of their body, and have provided for the conduct of business by the Commissioners and by such Committees. We have also provided that the Commissioners may sue and be sued in the name of their Chairman.

We have inserted a section empowering the Lieutenant-Governor to direct that the powers and functions of the Commissioners shall cease when he is satisfied that the objects of their appointment have been fulfilled.

Part II, which deals with the drainage scheme, has been considerably enlarged.

By section 13 a list of persons assenting or objecting to the scheme is to be published, and section 14 lays down the manner in which the Commissioners are to proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the scheme. The Commissioners are under section 16 to decide who is entitled to vote as a landholder in cases where such right is disputed In the case of a minor or lunatic the manager of his property is to vote, and when a proprietor cannot be found, his land shall be excluded from the computation therein referred to. Provision has also been made for voting in the case of joint owners of estates.

Section 24 is new, and lays down a procedure for claiming compensation on the part of persons whose property has been damaged by any scheme carried out under the Bill. The Commissioners are empowered to assess the amount of compensation, which, if the claimant accepts, it may be paid to him. If he does not accept such amount, they may refer the matter to the Civil Court, and several of the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, are made applicable.

The costs of compensation, the salaries of officers and their establishments, and all costs of construction may under Section 25 be defrayed by advances from the public funds. Section 26 makes such advances bear interest at 5 per cent per annum until recovered. The interest, after completion of the works, is payable half-yearly to the Collector by the holders of the lands affected by the scheme, i.e., until the final apportionment of the cost is made. It will be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay this interest among the landholders affected, and such interest will be recoverable according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of public demands. Provision is made for serving on such landholders a notice of their liabilities.

Section 28 provides for the officer in charge of the works certifying their completion to the Commissioners, who upon the expiry of three years are to classify the lands benefited, distinguishing between Improved and Reclaimed lands, and are then to apportion the total cost of construction upon such lands. Section 29 prescribes the manner in which the Commissioners may adjust excess or deficient payments of interest.

This is the most material change in the scheme of the Bill. According to the Bill as introduced, the Commissioners were required to apportion the expenses as soon as the works were reported complete, and the liability of the landholders to pay was to commence as soon as such apportionment was made. In consequence of what has passed in connection with the Dhankoni Scheme, we have thought it necessary to allow the Commissioners an opportunity of watching results for three years after the works are completed before proceeding to apportion the cost of the works; and consequently the liability to repay any portion of the capital has been deferred for these three years.

The Commissioners are empowered by section 30 to declare who shall be deemed liable as landholders to pay the sum apportioned in respect of any land, and the total sums so made payable, together with interest, are by section 31 made a first charge upon the lands improved and reclaimed respectively. This is an important amendment.

Section 23 of the former Bill we have amplified and improved in section 33 and substituted "three" for "twelve" months, and "two" for "six" months in lines 2 and 8 respectively. In section 37 we have provided for the service of notice on a landholder requiring him within one month to pay or engage to pay the sum due from him, which in section 38 we have made recoverable as a public demand. Section 39 is an entirely new provision. It empowers the Collector, with the sanction of the Board of Revenue, to raise the unpaid amount by lease or mortgage of the Reclaimed or Improved lands.

In sections 42 and 43 we have provided that every landholder or superior tenant who has paid the sum charged upon him may recoup the amount, (1) by enhancing the rents of those tenants whose lands have been rendered more productive by works carried out under the drainage scheme, or (2) by recovering from them the sum paid by him together with interest at 5 per centum. We have allowed the tenant the option of paying his proportion of the cost instead of having his rent enhanced if he prefers the former alternative. In case of dispute as to the amount payable by any such tenant, the Collector is empowered to decide the question and his decision will be final (section 44).

Section 45 provides that persons who have paid the sums charged upon their lands shall not be liable to enhancement of rent on account of benefits caused by the works to such lands.

To section 48, corresponding with section 41 of the former Bill, we have added two clauses providing that such surplus profits as may be vested in the Collector shall be appropriated to the liquidation of the instalments due under section 38, and that the Lieutenant-Governor may direct the cost of maintenance to be capitalized, and the capitalized amount to be levied in the same manner as the original cost of the works.

Sections 53 and 54 are new and enable the Lieutenant-Governor to empower other persons to exercise the powers of a Collector, and authorize the Collector, with the sanction of the Commissioners, to delegate his authority.

Part VII contains special provisions for the Dhankoni Scheme. It specifies the portions of the Bill which shall be applicable to works carried out under Bengal Act V of 1871, and empowers the Lieutenant-Governor to direct a revision of the apportionment of the cost of any scheme or works carried out under that Act. When such a revision has been directed, the Commissioners appointed for the purpose are empowered to revise the apportionment, and have full power to increase or reduce the same so far as individuals are concerned. Powers are also given them to levy such additional sums and make such refund as may be necessary for adjustment of the new apportionment. The provisions of the Bill as to the apportionment becoming final are made applicable to such revised apportionment.

We have made numerous other amendments of minor importance, and we recommend that the Bill as amended by us be passed.

The Commissioners shall within three months after their appointment cause a notification in the language of the district to be published by beat of drum in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by the works proposed in such scheme and plans. Every such notification shall be in the form in Schedule (A) hereto annexed, and shall further be published by posting the same at the office of the Collector and of the Sub-divisional Officer and in some conspicuous part of the village aforesaid, and at the Court of the Munsif within whose jurisdiction, and at the thana within the limits of which, such village is situate.

13. After the date named in such notification, a list of the persons who may have given their assent or made any objection in writing in accordance with such notification shall be prepared and published in the manner provided in section 12 for the information of all concerned. Such list shall contain a specification of the land in respect of which such persons claim to vote as landholders, and of the titles in virtue of which they claim to vote respectively: and there shall be appended thereto a notice that objections to the right of voting so claimed must be lodged with the Commissioners within one month after the publication of the said list.

Commissioners how to ascertain what proprietors have assented.

14. (1).—The Commissioners may, at some meeting to be held not less than one month after such list has been published under the provisions of section 13, proceed to ascertain whether the holders of half of the lands to be reclaimed or improved have assented in writing to the adoption of the scheme. For the purpose of so ascertaining the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of no more than one landholder in respect of any one portion of the area affected, and, whenever more than one landholder shall have given his vote in respect of the same portion of such area, the Commissioners shall take into account the vote of the landholder who holds the lowest interest in respect of such area, and shall not take into account, in respect of such area, the vote of any superior landholder who may have voted.

Example—

A gives his vote as proprietor of 5,000 bighas;
B as patnidar of 2,000 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5,000 bighas;
C as mokarraridar of 100 bighas included in B's patni;
D as holding a permanent jama of 500 bighas included in A's proprietary of 5,000 bighas, but not in B's patni of 2,000 bighas.

The Commissioners shall take into account the votes of the respective landholders in respect of the following areas:—

D	for	500	bighas.
C	,, ...	100	,,
B	,, (2,000—100=) ...	1,900	,,
A	,, (5,000—2,000—500=) ...	2,500	,,
	Total ..	5,000	,,

Vote for estate, tenure, &c., held by two or more co-sharers.

(2)—One vote only shall be allowed in respect of an estate, tenure or undertenure belonging to two or more co-sharers. In order to ascertain whether this vote shall be taken as assenting or objecting to the adoption of the scheme, regard shall be had to the votes of the co-sharers individually, and account shall be taken of those only who actually vote. If the majority assent, a vote of assent shall be deemed to have been given in respect of the estate, tenure or undertenure. If the majority object, a vote of objection shall be deemed to have been given. If the number assenting and the number objecting are equal, no vote shall be deemed to have been given in respect of such estate, tenure or undertenure.

Persons voting to specify the extent of their lands.

15. The Commissioners may in their discretion refuse to take into account the vote of any person who, after being required to do so, fails to specify the extent of land held by him, and the nature of the interest which he has in such land.

Commissioners to decide who is entitled to vote.

16. (1)—Whenever the right of any person to vote as a holder of any land shall be disputed, the Commissioners shall determine whether the vote of such person shall or shall not be accepted in respect of such land, and their determination shall be final for the purposes of section 17: provided that any "recorded proprietor," as defined by section 3 of the Land Registration Act, 1876, shall be entitled to vote in respect of any property of which he is the recorded proprietor.

Vote for property held by a minor or lunatic.

(2)—In the case of a landholder who is a proprietor disqualified to manage his own property under the provisions of any Court of Wards' Act for the time being in force, or who is a minor or a lunatic, the right to vote shall be exercised by any manager of the property of such disqualified proprietor or minor or lunatic, appointed by the Court of Wards or by the Civil Court under the provisions of any law for the time being in force, or, where no such manager has been appointed, by any person who, in the opinion of the Commissioners, duly represents the interests of such minor or lunatic.

Case of proprietor not found.

(3.)—Where the holder of any land cannot be found, such land shall be altogether excluded in any computation that may be made in order to determine whether the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved have assented to the adoption of the scheme.

Commissioners to consider the scheme submitted.

17. If the landholders of not less than half of the area to be reclaimed or improved, ascertained as above provided, shall have assented to the adoption of the scheme, and not otherwise, the Commissioners shall proceed to consider such scheme, together with the plans and estimates for carrying out the same, and shall further consider such objections as have been made thereto; and may adopt such schemes, plans, and estimates, or may alter and modify the same, and adopt the scheme, plans and estimates so altered or modified, or may disapprove or reject the same.

Power to proceed with portion of scheme.

18. If the landholders of half of the area to be reclaimed and improved do not assent to such scheme, but the landholders of half of the area to be affected by some portion of such scheme assent thereto, the Commissioners may resubmit such portion of the scheme to the Lieutenant-Governor, and may, with his approval, proceed thereupon in manner aforesaid.

Scheme approved by Commissioners to be laid before the Lieutenant-Governor.

19. If the Commissioners adopt such scheme, plans and estimates, or any modification or alteration thereof, they shall, within one month after such scheme, plans and estimates, or some modification or alteration thereof, have been adopted by them, cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Lieutenant-Governor may sanction the scheme, plans and estimates so adopted, or any portion thereof, as to him shall seem fit.

Power to reconsider scheme and modify it.

20. (1)—The Commissioners may, with the previous assent of the Lieutenant-Governor, at any time reconsider any scheme, plans or estimates adopted by them, and add to, alter or modify the same;

and when any addition, modification or alteration has been adopted by them, they shall cause the same to be laid before the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Lieutenant-Governor may sanction such addition, alteration or modification, or any portion thereof, as he may think fit, and thenceforth the provisions of this Act shall apply to such addition, modification or alteration, as if it had been a portion of the original scheme, plans or estimates; and every such addition, modification or alteration, after it has been adopted, shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit.

No such addition, modification or alteration shall be adopted at a meeting at which the majority of the members present are not qualified as provided by section 4.

Publication of modified schemes.

(2)—No addition, modification or alteration under clause (1) to or of any scheme which affects any lands other than those which would be affected by some scheme theretofore published, shall be adopted by the Commissioners until the same has been published for not less than fifteen days, according to the provisions of section 12, in every village in which may be situate any portion of the lands to be affected by such addition, alteration or modification; nor shall any such addition, modification or alteration be adopted unless the landholders of not less than half the entire area to be affected by the scheme as so added to, modified or altered, assent to the same.

Powers for the acquisition of land.

21. When the Lieutenant-Governor has sanctioned any scheme, plans and estimates as aforesaid, or some portion thereof, he may direct proceedings to be taken under the provisions of "The Land Acquisition Act," 1870, or any other law for the time being in force for the acquisition of land for public purposes, in order to obtain any land likely to be required for the works mentioned in such sanctioned scheme, plans and estimates, or any portion thereof.

Lieutenant-Governor may order scheme to be carried out.

22. The Lieutenant-Governor may, if he thinks fit, order the works specified in such sanctioned scheme, plans and estimate, or portion thereof, to be executed by an officer to be thereunto appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, and may, subject to the sanction of the Governor-General of India in Council, order the advance from the Public Funds of such sum of money as may be required for the purpose of making such improvements, and such officer may cause the works specified in such scheme and plans to be executed, and for that purpose may by himself, his agents and workmen enter into or upon any lands and perform such works thereupon as may be required.

Power to Lieutenant-Governor to modify scheme.

23. The Lieutenant-Governor may at any time after the said works have been commenced by an order sanction any alteration or modification of such scheme or plan suggested to him by the officer in charge of such works, if after communication with the Commissioners it shall appear to him that by such modification or alteration the general character and scope of the scheme will not be altered, nor greater expenditure be incurred thereon, than would be incurred in the scheme as originally sanctioned; and after such sanction, such alteration or modification shall be taken to be a portion of the scheme adopted by the Commissioners in substitution for the portion of such scheme thereby altered, and every such modification or alteration shall be published by the Commissioners as to them shall seem fit.

Claims to compensation for damage caused in carrying out scheme or works.

24. (1)—Any person who alleges that damage has been caused to his property by any scheme or works commenced or carried out under this Act may, at any time before the expiry of the three years mentioned in clause (1) of section 28, prefer to the Commissioners a claim for compensation in respect of such damage actually caused, and of all future damage likely to be caused to such property by such scheme or works.

Compensation to be assessed by the Commissioners.

The Commissioners shall duly consider any such claim; and if they are satisfied that such damage has been caused or is likely to be caused, they shall assess such compensation as to them appears fair and reasonable.

Reference to Civil Court if amount assessed be not accepted.

If such person agrees to accept the amount so assessed, the same shall be paid to him.

If he do not agree to accept such amount, the Commissioners shall make a reference to the Civil Court in the manner in which a Collector is empowered to make a reference by section 15 of "The Land Acquisition Act," 1870, and the provisions of Part III of the said Act shall apply to any reference so made.

PART III.

EXPENDITURE AND APPORTIONMENT.

Cost of compensation, &c., to be deemed part of expense of construction. Such expense to be defrayed by advances from the Public Funds.

25. All amounts paid as compensation for any lands taken for the purposes of this Act, or for damage inflicted in carrying out any scheme or works under this Act, or as salaries of officers, servants, or establishments, or for surveys or valuations, or otherwise duly expended in carrying out the purposes of this Act, shall be included in, and deemed to constitute the cost of, construction of the works, and may be defrayed by advances from the Public Funds as provided by section 22.

Interest to be paid on such advances. Such interest after completion of the work to be payable half-yearly to Collector by the holders of the lands affected.

26. (1)—All such advances shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum until recovered in the manner hereafter in this Act provided. All such interest, which falls due before the completion of the works is certified to the Commissioners as hereafter provided, shall, upon such completion being so certified, be added to the total amount of the principal sums advanced; and interest at the rate of five per centum per annum upon the total of such interest and principal shall thereafter be payable to the Collector half-yearly by the holders of the lands affected by the works.

Commissioners to distribute payment of interest amongst landholders and certify same to the Collector.

(2)—It shall be the duty of the Commissioners to distribute the liability to pay such half-yearly interest amongst such landholders, as soon as the completion of the works has been certified to them, and to report the details of such distribution to the Collector.

How the liability to pay interest is to be distributed.

(3)—In order to the distribution of such liability, the Commissioners shall have regard to the plans and estimates of the scheme and to such other information as may be supplied to them by the Officer in charge of such works, and shall distribute the liability in a general way, so that the share of the interest payable by each landholder shall be in proportion to the benefit to be derived by the lands of such landholder, so far as they can judge of such proportions.

Notice of amount of interest payable half-yearly to be served on each landholder. Amount, if not paid, recoverable as a Public Demand.

(4)—A notice shall be served upon each such landholder setting forth the half-yearly amount of interest payable by him and the date upon which it is payable. If such half-yearly amount be not paid upon such date, the Collector may proceed for its recovery according to the law for the time being in force for the recovery of Public Demands.

Reports to be made and expenditure certified.

27. The Officer in charge of the said works shall, until the same shall be finally completed, once in every three months make a detailed report to the Commissioners of the progress of such works and the expenditure thereupon from the day up to which the next preceding report shall have been brought down; and the Comptroller of Public Works Accounts to the Government of Bengal, or some other officer authorized in that behalf by the Lieutenant-Governor, shall from time to time certify the sums advanced in accordance with the provisions of section 25, and the dates of such advances, and every such certificate shall be final and conclusive evidence in a Civil Court or in any proceedings under this Act of the sums therein stated to have been advanced having been so advanced, and of the dates upon which they were respectively so advanced.

Commissioners upon expiry of three years from Completion Report to classify lands benefited by the works, distinguishing between Improved lands and Reclaimed lands.

28. (1)—The Officer in charge of the works shall, as soon as they have been completed, certify such completion to the Commissioners; and such Commissioners shall, upon the expiry of three years from such completion being so certified to them, proceed to classify all the lands benefited by the works according to the degree of benefit conferred; and in such classification they shall distinguish the Improved lands from the Reclaimed lands:

It shall be lawful for such Commissioners at any time during such three years to make such inspections of the lands and such surveys thereof, and otherwise to collect such information, as shall in their opinion conduce to the making of such classification, and of the apportionment hereinafter mentioned.

Cost of construction with interest to be apportioned upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands.

(2)—The Commissioners shall, after making such classification, proceed further to apportion the total cost of construction, together with the interest mentioned in section 26, upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands, and shall draw up a statement showing the amount payable to the Collector by each landholder—(a) in respect of his Improved lands, if any; and (b) in respect of his Reclaimed lands, if any. In making this apportionment the Commissioners shall, as far as may be possible, make payable in respect of each plot or field of Improved land a sum not exceeding the amount of the increased capitalized value, which, in the opinion of the Commissioners, has been conferred on such land by the works.

Amount payable for the Improved lands not to exceed value of improvement.

Adjustment of excess or deficient payments of interest.

29. If upon the completion of the Apportionment under section 28 it shall be found that any landholder has, under the provisions of section 26, paid more or less interest than he would have been required to pay according to the proportions adopted in the apportionment under clause (2) of section 28, if such apportionment had then been in force, the Commissioners shall direct such refunds to be made and such additional amounts to be levied as shall be necessary to bring the payments of all the landholders concerned into conformity with such proportions.

When the land is part of a tenure, &c., Commissioners may declare who shall be deemed liable as landholders.

30. Whenever any land, in respect of which any sum is apportioned as payable under the provisions of section 26 or section 28, forms part of a tenure, or of a tenure and of an undertenure, it shall be lawful for the Commissioners to declare whether the holders of the estate, of the tenure, or of the undertenure, shall be deemed to be the landholders liable to pay to the Collector the sum apportioned as payable in respect of such land.

Amounts made payable to be a charge upon the Improved lands and Reclaimed lands respectively. Secretary of State for India in Council to have a perpetual lien for their recovery.

31. The total sum so made payable in respect of the Improved lands of any one landholder, and the total sum so made payable in respect of the Reclaimed lands of any one landholder, with interest upon such sums at five per centum per annum from the date of Apportionment, and any interest payable under section 29, and any interest payable under clause (1) of section 26, but not paid or recovered before the apportionment under section 28, shall be a first charge upon such Improved lands and upon such Reclaimed lands respectively. Such charge shall not be avoided by the sale of such lands or of any estate, tenure, or undertenure within which they are included for arrears of revenue or rent.

Commissioners to report Apportionment.

32. The Commissioners shall, so soon as conveniently may be, after having apportioned the sums to be payable by the holders of the lands of any village respectively, make and publish a Report describing the several lands in respect of which they have declared such sums to be payable, the names of the respective holders thereof, who have been made liable to pay the same to the Collector, and the sum payable by each in respect of the same. Every such Report shall distinguish between the Reclaimed lands and the Improved lands, and shall classify the latter according to the extent of the improvement. A copy of such report shall be sent through the Collector to the Commissioner of the Division for confirmation by such Commissioner.

In default of Commissioners, officer appointed by Lieutenant-Governor to make Apportionment and Report.

33. If the Commissioners shall, for the space of three months after the completion of the entire works has been certified to them as aforesaid, neglect or refuse to proceed with the Apportionment of the sums payable as aforesaid, or to make such Report as aforesaid, or for the space of two months after any Report and Apportionment shall have been returned to them for further consideration and revision under the provisions hereinafter contained, neglect or refuse to proceed to such further consideration and revision as is required, the Collector may serve them with a notice requiring them to proceed as aforesaid: and if for one month after service of such notice they neglect so to proceed, the Lieutenant-Governor may appoint such officer or officers as to him shall seem fit to make or consider and revise such Apportionment and Report, and to do all or any of the subsequent acts which the Commissioners are hereby required or empowered to do in respect of such Apportionment and Report; and every Apportionment and Report so made or revised, and every such act so done shall have the same force and effect as if the same had been made, revised, or done by the Commissioners.

Report to be published.

34. Whenever any Apportionment and Report have been made in pursuance of the provisions hereinbefore contained, the Commissioners shall cause such Report to be published by affixing in every village in which any lands mentioned therein are situate a copy of so much thereof as relates to such lands, and also a like copy at the office of the Collector and of the Sub-divisional Officer, and at every Munsif's Court within whose jurisdiction, and at every police thana within the limits of which, such village, or any part thereof, is situate. The fact of such Apportionment and Report having been made, and of such copies having been affixed shall also be notified by beat of drum in every such village.

35. Any person who may deem himself to be aggrieved by any such Apportionment may, within one month after such Report has been published, prefer an objection before the Commissioners, and the Commissioners shall be bound to enquire into and decide upon such objection; and any person who is dissatisfied with such decision may within one month from the date of such decision appeal to the Commissioner of the Division against such Apportionment; and such Commissioner shall cause notice of the day fixed for the hearing of such appeal to be published by affixing the same to the office of the Collector and of the Sub-divisional Officer and, in a conspicuous place in every village, and in the Court of every Munsif within whose jurisdiction, and at every police thana within the limits of which any of the lands mentioned in such Report are situate.

Such Commissioner shall hear such appeal and the objections thereto of all persons interested, and may confirm such Apportionments, or may revise and alter the same as to him shall seem fit, or may return the same to the Commissioners for further consideration and revision.

Every such Apportionment and Report, when revised or altered, shall, so far as the same has been altered, be published, and be liable to appeal in like manner as the original Apportionment and Report.

The decision of the Commissioner of the Division upon any appeal under this section shall be final.

Final determination of Apportionment.

36. Whenever the Commissioner of the Division shall confirm any Apportionment and Report, or whenever one month shall have elapsed from the publication of any Report without any appeal therefrom having been preferred, he shall pass an order declaring the sums payable in respect of the lands respectively and the persons liable to pay the same to be determined, and shall cause such order to be published in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

PART IV.

As soon as any Apportionment has been determined as aforesaid, the Collector may cause a notice in the form in Schedule (B) hereto annexed to be served upon any landholder who has not paid the sum payable by him. Such notice shall require such landholder within one month from the date of its service upon him to pay such sum with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum, or to enter into an engagement for the payment thereof by instalments extending over a period of not more than ten years.

If amount not discharged, Collector may recover it as a Public Demand.

Collector.

W. E. H. FORSYTH,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information:—

WE, the undersigned members of the Select Committee to whom The Bill to amend the law for the Recovery of certain Public Demands was referred, have the honor to make the following report.

We have struck out the words which gave the Bill operation within the local limits of the Ordinary Original Jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

We have provided that a certificate made (1) for a balance of arrears of land revenue not realized by the sale of the estate upon which such arrears accrued, or (2) for arrears of rent due by a farmer, may be contested in the Civil Court on the ground that no such arrears were due, if the judgment-debtor under the Certificate has paid the amount to the Collector within one month after service of notice or within fifteen days after any objection made by him has been rejected by the Revenue Authorities. Practically this is the existing law under the unrepealed section 12 of Regulation III of 1794. We have in consequence included this section in the schedule of repeals. The necessary result of this change is that a Certificate of the above description will be no longer absolute in the first instance. We have therefore dispensed with the terms "Absolute" and "Conditional."

We have retained the provisions by which rents in estates managed by the Court of Wards or the Revenue Authorities are recoverable under the provisions of the Bill: but we have provided the following safeguards in applying the Special Procedure to this class of cases:—

(1.) When these rents are payable, not to the Collector direct, but to a Manager, the Certificate, though made by the Collector, will be made upon the responsibility of the Manager.

(2.) The notice sent to the Collector, and on which the Certificate is made, must be verified as a plaint.

(3.) A court-fee will be payable on such notice as upon a plaint for the recovery of the same amount of rent. This was necessary to protect the public revenue from loss.

(4.) The judgment-debtor under such Certificate will be, not the Secretary of State for India, but the private individual on behalf of whom the estate is managed; and when he is a minor or lunatic, then such minor or lunatic by his next friend.

(5.) The protection given to the Collector and other public officers is not extended to managers, and the result of this and No. (4) will be, that the Secretary of State for India in Council will incur no liability in respect of either the making of such Certificates or of anything done under them.

(6.) We have excluded this class of cases from the operation of the provisions as to the attachment of movables when the Collector is satisfied that the judgment-debtor is likely to conceal, or remove, or dispose of his movable property.

We have made it clear by express language that a Certificate may not be made for any demand, the recovery of which is barred by any law of Limitation for the time being in force.

We have made more clear the procedure under which petitions of objection referred to the Revenue Authorities are to be heard and determined.

We have provided that petitions of objection may be referred for hearing to Assistant Commissioners and Extra Assistant Commissioners as well as to Deputy Collectors.

We have given the Collector (or Deputy Collector, &c.) power to deal with resistance to execution. This will enable him to dispose of objections made by persons dispossessed of immovable property by the execution proceedings.

We have provided that when a Certificate is set aside by a competent Civil Court, such Court may also set aside a sale of immovable property made in execution of such Certificate, directing the refund of the purchase-money with or without interest, as the Court may think fit; but only if the purchaser has been made or added as a party to such suit and so has had an opportunity of being heard. We think that the rule laid down in Jan Ali v. Jan Ali Chaudhri (1 B. L. R., A. C. 56) ought not to govern a sale made otherwise than under the regular provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure.

We have provided for a general power of supervision and control by Commissioners and the Board of Revenue.

We have made a few other minor alterations.

We recommend that the Bill as amended be passed.

W. E. H. FORSYTH,
Offg. Asst. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

THE following report of the Select Committee, together with the Bill as amended by them, is, by order of the President, published for general information :—

WE, the undersigned members of the Council of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, to whom The Bill to make Vaccination compulsory was referred, have the honor to make the following report.

We were favoured with the attendance of Drs. Charles and McLeod, and Mr. Beverley, the Chairman of the Corporation.

We have extended the application of the Act in the first instance to the Port of Calcutta, and as regards its extension hereafter we have adopted a section from the Punjab Municipal Act, 1873, which it is understood will also be embodied in the Vaccination Bill now pending before the Governor-General's Council. This section gives every inhabitant of a town or area, in respect of which Government has declared its intention of extending the Act, power to object to such extension, and the local Government is bound thereupon to consider such objection. We have provided that the notification of extension shall be published in the Gazette, and proclaimed in the vernacular of the place affected in such manner as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

We have given definitions of the town, port, and suburbs of Calcutta. To meet the case of unprotected children who have no parents or guardians, we have made it clear that they come under the definition of unprotected persons.

In section 3 we have changed "three months" into "six months," and "within one year" to "within one year and three months."

In the last clause of the same section we have inserted words to show that a child may be vaccinated by a public vaccinator at its own dwelling.

In section 4 we have provided that a public vaccinator shall be bound to visit children for purposes of inspection and free of charge.

We have omitted the last clause of section 5 as unnecessary.

In section 6 we have required the endorsement of the Superintendent of Vaccination to the certificate of insusceptibility of vaccination.

In section 13 we have given the Health Officer the powers of the Superintendent of Vaccination in respect of all unprotected persons arriving in the port of Calcutta.

In section 14 we have given the Corporation of Calcutta a general power to appoint public vaccine stations and public vaccinators, and in the following section we have empowered them to make rules for certain purposes.

In case the work thrown on Registrars of Births, by sections 19 to 23, should prove too onerous, we have given the Lieutenant-Governor power to entrust their duties in connection with vaccine registration to other officers.

In section 26 we have made it clear that the Magistrate may, whether the child is produced or not before him, order it to be vaccinated, and that if the child is vaccinated in his presence the parent or guardian thereof may be fined a sum not exceeding Rs. 5.

We have limited the period of a prosecution under section 28, to twelve months from the commission of the offence.

We have struck out section 30.

In section 33 we have omitted (a), and empowered the Lieutenant-Governor to regulate the fees to be paid outside Calcutta, the Corporation being empowered, under section 15, to fix the scale in the town of Calcutta.

We have made a few verbal alterations, and recommend that the Bill as amended by us be passed.
